Buffalo Whose Likeness is on Treasury Notes Pays Penalty of Age.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Black Diamond, the aged buffalo whose likeness is printed on $10 treasury notes and is stamped on the latest 5-cent pieces, was put to death here today. He was more than 20 years old and the largest bison in captivity. He had been an attraction of the Central Park Zoo for many years. The head, which will be mounted, sold for a considerable amount of money. The bison was killed because of old age.

GERMAN SQUADRON IN NORTH SEA.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 18, 12:45 a.m.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegram Company from Copenhagen, dated Wednesday, gives a report that a flotilla of twenty-five German torpedo boats and a big cruiser passed Helsingborg, on the southwest coast of Sweden, at 6 o'clock in the morning, proceeding at high speed northward.

Helsingborg is at the northern entrance to the sound which separates Sweden and Denmark. Vessels passing Helsingborg and proceeding north would enter the Cattegat, which leads by way of the Skagerrak into the North Sea.

ROME, Nov. 17.—The Stefani News Agency has sent out the following dispatch:

"This morning at 8 o'clock an Austrian aeroplane appeared over this city and dropped five bombs. Only one exploded, slightly wounding five persons. No material damage was done."

The text of the above dispatch might indicate that it has suffered at the hands of the censor, the name of the city being eliminated, or that, if a raid was made on Rome, merely the briefest details have been permitted to be cabled.

SALT LAKE ASTOUNDED

President's Second Plea for Hillstrom Received by Gov. Spry.

Much Curiosity is Aroused as to the Reason for White House Interest.

Final Decision on the Fate of the Condemned Man Expected Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17.—President Wilson's telegram to Gov. Spry, requesting a reconsideration of the case of Joseph Hillstrom, under sentence of death for murder, will probably be answered tomorrow. The Governor had the message under consideration this afternoon and announced tonight that he expected to have an answer ready tomorrow. The Governor would not indicate the nature of his reply.

The President's second intervention in the case caused great astonishment and wide comment here today. Hillstrom was sentenced to be executed October 1. He was granted a respite on September 30 by the Governor at President Wilson's request. In that instance the President acted on a request from Swedish Minister Ekengren, who was especially urged by Gov. Spry to submit new reasons or facts to justify clemency at the meeting of the board of pardons October 16.

CITIZENS SURPRISED.

No new facts were presented at that meeting and Hillstrom's attorney said he knew of nothing to be added to what had already been offered in the case. The request of the President today, coming again just on the eve of the date set for the execution, has aroused great curiosity here as to what reasons have been presented to the President to obtain his intervention. No new evidence in the matter has been made known here since the case was originally tried. A local firm of attorneys not previously associated with the case examined the records recently at the request of the Swedish Minister and have forwarded their report by telegraph to him. They decline to indicate the nature of their report.

Arrangements for the execution have not been changed. Hillstrom is said to show signs of nervousness at times, but otherwise maintains the attitude he has assumed from the first and refuses to give any details of the circumstances under which he says he received his bullet wound the night J. G. Morrison and his son were murdered here. Hillstrom was convicted of their murder.

ACTION OF WILSON.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson today urged Gov. Spry of Utah to reconsider the case of Joseph Hillstrom, a Swedish citizen, sentenced to death next Friday for murder.

The President sent to Gov. Spry the following telegram:

"With unaffected hesitation, but with a very earnest conviction of the importance of the case, I again venture to urge upon Your Excellency the justice and advisability of a thorough reconsideration of the case of Joseph Hillstrom."

Hillstrom is an I.W.W. worker, in whose behalf the President appealed to Gov. Spry at the request of the Swedish Minister several weeks ago on the ground that Hillstrom had not had a fair trial. The prisoner was given respite, but eventually was resentenced. A few days ago Mrs. J. S. Cram and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn of New York again urged the President to ask Gov. Spry to intervene. The American Federation of Labor in convention at San Francisco also asked clemency for Hillstrom.

HAND OF GOMPERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. — A telegram from President Wilson to Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, assembled in convention here, informing Gompers that the President had asked Gov. William Spry of Utah to reconsider the Hillstrom case, was read today at the opening of the federation convention. No action was taken on it and no comment was made.

The telegram read:

"Samuel Gompers: I have telegraphed Gov. Spry of Utah urging justice and a thorough reconsideration of the case of Joseph Hillstrom.

"WOODROW WILSON."

President Wilson's action in seeking further investigation in the Hillstrom case followed the adoption yesterday of resolutions by the federation urging the President to intervene in the case, and requesting both Gov. Spry and the Utah State Board of Pardons to obtain for Hillstrom a new and a "fair" trial. These resolutions were telegraphed to the President yesterday by Gompers.

RURAL CREDITS IN OHIO.

EIGHTY-FIVE LIVES LOST AS HOSPITAL SHIP SINKS.

Anglia, with Three Hundred and Eighty-five Persons, Mostly Wounded Soldiers, Aboard, Strikes Mine in the English Channel and Goes Down—Rescue Ship also Lost in the Same Manner.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

DOVER, Nov. 17.—The hospital ship Anglia with about 300 wounded men on board, in addition to the crew, nurses and attendants, bound from France for Dover, struck a mine in mid-channel today and sank in a very short time. Nearly one hundred men, most of them seriously wounded, and therefore in their cots, lost their lives.

The collier Lusitania, which was near by at the time of the accident, immediately went to the assistance of the Anglia and her boats had just been lowered when she also struck a mine and foundered. All her crew was saved.

A patrol vessel succeeded in rescuing 300 of the Anglia's passengers and crew, including some nurses. A number of bodies were recovered.

The following official communication concerning the disaster was made public:

"The War Office reports that the hospital ship Anglia struck a mine in the channel today and sank. The total number on board was thirteen officers and 372 men of other ranks, of whom about 300 were saved by a patrol vessel.

"Another ship proceeding to the rescue was also sunk by another mine."

Another official communication says:

"King George was shocked to hear that the Anglia, which so recently conveyed him across the channel, has been sunk. His Majesty is grieved at the loss incurred but trusts the survivors have not unduly suffered from their terrible exposure."

GENEVA PEACE MEETING TO BE HELD ON SCHEDULE.

GENEVA ((Switzerland) Nov. 17 (via Paris.)—Dispatches received here from Berne are to the effect that the international congress to study and determine upon bases for a durable peace will be held as originally announced on December 14 at Berne. Thirty delegates representing belligerent and neutral states already have announced their intention to attend, while an American delegation already is on the way. The only country which has thus far not announced whether it will send a delegation is France, which will give a definite answer shortly. The conference is expected to last a week.

On the other hand, it is announced that the Geneva Red Cross congress, which is to take place at Stockholm toward the end of November, is likely to be a failure, as the Quadruple Entente powers thus far have declined to send delegates officially. Austria, Germany and neutral countries will be represented.

ARMY AERO SQUADRON TO MAKE WARFARE FLIGHT.

FORT SILL (Okla.) Nov. 17.—The first aero squadron of the United States Army was ready tonight to take wing tomorrow in its flight to San Antonio, Tex., weather conditions permitting. Motor trucks and trail automobiles were loaded and six motorcycles were prepared for the use of electricians and mechanicians in making the trip to San Antonio under conditions approximating warfare as nearly as possible, as a test not merely for the six aeroplanes of the squadron, but for the army transport service as well.

Capt. B. D. Foulois will be in command during the flight. He said tonight that the machines would fly at a height of about 3000 feet. Fair weather is predicted for tomorrow but conditions tonight were unsatisfactory, a strong north wind blowing, and officers were apprehensive that rain might prevent departure as scheduled.

FIRE AT CLIFTON, IOWA.

MAIN SERBIAN ARMY IS ALMOST ENCOMPASSED.

Extraordinary Pressure Being Exerted by France and England on Athens to Desist from the Purpose to Disarm the Allies Should They be Forced to Cross into Hellenic Territory.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 18, 5 a.m.—Confirmation has been received at Saloniki of the report that the Bulgarians have entered Prilep after a junction with the Bulgar army coming from Tetovo, according to an Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

LONDON, Nov. 17, 9:40 p.m.—The fact that the Balkan situation, both military and diplomatic, is disquieting, if not critical, is believed here to have led to the visit of the British Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, David Lloyd George and A. J. Balfour to Paris for a conference with the French Cabinet and Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief.

The main Serbian army, which is operating under Gen. Putnik in the north, is now encompassed on every side but one, and being cut off by the Bulgarian advance beyond Tetovo, must depend on the rough roads through Montenegro and Albania for any supplies from the sea.

In the south the Serbian position is almost as bad. The success of the Bulgarians' flanking attack on Babuna Pass and their advance from Veles have prevented the hoped-for junction of the Serbian and French forces. This leaves the Serbians only two lines of retreat, one into Albania, where they may be harassed by unfriendly tribes, and the other across the Greek border, where they are in danger of being disarmed and interned. It is to prevent the latter eventuality that the Entente allies are putting forth every effort, and unquestionably this matter has been discussed in Paris by the British and French ministers.

The British government has taken further action by the issuance of an order that no Greek vessel, except those loaded or loading, may proceed to their destination; while Denys Cochin, member of the French Cabinet, who was given an enthusiastic reception at Athens by the municipal authorities and the people, is expected to express very firmly the French view of what is considered the unsatisfactory reply of Greece to the Entente powers' request for the safe conduct of both Serbian and allied forces if they be compelled to retire into Greece.

Lord Kitchener, the British War Secretary, who, it had been stated, was to back M. Cochin, is now reported in Gallipoli, although, according to rumors, King Constantine expressed a wish to see him.

Like Italy and France, England now demands that Greece shall either now join the allies or translate her benevolent neutrality toward the Entente into a clear declaration that she will not attempt to disarm either the Serbians or the allies should they be forced back over the frontier, and that she will afford facilities for the landing and transport of allied troops.

There are no changes on the French, Italian or Russian fronts, but the presence of Russian warships on the coast of Courland, where they have been bombarding the German positions, suggests that Gen. Ruzsky has not concluded the offensive which he undertook west of Riga.

GERMAN TRENCHES DESTROYED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The following official communication was issued by the French War Office tonight:

"Around Loos, Angres and Souchez, the cannonading has been very violent on both sides. Against the wood to the south of Faye, southwest of Peronne, we concentrated an effective fire.

"In Champagne, in the region of the Navarin farm and near Tahure, the artillery action is still sustained. In the Argonne we exploded two series of mines, which destroyed German trenches for a considerable extent.

"The Belgian communication reports almost complete calm along the front.

"Army of the east: On November 15 the Bulgarians abandoned their attacks against our front on the left bank of the Cerna, to the west of Krivolak. They withdrew on the Archangel Heights to the north of the village of Cicevo, leaving many bodies. After three days fighting the Bulgarians have lost 4000 men. Our losses were slight.

"To the north of Rabrovo we bombarded an enemy convoy which was proceeding in the direction of the Bulgarian town of Strumitsa."

SLAVS CAPTURE TRENCH.

PETROGRAD (via London) Nov. 17. —The following official communication was issued from general headquarters today:

"In the Riga region there has been nothing further than reciprocal artillery fire.

"Below Dvinsk enemy detachments attempted to cross the Dvina at several points in boats but were repulsed.

"West of Dvinsk, in the Lake Sventen district, the Germans were driven from some of their trenches and compelled to fall back. In the abandoned trenches we found rifles, stores and a large quantity of cartridges.

"A Zeppelin flew over the Dvinsk district Monday night and dropped bombs, some of them falling into the German trenches and causing heavy losses and a panic among the Germans.

"On the front between the Dvinsk district and the Pripet River there is nothing to report.

"On the left bank of the Styr, near Czartorysk Railway Station, the fighting continues. Near Czartorysk the enemy is making stubborn attacks. Our artillery repulsed the enemy when they approached the river.

"On the western front there has been artillery fire.

"No change has occurred on the Caucasus front."

AUSTRIANS PURSUE SERBS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Austrian official communication received from Vienna today by way of London is slightly different from that received by wireless from Berlin. The Vienna statement follows:

"Vienna, via London, Nov. 17, 9:50 p.m.

"Russian war theater: There is no news from this region.

"Italian war theater: In the region of Gorizia there were no important infantry engagements yesterday. The activity of the Italian artillery compared with that of previously days has greatly slackened. The situation on the whole southwestern front is unchanged.

"One of our aeroplane squadrons on Monday dropped bombs on Brescia. Our airmen observed big fires which resulted from the bombs. All the aeroplanes returned safely.

"Southeastern war theater: The Austro-Hungarian troops fighting on the Sanjak border have driven back the last Montenegrin rear guard across the Lim River. Pursuit of the Serbians continues everywhere. The Austro-Hungarian column advancing against Sienica has ejected the enemy from stubbornly-defended mountain positions north of Javor.

"The German troops of Gen. Koeveas's army yesterday were a half day's march from Raska. In Kursumlja street fighting has occurred."

THOUSAND SERBS BLOCK BULGARS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Nov. 17.—A dispatch from Saloniki, Greece, filed yesterday to the Havas News Agency, says:

"Reliable news indicates the Serbians are defending Babuna pass with only 1000 infantry. The Bulgarians, however, have not yet succeeded in dislodging them.

"The families of the Consuls of the different powers and the Serbian authorities have arrived here (Saloniki) from Monastir, where great anxiety is being manifested again. It is said British reinforcements are about to start for Monastir.

NAVY TAKES POSSESSION OF THE TAFT OIL LANDS.

TAFT (Cal.) Nov. 17.—The United States Navy Department posted notices today on sixty-nine sections of land about the Midway and Elk Hills oil district stating that the United States Navy Department had taken possession and that all persons were forbidden to explore for minerals or locate on the land. The notices were signed by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, and Lieutenant-Commander Irwin F. Landis, U.S.N., in charge of the naval petroleum reserve.

News of the government's action was received with surprise by nearly 500 oil operators and others directly affected by the order of President Taft made in 1909, withdrawing oil lands in this district, who are here attending a meeting of the Midway Oil men. A vote was taken tonight petitioning Gov. Johnson to intervene with the United States government on behalf of California.

The meeting called was for the purpose of organizing a local branch of the Oil Men's Protective Association and was presided over by F. B. Loomis, former Secretary of State, and now vice-president of the Oil Industry Association.

The Taft order of withdrawal and the necessity for organization in order to secure a strong presentation before Congress of the claims of California oil operators affected by the order, were the points emphasized by the speakers, among whom were L. E. Doan of Oakland, W. P. Carr, San Francisco; W. E. Jones, San Rafael; Thomas O'Donnell, Los Angeles, and C. A. Barlow, of Bakersfield.

Nearly all of the sixty-nine sections of oil land filed on by the Navy Department are in process of development by individuals or corporations.

Tragedy.

VIENNA VERSION OF THE ANCONA.

Declare Liner Fled When the First Shot was Fired.

Deny Shelling of Lifeboats After the Launching.

Two Naturalized Americans are Reported Saved.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—American Ambassador Penfield today cabled the State Department an official statement concerning the sinking of the Italian steamship Ancona, which had been handed him by the Austrian Foreign Office, apparently before he received the department's instructions, cabled yesterday, to seek the Vienna version of the tragedy.

The text of the communication virtually is identical with that given out in Vienna by the Austrian Admiralty and sent to this country by wireless from Berlin. It says that the Ancona fled at full speed when a warning shot was fired across her bow and it denies the allegation of the Italian government that the steamer was shelled after she had come to a standstill and that other shots were fired at lifeboats and at persons swimming in the sea.

After the receipt of the report it became known that Secretary Lansing considered that the State Department now has in its possession sufficient official information for the basis to form an inquiry of Austria-Hungary regarding its attitude toward the conduct of submarine warfare. The Secretary indicated, however, that no communication would go forward until a reply had been made to questions submitted to the Austrian Foreign Office by Ambassador Penfield.

TEXT OF THE REPORT.

The text of the communication from the Vienna Foreign Office as given out by the State Department follows:

"Submarine fired warning shot across bow of steamer, whereupon latter fled at full speed. She thus carried out instructions officially given all Italian steamers at beginning of war to attempt escape upon being held up by submarines or to ram, according to the position of the latter.

"Escaping steamer pursued and fired on by submarine, but did not stop until receiving several hits. Forty-five minutes given passengers and crew to leave ship on which greatest panic reigned. Only a portion of boats lowered, which were occupied by members of ship's crew who pulled hurriedly away. Great portion of boats which would apparently have sufficed for rescue all hands, not occupied.

"After about fifty minutes submarine submerged on account rapidly approaching vessel, torpedoed Ancona, which did not sink until further lapse of forty-five minutes. If many passengers lost lives, blame rests entirely with crew, because instead of stopping upon warning shot, fled and compelled submarine to fire and because crew endeavored to save only themselves and not passengers, for which there was ample time and means.

"Story that submarine fired upon loaded boats and people in water is malicious fabrication, for reason ammunition was too valuable for submarine if for no other reason. No other shot fired after vessel stopped."

TWO AMERICANS SAFE.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Nov. 17.—Domiano Todaro and his wife, naturalized American citizens, and the wives of their two sons, who were believed to have been lost in the sinking of the Italian steamer Ancona, are safe, according to a cablegram received here today by relatives.

The message was sent by Todaro from Palermo, Sicily, near where it is thought they were landed after the Ancona sunk.

A. W. BUCK MAY BE LOST.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Fears were expressed here today that Albert W. Buck, an inspector of the Massachusetts Bureau of Labor and Industry, who was captain of the Bates College track team of 1911, was lost on the Italian liner Ancona. Mr. Buck had been in Serbia and cabled to the commission from Naples on November 6 that he expected to sail the next day.

WHY GERMANS MISSED PARIS.

LONDON, Nov. 18, 1:25 a.m.—Viscount Haldane, the former War Secretary, speaking at Hampstead last night, declared that the Germans would have reached Paris, and perhaps Calais, had not the government taken prompt action upon the warnings which he himself and others had given of the German intentions.

The British government, he said, did everything possible to get aggressive ideas out of the heads of the other nations on the continent, but that did not prevent the government from taking precautionary measures. Great Britain was not taken unawares, but was able to mobilize the army and navy at the first moment of the outbreak of the war, he added.

Lord Haldane expressed the belief that there was not a single government among the powers that has not been wholly surprised and taken aback by the magnitude and duration of the struggle which has since developed and that nobody has been so much surprised as the German General Staff, which "had expected a walkover in about three months."

CHECK REIN ON BRITONS.

Can't Leave United Kingdom Without Getting Special Permission.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—An order in council will shortly be issued declaring that during the continuance of the war all Britons of military age desiring to leave the United Kingdom, even on a tour, must obtain special permission. This permission will not be given without good cause.

BRITISH COMPLAIN OF RADIO STATION.

DECLARE PLANT AT DEERING, ME., SENDS MESSAGES TO SHIPS AT SEA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The British Embassy today directed attention of the State Department to a private wireless station at Deering, Me., near Portland, which is said to have been communicating with vessels at sea.

Navy radio inspectors will investigate the Deering plant further. Their inquiries so far have developed that the Deering plant is intended to act as a receiving station for the Tuckerton plant, which is devoted entirely to sending and that it was proposed to connect the two plants with a land wire. It is not necessary to license a receiving station.

PLANT A NEW ONE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Me.) Nov. 17.—The wireless station in this city, to which the attention of the State Department at Washington today was called by the British Embassy, was built early this month. The plant, it was said, was constructed for a man who gave his name as Emil E. Mever, of Tuckerton, N. J. The regular operator is said to be O. F. Hesla, described as a radio operator in the United States navy and until a month ago on the battleship North Carolina.

DENIES ATTACK ON THE BRITISH.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Nov. 17 (via Sayville, N. J.)—The semiofficial Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung replied today to the statement given out on Monday by the British Foreign Office to the effect that a series of attacks had been made on British Consuls and other officials in Persia, in one case under direction of a German Consul.

The newspaper says that the German government knows of no attempt to murder British Consuls in Persia.

HOLDS AMERICAN FOR DEPORTATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—An appeal was made to the State Department today in behalf of Samuel Schwartz of New York, an American citizen who is said to have been held in prison in England for more than four months with no charge against him other than that he is "held for deportation."

Counsel for the man's wife laid the case before the Department and asked that some action be taken toward securing his immediate release. It was said later that the course of the government probably would be to ask the British Foreign Office to put the deportation order into effect as soon as practicable.

SPANISH CABINET CRISIS OVER MILITARY REFORMS.

MADRID, Nov. 17 (via Paris.)—A Cabinet crisis resulted today from a debate in Parliament on the bill for military reforms proposed by the Minister of War, Lieut.-Gen. Echague.

In the course of the debate Count Romanones, former Premier, said the annual army budget had reached the figure of about 300,000,000 pesetas ($60,000,000) which was spent for maintenance on a peace footing of an army of 140,000 with 488 cannon. The count asserted that if the money were expended wisely it should provide 40,000 more soldiers and 712 additional cannon. He requested an explanation of this discrepancy, as he termed it.

Antonio Maura, leader of the Conservatives and a former Premier, also criticised adversely the present military system.

Premier Dato announced he would lay before the Cabinet the question of demanding a vote of confidence.

Premier Dato later declared that if the Parliament failed to approve the military reforms demanded by the government the Cabinet would resign immediately.

Baby Sacrificed.

and there were many other deformities.

"If he grew up he would be a hopeless cripple and would suffer from fits," said Haiselden.

"That I do not know, but the chances are against it."

Dr. John B. Murphy, former president of the American Medical Association, and physicians and professional men and women, including a number of clergymen, generally took sides with Dr. Haiselden. But his critics were just as numerous.

QUERY OF THE MOTHER.

Mrs. Anna Bollinger, the mother, remained in a room near by. Many times she asked:

"Is it dead?"

She remained steadfast in her belief that death was best for the little one. She has three healthy children and the plight of the condemned one is believed to have been due to an attack of typhoid fever which the mother suffered recently.

The authorities took no action further than to determine that no death certificate should be issued until after an investigation by the Coroner.

In the expected event of the baby's death, Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner of the city, said that no death certificate would be issued until after an investigation by the Coroner. No other action was taken by the authorities.

ROSWELL SMITH CASE.

In discussing his stand in the case today Dr. Haiselden cited the case of Roswell Smith, a supposedly harmless defective, who, after reaching the adult stage, killed little Hazel Weinstock, for which he was hanged. A visitor, however, remarked that Fyodor Dostoevsky, born a defective, a gambler and an epileptic, developed into a great novelist and one of the greatest psychologists in Europe.

Most of the visitors today treated the baby, which lay in a private room, as if it were uncanny. Dr. Haiselden, who had condemned it to death, alone treated it like a human being. He caressed its little twisted cheeks and said tenderly:

"He will be dead before the night is over."

"It would be a moral wrong," he continued, "to allow this baby to live. It seems to me that a city which allows a black hand outrage every week and an automobile accident every round of the clock is hardly in a position to criticise a man who holds that death is preferable to a life in a defective."

The telephone rang. Dr. Haiselden answered it and talked five minutes with a woman. She pleaded with him to save the baby's life.

CALLED HIM NAMES.

When he returned from the telephone, he smiled sadly:

"She called me names," he said. "It is strange what a fuss people are making over this case when worse things go unnoticed."

The little bundle, which was the center of all eyes, stilled and a feeble cry was heard.

"Not much longer to wait, little one," said the doctor, gently, adding to those near him: "He is dying."

Dr. Murphy said today:

"The baby's life is in the hands of a higher power. Nature will provide the best remedy."

Dr. Rosalie M. Ladova commented: "A life is a life, and I wish Dr. Haiselden would step aside and let some one else operate."

Clarence Darrow, the lawyer, known also as a humanitarian, remarked:

"Chloroform unfit children. Show them the same mercy that is shown beasts no longer fit to live."

THE MOTHER'S STORY.

Mrs. Anna Bollinger told today the story of her consent to let her six-day-old baby boy, deformed in body and mind, die, rather than live a life "barren and useless."

The mother, confined to her bed, agreed with Dr. Haiselden to sacrifice the child.

"It is not heartless of me," Mrs. Bollinger said. "I love the little deformed one as I love my three healthy children. But the doctor told me it would be an imbecile, a criminal. Left to itself it has no chance to live. I consented to let nature take its course.

"No one need think me an unnatural mother. My heart is full of mother love for all my children. This poor baby, if allowed to live, however, would be only a burden to itself. Its life would be barren, useless. It is one of nature's blunders, and I am willing that nature should correct its error by my baby's death. I am satisfied that I am doing right."

Dr. Haiselden said he was prepared to face bitter criticism and defend his course.

"I have no doubt that I shall be called a murderer," he said, "but the infant's death is a question between me and my conscience."

The baby came into the world last Friday.

SWEDISH VESSEL SAVES BRITISHERS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

COPENHAGEN (via London) Nov. 17.—The departure of the British steamer Thelma from Telleborg, Sweden, where she had been lying since the beginning of the war, was marked by an exciting naval adventure in which the vessel escaped capture by a German destroyer through assistance rendered by the Swedish torpedo boat Pollux.

On Tuesday when south of Landskrona, sixteen miles west of Copenhagen, the Thelma was pursued by the German destroyer W-132 into Swedish territorial waters. While the Germans were in the act of boarding the steamer the Pollux forced them to return to their boat, and, running between the two vessels, informed the Germans that every means would be employed to prevent the Thelma from being taken.

After an interval of silence in which both warships cleared for action, the German destroyer steamed away.

WIFE'S RIGHT IS DEFINED.

TRENTON (N. J.) Nov. 17.—A wife must make her home with her husband and mother-in-law. It is not the right of a wife to say where she and her husband shall live. MEN WHO WON GREAT FAME DESPITE PHYSICAL DEFECTS.

FOLLOWING are a few historical instances of famous personages who under the rulings of euthanasia, as practiced in Chicago, would probably have been put to death at birth as defectives:

Alexander the Great—Subject to violent outbreaks, ascribed to epilepsy.

Demosthenes—Tongue-tied so that his speech in childhood was almost unintelligible.

Richard III of England—Hump-backed. His distortion was dwelt on by Shakespeare.

Philip II of Spain—Dropsical, with a big head that was out of proportion to the body.

Alexander Pope, poet—Undersized and so feeble he had to be trussed up to get about. Always pale and anemic.

Lord Byron—Was clubfooted.

Samuel Johnson—Handicapped in his movements by scrofula and palsy. He could not get on his feet without assistance.

John Keats, poet—Invalid all his life.

Alexander Agassiz—So crippled he had to be carried out West, where he made his copper discoveries.

RAID ON CHINATOWN FOR CONTRABAND MEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—That from thirty to fifty contraband Chinese were successfully landed from the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia October 6 before a search of the ship disclosed the presence of eighty-six celestial stowaways was admitted tonight by immigration officials, when they battered down doors and ransacked buildings in Chinatown in a fruitless search for the illegally-landed Orientals.

The raid on Chinatown was made under instructions from Anthony Caminetti, Commissioner-General of Immigration, and was part of the investigation now being conducted into the alleged wholesale smuggling of Chinese into the United States.

A corps of special agents, headed by H. D. Ebey of Chicago, aided by twenty-five immigration inspectors, made the raid tonight, and although they turned the Chinese quarters upside down, found no stowaways.

COLLEGE AN ASSET OF BUSINESS MAN.

DR. ALDRICH SAYS READY RESPONSE IS MADE TO ALL EDUCATIONAL WORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Nov. 17.—The second annual conference of the Association of Urban Universities came to a close tonight with a banquet which followed the election of officers and the choosing of the next convention city earlier in the day.

The principal speaker at today's session was Dr. Morton A. Aldrich of Tulane University, New Orleans, La., and dean of the College of Commerce there.

"Our College of Commerce has relied upon the conviction that the public spirit and foresight of the modern business man is ever ready to support any educational work when he can be shown that it is man-sized, concrete and definite," said Dr. Aldrich.

"The business men think of the college as their asset and likewise their responsibility. The business men do not feel that their responsibility to the college ceases with the signing of a check.

"They have come to think of their College of Commerce as an essential part of the commercial equipment of the city. They are of the conviction that they can best use the College of Commerce when they think of it along with their exchanges, their railroads and banks," he added.

TURKS ASK JEWS TO COME BACK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Turkey, in an effort to draw within its borders Jews now in territory ceded away by the Ottoman Empire as a result of the last Balkan war, has decided to grant them the same benefits and exemptions as heretofore were accorded only to Mohammedans. An announcement to this effect was made here today by the Turkish Embassy.

"The advantages and exemptions," the announcement said, "consist of exceptional facilities for having access to Ottoman soil, the acquisition of Ottoman nationality and immunity for a certain period from payment of taxes and military service.

"During the last century the Ottoman government has accorded these facilities exclusively to Mohammedan immigrants coming to Turkey from Russia, Bulgaria, Serbia and Bosnia. This is the first time that these exemptions have been granted to immigrants professing a religion other than the Mohammedan."

The first trial in the local district court resulted in a judgment of $152,461 for O'Brien, but the Supreme Court reversed that decision and remanded the case for a new hearing. This new trial was to have been held this week.

Arrangements have been made with one of the large hospitals for the society women to assist in the surgical cases at the institution.

Morgan alleged extravagance and corruption in his statement concerning war munitions contracts placed in the United States by the British government.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Unanimous indorsement of the Dick military law, which is aimed to promote the efficiency of the militia, was given today by the American Federation of Labor at its thirty-fifth annual convention in this city.

The executive council agreed to lend all assistance possible to bring about the amalgamation of the brick and clay workers in Chicago, which would bring them back into the folds of the federation.

The question of an international union of janitors, elevator operators, elevator starters, porters, scrub women, window washers and kindred occupations was referred to the executive council with power to call a convention in Chicago next January, at which the members of the various locals will act.

A telegram to the federation was read from W. A. F. Ekengren, Swedish Minister at Washington, thanking the union men for their efforts in behalf of Joseph Hillstrom, a condemned murderer of Salt Lake City, who is sentenced to be shot November 19.

ANGLIA SINKING STIRS ENGLAND.

Public now Very Anxious on Subject of Mines.

Nurses Show Great Heroism in Rescuing Wounded.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The sinking of the Anglia, although the first case in the war of a hospital ship meeting disaster while carrying wounded, has caused great anxiety in the public mind as it had been supposed that the English channel was entirely free of danger from mines.

The newspapers indulge in much speculation, some of them offering the explanation that they must have been German mines.

The Anglia had 200 cot cases aboard. When the rescuing vessels reached her, she was badly down by the head and her propellers were racing. Her stern was so high above the sea that one of the rescuing vessels was able to pass under her and forty men dropped aboard.

The crew of the Lusitania gave vivid narratives of the disaster, according to which, after a terrific explosion, the bows of the Anglia seemed to melt away until the sea lapped her rails. She surged forward, however, in a vain attempt to reach shore.

MANY BOATS ASSIST.

Soon, many boats came to the rescue, including those sent by the Lusitania. Those watching the scene saw the soldiers coming up from below, assembling on deck and calmly waiting the order to pass into the boats.

A rescuing vessel ran right under the sinking steamer's stern and immediately the crew set to work under great difficulties to transfer the wounded.

Every moment the stern of the doomed vessel rose higher and the hull veered sidewise as though about to turn turtle, but still the crew worked on.

Some of the wounded, unable to keep their footing on the sloping deck, fell into the sea and were picked up by the rescuers. Others jumped overboard. All the while the nurses worked with splendid devotion with the crew to transfer their patients to the boats.

The difficulties were augmented by the racing propeller, which gave a circular motion to the Anglia.

RED CROSS FLAG FLIES.

TOO HIGH BIDS ON BATTLESHIPS.

Board of War's Demands Are Seen in Fancy Figures.

Daniels Says Proposals will Be Carefully Examined.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Because of the apparent failure of private bidders to keep their proposals within the $7,000,000 limit of cost set by Congress for the hulls and machinery of battleships Nos. 43 and 44, bids for which were opened today at the Navy Department, construction of both vessels may be undertaken at government yards. The New York and Philadelphia government plants submitted bids of less than $7,000,000 each for vessels propelled with the combination steam and electric drive to be installed in the new superdreadnaughts building at the New York navy yard. There were the lowest bids and the navy yards also submitted the lowest figures for ships equipped with turbines, the bases of all but two of the private bids. The Mare Island navy yard, with an estimate of $7,001,156 for the turbine ship, was the lowest private bid was that of the New York Shipbuilding Company, which submitted four alternate proposals. Each was made under stipulated modifications to the department's specifications, which apparently would bring the total cost far above the $7,000,000 maximum. The bids of the other two private bidders, the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, proposed modifications, and a careful study will be necessary before the exact cost of the ships can be determined under each bid.

EFFECT OF WAR DEMAND

The result of the European war's demands on American markets is shown by the fact that the bulls and Idaho were contracted for respectively a year ago. Today's private bids for virtually the same ships ranged from $7,229,000 to $8,375,000, with various qualifications, such as stipulations that the government must assume all insurance risks, pay for test trials and supply all portable material required to be furnished by the contractors in the revised specifications, and provide for the substitution of cheaper grades of steel and timber than specified.

The hull construction due to plans to minimize the danger from torpedo attack occasioned some of the increase. The bids, however, rejected the theory that changes in this bulkhead construction could be made by the government at any time within six months after the contract should be obtained.

BIDS ON TURBINES.

The department's specifications called for bids on turbine-driven ships. Any officials indicated tonight there was no disposition to await the result of the California's electrical machinery before installing this radical system of propelling plants in other ships. Recent additional tests of the electric drive on the collier Jupiter convinced the department's experts that it is not only cheaper to operate but cheaper in operation. No better bidder ever has presented figures on this type of ship. Bids for the two new ships, also opened today, showed little increase in price over the last armor contracts were awarded. The Carnegie company was the lowest bidder for the first-class armor for both ships at $425 per ton.

Secretary Daniels was unwilling to indicate what course he would follow should all the private bids be outside the limit set by Congress. It is understood, however, that an effort will be made to induce the ship companies to reduce their figures before it is determined to give the work to the government yards. The Secretary made it clear that he believed it necessary to build two more government yards for battleship building, regardless of the present decisions as to the pending bids. The New York yard is the only one authorized now, but the Philadelphia and Mare Island yards can be made ready for big jobs at relatively small cost.

NAVY ESTIMATES.

The navy yard estimates were based on specifications for the ships without modification.

New York figures were: For turbines, $7,069,923; for the steam electric drive (similar to the plant planned for the United States ship Nevada) $6,988,667.

Mare Island yard: Turbine, $7,413,-

The additional expense for equipment at the Philadelphia and Mare Island yards to build battleships was also estimated, that at Mare Island being placed at $82,899, and included in the bids.

The private bidders were New York Shipbuilding Company, Newport News Shipbuilding Company, and Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

The navy yards' estimates all were based on a thirty-six-month construction.

The Mare Island estimate said the delivery of the ship proposed could not be made before September 15, 1916, but added that it was believed that this is the earliest date upon which armor steel could be secured.

Bidders also all called attention to the high prices for warship material due to the European war and also predicted delivery beyond the thirty-four-month construction period specified by the department.

"It looks on its face," said Secretary Daniels, when reading of the bids was concluded, "as though none of the private bids were within the limit of cost authorized by Congress but they will all be carefully examined."

ARMOR FOR DREADNAUGHTS.

Bids also were opened for the armor for the two dreadnaughts. Four companies submitted proposals. Bids on armor of the first class ranged down from $516 a ton by the Midvale Steel Company to $427 by the Carnegie Company. The Bethlehem Steel Company's bid was $435. On the second class the Carnegie Company also was the lowest bidder, $416 a ton, while on armor of this grade the Midvale bid was $516 a ton. The Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Company was the only bidder for the lowest grade which comprises the steel bolts and fittings with which armor is attached to battleships, its proposal being $464 a ton.

TO CHANGE BANKING ACT.

Federal Board Outlines Amendments to Make the Position of Regional Institutions Stronger.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Federal Reserve Board issued a statement outlining recommendation for amendments to the Federal Reserve Act made by the Federal Advisory Council.

In addition to the suggestions that the work of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency be absorbed and administered by the reserve board, the council recommended a reduction by two-thirds of the present paid-in capital stock of Federal Reserve Banks, the subscribed capital to remain as under existing law. It suggested that the Clayton Anti-trust Act be amended in the section affecting interlocking directorates, so it would be lawful for an officer or director of one bank to hold office or be a director in another bank.

The council expressed the view at the request of the board in respect to high interest rates by banks which are members of the system, that the demand for money is regulated by its cumulation or lack of cumulation in banking centers. It adopted a resolution declaring unalterable opposition to legislation that would make farm land bonds, such as have been proposed in connection with rural credit bills, security for loans from Federal Reserve Banks or to any measure that would make such bonds the basis for acceptance by member banks.

The Executive Committee of the Governors of Federal Reserve Banks met here today with the Executive Committee of federal reserve agents to discuss policies in connection with the operation of the reserve banks.

DEMOCRATS ARE WORRIED.

Confer for Hours but Cannot Evolve a System to Spend People's Money Faster.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—For two and a half hours tonight President Wilson and members of the Special Budget Committee of the House conferred over methods of systematizing appropriations in Congress. No agreement was reached and after a long discussion the President asked the committeemen to get together as soon as possible on some definite plan.

Representative Fitzgerald of New York, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, was insistent upon his plan of centralizing all appropriations in one committee, the Appropriations Committee. On the other hand, Representative Sherley of Kentucky strongly advocated a plan he has urged for some years for a budget committee to be made up of chairmen and ranking minority members of the various committees having jurisdiction over appropriations.

Speaker Clark, Majority Leader Kitchin and Representative Hay of Virginia, the other members of the Budget Committee, were absent from the conference and it was agreed that as soon as they returned to the city later in the week, another conference would be held at the White House. Meantime it was arranged that certain confidential data relating to the revenue needs of the government should be put into shape for consideration at the next conference.

ANOTHER RULING IN SEAMEN'S ACT.

COLLECTORS NOTIFIED NOT TO STOP VESSELS ON SHORT NOTICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Secretary Redfield today notified collectors of customs that vessels must not be detained in port on complaints charging noncompliance with the language test and able seamen requirements of the new seamen's law unless such complaints are filed at least six hours before the sailing time of the vessel. This order followed the recent detention of the steamship Mongolia at San Francisco after she had cleared and left her dock.

VON BERNSTORFF SEES LANSING.

MAY HAVE DISCUSSED GORICAR CHARGES OR LUSITANIA CASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and Secretary Lansing conferred today for more than half an hour. Later both said they had agreed not to discuss the subject of their conversation.

It was suggested in official circles that the conference probably had to do with the negotiations for settlement of the Lusitania case and that possibly statements made by Dr. Goricar, the former Austro-Hungarian Consul, had been mentioned.

Dr. Goricar recently charged that the Ambassador was interested with Austrian Consul-General Von Nuber at New York in munition strike propaganda.

The Ambassador said he had presented no communication from the German government to Secretary Lansing.

SHIP PURCHASE BILL.

Three Members of the Cabinet go Over Proposed Measure to be Submitted to Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A tentative draft of the new government ship purchase bill which will be urged by the administration at the coming session of Congress was considered today at a conference at the Treasury Department. Secretary Redfield and Solicitor Thurman of the Department of Commerce went over the proposed measure with Secretary McAdoo.

The draft follows the lines suggested by Secretary McAdoo in a recent speech outlining the purposes of the administration as to naval auxiliaries and the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. Before the measure is put in final form to be presented to Congress it will be laid before President Wilson for his approval.

THREE ITALIAN STEAMERS SUNK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) Nov. 17.—Officers of the Italian steamship San Giovanni, which arrived here today from Genoa, report the sinking of three Italian steamers in the Mediterranean Sea, which have not been mentioned in official dispatches. The steamers were the Cirene, Scrivia and Gani. All were victims of hostile submarines, the officers report. The Cirene was a vessel of 3236 tons and the Scrivia 2448 tons. Available records do not show the Gani, which is said to have been a coasting ship.

Railroad Record.

GREAT SAVING FOR SHIPPERS.

Million and Half Dollars Due to Care in Packing.

Number of Injuries During the Year Decreased.

American Railway Association will Meet Next May.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. — More than $1,500,000 was saved shippers and railroad companies during the first six months of 1915 by efficient and careful packing, marking and handling of freight shipments, according to reports made at the semi-annual meeting of the American Railway Association at its closing session here today.

Reports also were made of decreased number of injuries and fatal accidents during the year, attributed to "safety first" appliances and regulations in operation of the railroads of the country.

The Committee on Nomination for Officers to be elected in 1916 was named, consisting of C. W. Galloway, general manager Baltimore and Ohio Railroads, and W. B. Storey, vice-president Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad.

The annual meeting will be held in New York on May 17, 1916.

The American Railway Association includes in its membership presidents and vice-presidents of practically every railroad in the country.

Legislation recommended by the organization will automatically go into effect throughout the country, it is said.

ROCK ISLAND PROSPERS.

Annual Report Shows an Increase in Net Earnings of $17,426,274 for Last Year.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The annual report of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway and proprietary companies, now under receivership, for the year ended June 30 last, shows total operating revenues of $70,947,890, an increase of 3.3 per cent.; operating expenses of $53,521,615, an increase of 2.7 per cent, and net operating revenues of $17,426,274, an increase of 2.3 per cent. Balance of income in 1913-14 amounting to $450,621 was charged to a balance deficit of $734,676 last year.

Since the receivership payments of interest on the bonds and notes of various underlying properties, amounting to about $700,000, have been discontinued, in addition to which about $100,000 has been saved in salaries of general officers and expenses of the New York office.

The receiver has written off as worthless approximately $1,300,000 of preferred and common shares of the Peoria Railway Terminal Company, Rock Island company, Nebraska Central Railway and Construction Company, and the Union Terminal Railway of St. Joseph, Mo. Other securities owned by the company, including Chicago and Alton preferred stock, and Memphis Railroad Terminal Company, have been written down to estimated values.

The annual report was prepared prior to the receipt of the report of J. W. Kendrick, railroad expert, who estimated that it would require about $27,000,000 to rehabilitate the system.

While the report shows a deficit of $734,676, the analysis in footnotes remarks that operating revenues were reduced $1,561,588 on the books by increasing depreciation charges, formerly one-quarter of 1 per cent., to a minimum of 2½ and a maximum of 3 per cent. Additional note is made of "unprecedented" rains in May, June and July, 1915, which caused damage of $1,000,000.

SALE OF YALE AND HARVARD.

Evidence at New Haven Directors' Trial Indicates Railroad Considered Steamers Noncompetitors.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The transfer to the Pacific Coast of the steamers Harvard and Yale of the Metropolitan Steamship Company to take them out of competition, as the government alleges, with the steamers of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, was the subject of testimony given today at the trial of the eleven former directors of that road charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law.

The witness was Capt. H. W. Goodall, president of the Pacific Navigation Company, which operates the steamers. Mr. Goodall brought in the name of Edward D. Robbins, general counsel of the New Haven, and one of the defendants, as having conducted with him the negotiations by which the two steamers were transferred.

The transaction included the organization of a new metropolitan steamship company of Maine, which took over in behalf of the New Haven four freight boats which that line wanted, and of a Pacific company which was the intermediary vehicle for a series of complicated financial transactions, through which the sum of $250,000 was provided for the expenses of taking the two passenger steamers around the Horn.

The defense maintains that the New Haven had no interest in what became of the boats, and it was brought out on cross-examination that Goodall initiated the negotiations. Goodall said that, in his opinion, the boats, owing to their type, could not pay on the Atlantic Coast. This statement was elicited to show that the New Haven could not have regarded them as dangerous competitors.

Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, was called to the stand this afternoon and was further questioned on the New Haven trolley acquisitions. This phase of the case, in which sixty-five lines are involved, was still unfinished when court adjourned until tomorrow.

SENATOR LODGE PITIES RAILWAYS.

TOO OFTEN THE VICTIMS OF GOVERNMENT COMMISSIONS AND POLITICS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—"The railroads of the country, from being a peril and corruptive force in politics, have now become the helpless subjects of government commissions and too often their victims," United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge said today. He was delivering a memorial address on Charles Francis Adams, arranged by the Massachusetts Historical Society, and after a reference to Mr. Adams's part in bringing to light conditions in the management of the Erie Railroad, he turned to railroads in general.

"Government control has worked two ways," said Senator Lodge. "The unfortunate stockholders have suffered under this system as they did before. Many evils have been cured, many wrongs redressed and much good has been accomplished, while serious harm has also been done by the crude and violent methods pursued in certain instances."

FIFTEEN CENTS HASTENS DIVORCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RENO, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Tina Lerner Bachner today was granted permission in the District Court to resume her maiden name of Tina Lerner when District Judge Moran presented her with a decree of divorce from Louis J. Bachner, now of Berlin. Extreme cruelty and penuriousness were alleged by the noted Russian pianiste in seeking divorce. Desertion was also charged.

"My husband even sold his railroad ticket when I was leaving Berlin after the war was declared," announced the musician in reciting a list of events to substantiate her allegations.

She further more said that one night she returned to her home in a taxicab after attending a concert. Notwithstanding a violent storm was raging, her husband became quite angry when he learned she had spent 15 cents for the taxicab fare. This likewise occurred at Berlin, where American taxicab rates do not prevail.

The couple were married in New York, but resided in Berlin until the war started. Since that time the plaintiff has lived in the United States, spending the greater part of her time in California.

Tina Lerner is now preparing to return to California to fill a number of professional engagements.

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL

Why Your Doctor Prescribes Nujol for Constipation

LAXATIVES can very easily do a great deal of harm.

Nujol can do no harm, because it is not absorbed into the system, but acts simply as a mechanical lubricant.

Laxatives give only a temporary relief, and by their after-effects aggravate the very condition they are meant to cure.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair. Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

MISS ALEXANDER DISMISSED.

Court Instructs the Jury to Free Girl Striker Accused of Unlawful Assemblage.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Charged with taking part in an unlawful assemblage, Miss Isabelle Alexander, a striking garment worker, was discharged by a jury in the Municipal Court today. Miss Alexander was arrested while acting as a picket for the striking garment workers. She was discharged by instruction of the court.

Fifty-nine similar cases, in which fifty-four of the defendants are women, probably will be dismissed as a result of the Alexander case. By agreement of attorneys the Alexander case was made a test case.

"CASCARETS" FOR YOUR BOWELS IF HEADACHY, SICK

For biliousness, bad breath, colds, indigestion and constipation.

Enjoy life! Liven your liver and bowels tonight and feel fine.

Your tongue is coated! Look inside your watch cover and see! That's bad business. What have you been eating? What were you drinking? What kind of a lazy chair did you take exercise in? Now don't think it doesn't matter, because it's your bowels that talk now every time you open your mouth. That doesn't help your popularity, nor your earning capacity. Besides, a person with bad bowels is in a bad way, and a coated tongue or a bad breath are sure signs of bad bowels and poor digestion.

Why don't you get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at any drug store and give your liver and thirty feet of bowels the nicest, gentlest cleansing they ever experienced? Take one or two Cascarets tonight and wake up feeling fine and fit. All Headache, Dullness, Biliousness, Bad Breath, Stomach Sourness, Cold and Constipation gone—wake up with your head clear, tongue clean, stomach sweet, liver and bowels active, step elastic and complexion rosy.

Cascarets work while you sleep—never gripe or sicken. Cascarets act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a thorough cathartic. They don't bother you all next day like salts, pills, oil or calomel—Cascarets being perfectly harmless is best children's laxative.

The Only Steam Cooked Oatmeal

Interesting Facts Regarding One of Nature's Most Valuable Foods.

According to leading food scientists, oatmeal is one of the best-balanced foods available, for both old and young alike. It is a staple article of diet in almost every home in the country, yet very little knowledge regarding it is possessed by the average person.

A most suprising fact is that ordinary oatmeal, or rolled oats, is really not digestible unless it has been cooked for about sixteen hours—and even then much of the food value is lost entirely.

To overcome this great disadvantage, experiments were conducted some years ago which resulted in the discovery of a process of cooking oatmeal at a very high temperature under steam pressure. This produces what is known as H-O Oatmeal, which can be obtained in cardboard cartons at all good grocers.

H-O Oatmeal not only has a rich, nutty, delicious flavor, but is very easily digested by the most delicate stomach.

H-O can be made ready for the table with only twenty minutes cooking. It costs a little more than ordinary oatmeal, but is worth a great deal more. For your family's sake insist upon H-O.

KEITH CONTEST IS DISMISSED.

Mrs. Thomson's Claims to the Estate are Disproved.

Forgery Indictment is Asked Against Dr. Tedford.

Expert Says Will Written by the Los Angeles Woman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The suit contesting the will of the late John M. Keith, brought by Mrs. Louise Keith Thomson, who claimed to be his daughter, was dismissed in the Superior Court here today by Judge James V. Coffey on the ground that the plaintiff had not proved her case. The original Keith will was admitted to probate some time ago, but an order staying the distribution was granted August 2, when Mrs. Thomson's claim was filed.

Judge Coffey said that the evidence disproving the claim of Mrs. Thomson that she was Keith's daughter was "conclusive and overwhelming."

ASKS TEDFORD'S INDICTMENT.

At the conclusion of the case John L. McNab, attorney for the Keith heirs, asked the District Attorney to present to the grand jury all the facts relating to Dr. Sarah J. Tedford's connection with the case, particularly to the fact that Theodore Kytka, handwriting expert, had named Dr. Tedford as the writer of the alleged holographic Keith will, and to ask for Dr. Tedford's indictment for forgery.

WRITING THE SAME.

When Kytka was called to the stand today Mr. McNab asked him:

"Will you say that the handwriting of Dr. Tedford and of the purported holographic will are the same?" McNab asked Kytka.

"Yes, I will," Kytka answered.

Answering further questions the witness said that Dr. Tedford must have written and signed the alleged will. Only the signatures of witnesses were in a different handwriting, he said.

Another witness was John Keith of Hollywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, who said he formerly lived at North Platte, Neb., where Mrs. Thomson was said to have lived. He said the proprietor of a railroad eating-house there, whom Mrs. Thomson alleged was John M. Keith, in reality, was Morel P. Keith. He said he lived there since 1866, and returned frequently, but never heard of John M. Keith there.

Dr. Tedford, who is Mrs. Thomson's sister-in-law, has acted for her throughout the contest and was named in the alleged holographic will as trustee and executrix, to serve without bonds.

It was claimed that Mrs. Thomson was the daughter of Keith, formerly an oil operator at Bakersfield; that she and her father were separated when shipwrecked on the Alaskan coast thirty years ago; that she lived for fifteen years in an Eskimo village and learned that her father had survived the shipwreck only through newspaper notices of his death.

Dr. Tedford claimed that the alleged holographic will, in favor of Louise Keith Thomson, was made in a San Francisco stationery store seven days before Keith's death.

Keith left an estate valued at more than $600,000, and in the will admitted to probate $300,000 was left to six brothers and sisters; $50,000 to Mrs. Edith M. Spreckels, former wife of John D. Spreckels, Jr., now Mrs. Frank Wakefield, and various other bequests.

THE FRISCO REORGANIZATION.

Affairs of the Railroad are to be Placed in the Hands of Trustees for Five Years.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Nov. 17.—Detailed examination of the reorganization plan of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, which became available in complete form here today, revealed that the plan places control of the road in the hands of trustees for five years.

The voting trust is to consist of Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, James Speyer of New York, Frederick Strauss of New York, Frederick W. Allen, George W. Davison, Seward Prosser and Charles H. Sabin.

At the office of James W. Lusk, receiver in charge of the finances of the road, it was stated today that the purpose of the voting trust is to assure a safe reorganization.

Under the plan submitted the managers of the reorganization are to be permitted to become members of a purchase syndicate. This syndicate is to be permitted to buy $25 000,000 of the first mortgage bonds and $47,700 of the common stock certificates. This syndicate is to offer the bonds to stockholders who pay a $5 assessment per share. The commission of the syndicate is to be 4 per cent.

The plan provides that a loan syndicate shall be formed which will lend to the purchasing syndicate 20 per cent. of the face value of the bonds. The books are to be kept open a year after the close of the European war to permit French bondholders to come into the reorganization.

The reorganization plans for three series of bond issues—the prior lien mortgage bonds bearing 5 per cent. interest, the cumulative adjustment mortgage bonds bearing 6 per cent., the interest of which is to be paid out of net earnings; and the income mortgage bond, which bears 6 per cent. interest, payable only after interest is paid on the other two issues and noncumulative in the event of inability to pay.

The prior lien bond issue is limited to $250,000,000, of which $25,000,000 is set aside for subscriptions from stockholders and $110,000,000 is reserved for future issues and betterments.

The authorized issue of the cumulative mortgage adjustment bond is $75,000,000, of which $34,452,000 is reserved for future needs; and the noncumulative is authorized to the extent of $75,000,000, of which $38,661,000 is reserved for betterments.

PROF. WEBSTER HAS MACHINE THAT FINDS DIRECTION OF FOG SIGNALS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Prof. A. G. Webster of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., in an address today at the final session of the National Academy of Sciences, told of an instrument he had perfected for finding the direction of a fog signal and which, he expects, will rob sea travel of one of its greatest terrors. He told of his work in regard to standardizing sounds for fog horns, and the development of a receiving instrument capable of catching the signals.

The standard sound, which he hopes will be adopted for navigation so far as fog signals are concerned, is formed by means of a tuning fork arranged so as to hum in a resonator by the passage of an electric current. The new receiving instrument consists of conical horns, placed in pairs with the small ends together and these catch the hum from the signalling machine. A glass connected with the receiving apparatus shows by means of lights within the direction from which come the signal sounds. Heretofore, the speaker explained, mariners have not been able to tell within 45 degrees the direction from which fog signals come.

AMERICANS FLEE REBEL RAIDERS.

Mochis Looted by Mayo Indians and Villistas.

Carranza Sends Troops to Drive Invaders Out.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOPOLOBAMPO (Sinaloa, Mex.) Nov. 17 (via radio to San Francisco, Nov. 17.) — Mayo Indians and Villistas were reported to have raided the town of Los Mochis, eighteen miles inland from here, yesterday, by those who arrived here today and sought protection aboard the United States gunboat Annapolis. One Britisher subject and four Americans were reported killed in the raid.

Thirty-three refugees, mostly women and children, were taken aboard the Annapolis. Others were said to be on the way.

American civilians here immediately established outposts and patrols to guard the town.

The late arrivals from Los Mochis said the raiders withdrew late yesterday and that a detachment of Carranza troops had been ordered there from Culiacan, in compliance with the request yesterday of Admiral Byron McR. Winslow, commanding the Pacific fleet, to whom American residents at Los Mochis appealed for protection. They said in their appeal that they feared attacks by the Indians following the recent withdrawal of a Villista garrison sent to join troops in operations near San Blas, thirty miles north of there.

It was stated that the United Sugar Company's property at Los Mochis and other American interests were looted. The situation was reported grave.

Most of those who fled from Los Mochis brought with them clothing and bedding, but no provisions. All were given supplies by the Annapolis.

The trip from Los Mochis was made on handcars, which sometimes had to be hauled by mules over difficult passages, all railroad rolling stock having been previously commandeered or destroyed by Mexican forces.

OREGON MOVES TOWARD CANANEA.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Nov. 17.—Gen. Pablo Obregon, chief of the Carranza forces, who during the last few days has been preparing to move the Sonora troops of Gen. Carranza against the forces of Francisco Villa, near Agua Prieta, has diverted his efforts toward Cananea. Hardly had Obregon begun an advance guard left Naco today when rifle shots from Villa cavalry greeted him from both sides. The attack lasted an hour, when the Villa forces disappeared.

The decision to divert the attack on Naco came when Gen. Jose Rodrigues, who evacuated Naco last Saturday, met with Villa artillery, prepared to oppose an advance on Villa's main force.

The advance guard tonight had reached Del Rio, where another body of Villa cavalry was encountered. The main Carranza army under Gen. Calles has arrived at Villa Verde, midway between Naco and Cananea.

A Fine Treatment for Catarrh

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (Double strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat.

This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.

TRY THIS FOR A COLD—IT'S FINE!

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends severe colds or grippe in few hours.

You can end grippe and break up a severe cold either in head, chest, body or limbs, by taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up. Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

Today's Beauty Aids

To clear up and whiten the skin and secure that charm of pink and white youthful freshness so much desired by all women you will find it far safer to rely upon a good face lotion rather than powder. To get rid of that shiny and muddy appearance in your complexion, dissolve four ounces of spurmax in one-half pint hot water, and add two teaspoonfuls glycerin. Apply this to your face, neck and arms, rubbing gently until dry. This lotion does not show or rub off like powder and is much better. It is splendid for removing tan, freckles, pimples and sallowness.

You can make a delightful shampoo for a very trifling cost if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors or any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessen the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication without extra charge, on presentation of voucher within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items and for typographical error or omission where such or in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Discontinued orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. Ads received after closing hours for each division will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify." Rate 1½ cents per word.

Raymond Montague Rogers, Jr., who, at the better baby contest held in October, measured 100 per cent. perfect and above normal, has brought added parental pride to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Rogers of No. 1115 Grand View street in winning the $50 cash prize and gold medal offered by the Butterfly Theater at Sixteenth and Valencia streets for the most popular baby in the community.

Raymond was a twilight sleep baby and weighed at birth—April 11 of this year—five and three-fourths pounds. At 7 months he tipped the scales at eighteen pounds, more than tripling his original weight and thereby breaking another record.

Visit to Garvanza and Highland Park Sections Creates Sensation Among Residents, but Wanderer Evades Searchers Sent Out from Zoo to Bring it Home.

A well-dressed and very gentlemanly monkey, a member of the Sacred Simian family of India, escaped yesterday morning from the Selig Zoo, and, for a time caused quite a sensation among the residents of Garvanza and Highland Park. Incidentally, the explorer ventured into the gymnasium of the Lincoln High School, and terribly frightened Miss Elizabeth Worthen, the instructor there. When last seen at Avenue Twenty and North Broadway, the youthful Simian was walking along the highway, and appeared to several pedestrians more like a diminutive man with a monkey's cap on.

The explorer came to the Selig Zoo a month ago in company with another monkey of the same sort from India. They are said to be known as sacred monkeys, and to be the only two specimens now in the United States. Keeper Harry Reed had a special cage constructed for them.

Yesterday afternoon the door of the cage unlatched and the explorer vanished. His companion, of less hardy nerve, remained within the bars. The next seen of the explorer was in the gymnasium of the Lincoln High School. Fortunately, there was no class in action, or hysterical rioting might have resulted. As it was, Miss Worthen alone suffered from the shock. Rushing to the building, she frantically called up every zoo in the city.

The explorer is four feet tall, and is calculated to frighten any woman into calling up anybody, anywhere. Selig Zoo reported one monkey absent, and when told the missing Simian was seen, dispatched seven men in search.

TO GRAND JURY.

United States Commissioner Hammack held Milton Hamilton, charged with representing himself as an attache of the Department of Justice, to the Federal grand jury after the preliminary examination. In default of $1500 bond he was committed to the County Jail. It is alleged that Hamilton secured credit for a bill of dry goods amounting to $12.50 from the Hale dry goods house by falsely representing himself an employee of the government.

How You Can Have "Naturally Curly" Hair

If you will forswear the curling iron and follow the simple plan here suggested, you will be surprised beyond words to see not only the beautiful curl, but the soft fluffiness and lively lustre, your hair will acquire. The plan—merely to apply to the hair before retiring, a little pure albumenin (in liquid form,) using a clean tooth brush for the purpose. The most effective way is to divide the hair into strands, moistening each of them separately from root to tip.

The delightful wavy effect in evidence in the morning will suggest to any stranger that your hair is "naturally curly." The effect will last a considerable time and if you'll get a few ounces of liquid albumenin from your druggist you will have a supply for months. This, by the way, will leave no sticky or greasy trace and cannot harm hair or scalp in any way. The hair will be quite manageable at all times, no matter how you do it up.

BURGLARS LEAVE ONLY FURNITURE.

TAKE ALL THE CLOTHES, JEWELS, CUT GLASS AND EVEN THE KITCHEN CLOCK.

Burglars of a new school looted the home of Mrs. A. Bilderrain, No. 124 East Avenue Thirty-three, Tuesday afternoon. They took everything in the house but the furniture, and left Mrs. Bilderrain only with the clothes she was wearing.

She was calling on some friends at the time, and the thieves drove to the residence in a motor car. They cut the screen on the front of the house, broke the glass, and entered through a window. Then they systematically gathered up all property, with particular attention to the wardrobe.

From Mrs. Bilderrain's room they took three tailored suits, two gowns, five hats, sixty pieces of underwear, two dozen pairs of silk hose and three dozen handkerchiefs. All her jewels were taken, including an amethyst and gold-bead necklace valued at $150, a pearl necklace valued at $200, a jewel casket, lavalliere, brooch and some rings.

From her husband they stole two suits of clothes, three dozen silk shirts, thre dozen pairs of silk hose, ten neckties and two dozen handkerchiefs.

They took three cut-glass liquor glasses, and even the cover from the center table. And they also took the kitchen clock off the wall.

Sensation.

DEATH AND THEFT MYSTERY IS REVIVED; SUSPECT HELD.

Accused by Woman's Words, Money Lender Declares He is Innocent of Baffling Killing — Her Allegations Doubted.

HERBERT E. WHITE, a money lender and real estate man, is detained by the police, on suspicion that he murdered Charles E. Pendell and robbed him of diamonds valued at about $4000, June 25, 1913, in the Temple Block.

White was arrested at the request of the Grand Jury and the District Attorney after a statement had been made to the Grand Jury and others yesterday by Mrs. Allie E. Hammill, who has been under the protection of the police more than a month.

A flaw in the accusation against White developed last night when Miss Emily Perry, an attache of the California Savings Bank, denied that he is K. K. King, as alleged by the police. King had a safety deposit box in the bank. Upon this statement hinged the first real test of White's denial that he used the name of King.

A gruelling argument between Mrs. Hammill and White continued dramatically at police headquarters until early this morning, with White's denial of all knowledge of the crime unshaken. He was locked up for the night.

This morning, it was announced, he will be taken before the Grand Jury and confronted with the narrative and evidence gathered against him.

The woman's accusations so far have not been corroborated sufficiently to convince the District Attorney or a police that White is guilty of the Pendell murder, and his denial of the vital point in the Hammill woman story was unshaken after hours of cross-examination.

Mrs. Hammill declared last night that Mrs. Pendell has sworn to "get him" and that he is expected to be arrested for the Pendell murder, because of her story. Special Investigator Felts found her at his father's home, No. 206 West Twenty-fifth street, last night.

"I am innocent," he said. "I hope God strike me dead if there is a word of truth in Mrs. Hammill's statement by Mrs. Hammill, in which White, is one of the most dangerous related to the grand jury. There was some corroboration in unimportant details, and other witnesses have added their mite to strengthen the tale, although not sufficient to warrant the issuance of a warrant. The complete grand jury report will be presented yesterday, or a vote may have been taken upon an indictment. The matter will be considered this morning.

INTERROGATION.

Meantime, White is held at the City Jail upon orders of Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, who stepped into the case with Deputies Woolwine and Doran last night. White was interrogated by these officials and the Chief of Police, and Detectives Jones and Felts.

Late last night Mrs. Hammill was brought into the conference to face White. Once more she recited a story of how she preceded him into Mr. Pendell's office and how White came into the place while she was inspecting the diamonds owned by the money lender. Once more, she said, in the presence of the man she accused, she turned her back upon him and Pendell and an instant later heard something heavy fall upon the floor.

She went to her rooms at the Astoria Hotel, she said, and hours later White went there, with bloodstained clothes, gave her a bloodstained gun, and said, "Nothing much happened."

A dry smile played about White's lips as he sat facing his accuser in the presence of the authorities. Although her story tallied to the minutest detail with that told by her upon other occasions, he did not wince.

"It's a lie and you know it," he said, without heat.

Mrs. Hammill has been living at the Stowell Hotel under an assumed name, while an investigation has been made of her story by the police. Detective Felts went to Texas to verify, if possible, the story of her disposition of some of the Pendell diamonds. Following him, later, went Assistant Chief Home. Both returned with little or nothing to add to the story of the woman.

The investigation here resulted in Mrs. Hammill and others being called before the grand jury.

A prominent woman diamond merchant and money lender was detained by Capt. Hunter of the District Attorney's office last night while her alleged connection with the Hammill woman's story was investigated.

The story told by Miss Perry and the testimony of F. C. Fuentes before the grand jury yesterday is regarded as corroborative of the story by Mrs. Hammill. Mrs. Stella Walters, for years a book-keeper for White, also testified before the grand jury and corroborated the tale told by Mrs. Hammill, according to the District Attorney.

The story of Mrs. Hammill is incorporated in a sworn statement made to Detective Felts October 20. It is a combination of responses to his interrogations and quotations from a diary which she kept through all the time she is alleged to have been associated with White.

WOMAN'S STATEMENT.

In substance, her charges are as follows:

"My legal name is Allie E. Baldwin, and I am known as Allie E. Hammill and sometimes have gone by the name of Mrs. White. I went through a ceremony with Mr. White which made me think I was his wife.

"My baby is 7 months old and his father is Herbert E. White. I came here from San Antonio in September, 1912.

"I met White when I first came here. He was in the loan business in the Fay Building and had taken over some kind of massage parlor in the building opposite. Later I went out to dinner with White. He said he was living with Mrs. Charlotte Goodrich.

[Taken from Mrs. Baldwin's diary:]

"May, 1913 — White needed money badly and said to me: 'I can see how people kill each other when they need money so badly.' Wants me to go down to the Temple Building. White says I have nothing to fear—only ask to see the diamonds, but not to find what I want and have this man (I don't know his name) make an engagement and have all the diamonds there to show me. White seems so nervous that I will do as he asks.

"June 22, 1913—White said he tried to borrow $10,000 from Mr. Pendell and was refused. Since then he has such a grouch on him.

"June 24, 1913—White and I had such a quarrel at 4 o'clock today. Walked around from Market to Main and wanted me to go to the Temple Building with him to locate Mr. Pendell's room. I became frightened and would not go.

DAY OF FATALITY.

"June 25, 1913 — Went down and met White. He made me go up Spring-street steps. He said he would go up others and meet me at top. I got up and passed through the little veranda. Saw White in the hall. I went in through Mr. Pendell's door, but no one was there. I came out scared and met White. I didn't see the step and stumbled. A man, a large fellow, passed us on the steps after coming out of some doors and had the gall and stared me in the face. That was about 2 o'clock. I went back at 4:30. I was nervous and didn't want to go, but White threatened me and told me I was a party to it all and I must go.

"I stated my business to the little old man, who told me he was Pendell. He reached into his desk and took out two boxes, one wood and the other

SAYS CZAR WILL HIT IN SPRING.

TWO MORE YEARS OF FIGHTING, RUSSIAN THINKS.

Captain of Slav Army, on Tour of Inspection of Munitions Plants, Declares His Country will Have Twelve Million Men in Field When Winter Ends.

"The European war will be over in two years," declared Capt. Eugene M. Kouzine of the Russian army, yesterday at the Rossiyn Hotel. He is in Los Angeles on a short visit before leaving for Japan, where he will inspect plants manufacturing war munitions for the Czar's armies. He is confident of their ultimate success.

In his opinion the hardest fighting of the war will begin next spring, when Russia will be able to send 12,000,000 against the Teutons, he says. Russia was in great need of officers at the outbreak of hostilities in 1914, he declares, but asserts his country will have a sufficient number of officers and an ample supply of ammunition to wage an aggressive campaign against her enemies next April.

Capt. Kouzine spent eight months at the front in Oriental Russia, until he was wounded several months ago by a German shell that exploded within fifty feet of a trench that sheltered him and killed several soldiers under his command. After his recovery in a hospital in Sweden he was given a leave of absence for six months and sent by the government to inspect munition factories in this country and Japan.

"Russia's organization will be completed next spring and we will be ready to drive Germany out of our country," he said. "The Kaiser is in a position to know our strength and he has made three peace proposals to Russia this year. I saw a copy of one letter in which he agreed to withdraw his armies from Russia and give us back the territory he has taken if we would accept his terms of peace.

"Germans seek an opportunity to concentrate their forces against England and France and this cannot be done while Russia is in the field. The German hatred for England is very pronounced."

EQUAL AID TO ENTERPRISES.

Attitude of Public Service Board is Defined.

Has the Aqueduct and Power Projects at Heart.

Warm Session Terminates in a Real Love Feast.

What at one time gave promise of being the premier of an interminable series of sessions of the Public Service Commission, for the purpose of delving into all the ancient history of the construction of the aqueduct and the power project, last night ended in a veritable love feast, with the declared policy of the commission to treat with equal fairness both these enterprises.

The water revenue funds will receive a transfer of $175,681.86 from the power bond funds of 1914, but at the same time a resolution will be adopted by the commission pledging itself to provide an equal amount, or such amount as may be needed to complete the power project, when the time arrives for its use.

The meeting was really a session of the Finance Committee of the commission, but it had been agreed that at such meetings, while this subject was under discussion, all members of the commission should participate.

Formal steps were taken at the beginning of the meeting to provide for a series of sessions to determine the definite proportion of cost that should be properly charged against each project in the building of work that would be used jointly. Later on, after the atmosphere had been clarified by various stormy clashes, it was announced that the Finance Committee would report its findings tomorrow evening. It will depend upon the heads of departments and the cost-accounting system on each section of the work to formulate its determination as to a division of the costs of the tunnel construction.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Practically, the result reached last evening was the determination to continue to juggle funds in order to meet the pressing needs of the water and power projects. A portion of the power bond money will be used to meet the required transfer to the water revenue funds, so that the $100,000 deficit staring the commission in the face can be met January 1. Later on money will be taken from some other source to provide for the deficit that

FUND NEARS THE GOAL.

Private subscriptions to the San Diego exposition fund passed the $100,000 mark yesterday with the receipt of additional contributions totaling $360. With the county's appropriation of $35,000 there is now $135,172.13 in the fund, leaving but $14,827.87 to be secured.

The following subscriptions were reported yesterday, all to the guarantee fund: Central and Pacific Improvement Company, $250; Benjamin Kaplan & Co., $50; Lounsberry & Harris, $25; Walter Lindley, $25, and Karl Stern, $10.

BANDIT ASKS TO MARRY TOMBOY.

BUT JUDGE REFUSES AND LAD, REMORSEFUL, IS TAKEN TO PRISON.

Through his attorney and a deputy Sheriff, Cecil Murray, the confessed boy bandit, member of a gang of auto thieves, requested Judge Craig yesterday afternoon for permission to marry Lucille Murphy, the girl who has been arrested many times for wearing boy's clothes, before he is taken to San Quentin to serve five years. Young Murray evidently suffered remorse when the petition was presented.

Because he did not think it advisable under the circumstances, Judge Craig refused the petition. Young Murray was started for San Quentin in the afternoon.

Lucille Murphy was alleged to have played queen to the boy bandits, while the gang operated from a house in West Twenty-second street. Her favorite was Murray. Ever since his arrest he has evidenced deep despondency. This was aggravated so when the Murphy girl promised to reform and live a better life that he slashed his wrists with a bit of tin Tuesday while in his cell in the County Jail, in an apparent attempt to end his troubles. A guard averted a tragedy by administering first aid.

FAVOR MILITARY TRAINING.

Resolutions favoring the establishment of a comprehensive system of compulsory military education in the public high schools of the city were passed yesterday by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. A course embracing setting-up exercises, tactical field exercises, first aid work, and kindred humanitarian subjects, under the direction of detailed officers of the United States Army, is favored by the directors. A copy of the resolution will be sent the Board of Education.

Y.M.C.A. Memberships.

FIND HUNDRED MORE "BIG BROTHERS" TO POOR BOYS.

MORE "Big Brothers" were discovered yesterday by the campaigners of the Young Men's Christian Association in their effort to steer the "little fellow" into the road that leads to health and happiness and put Los Angeles' association back into first place in membership among the affiliated organizations of the country.

To be precise, 100 "Big Brothers" were discovered, making 200 that have been found willing, the past two days, to "stand and deliver" in the interest of the manhood of the future. With enthusiasm on the increase, Campaign Manager Youngworth believes that the next few days will see 1000 boys added to the rolls of the association through the instrumentality of as many "Big Brothers."

A meeting of the team captains to talk over campaign plans was held at noon yesterday. There will be another meeting at the same time today to compare results and tighten belts for future efforts.

Twenty-five teams are in the field, comprising 250 earnest workers. The campaign will be concluded tomorrow night with a big meeting in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium.

In addition to the humanitarian basis of the campaign, there is a commendable desire back of it to once more put the Los Angeles association in first place in membership among the Young Men's Christian Associations of the country. At present both the Detroit association and the Fifty-ninth-street association in New York surpass the Los Angeles association in membership.

OIL SHORTAGE AGAIN SHOWN.

Bracing News Contained in October Figures.

Advances in Prices Here are Anticipated.

Market on Upward Course in Eastern Fields.

Coincident with word telling of further advances in oil in the eastern fields, comes the news that a large shortage was again revealed in the statistics on production and shipments in this State for October. While there is hardly a well defined, direct relationship between conditions in this section and beyond the Rockies, figures show that the horizon of the petroleum world here, as well, is rapidly growing much brighter. There has even been an advance in prices for low-gravity oil in this State, and while the light product is still unaffected, it cannot remain so long with the gasoline market continuing its upward course.

The shortage in oil is the largest so far shown this year, amounting to approximately 30,000 barrels daily average, according to figures issued yesterday by the Independent Oil Producers' Agency Statistical Bureau. It was greater by nearly 12,000 barrels, even than the potential production of the State, which includes daily average oil shut in aggregating 18,000 barrels a day. This shortage was recorded in the face of an increase of some 100,000 barrels for the month in yield.

While conservative oil men declare that the large size of shipments, which last month aggregated 8,598,681 barrels, may be of an abnormal character, that may be later offset to some extent by a considerable decline, there are enough elements in the situation to encourage in no small degree the operators in this State as to the near future of the business. The tendency is strongly upward, and it seems reasonable to expect an advance throughout the general list of buying prices of 5 cents before the end of the year.

The recent advance in the buying price for 14 to 20.9 gravity announced by the Standard Oil Company puts the market for that particular grade on a 37½-cent basis. This rise was the result of the improvement in the market for fuel in the cities. As the Standard only buys low gravity to any material amount in the valley fields, these were the only ones affected by the advance noted in the buying price.

RISING BAROMETER.

The eastern advances, which, in a very general way, may be regarded as a barometer of the coming of better times, have produced a feeling of enthusiasm in the section directly affected. There was another rise of 5 cents in the Pennsylvania district Monday, while Oklahoma crude is now up to $1 a barrel, two increases in price setting 20 cents having occurred within a few days of each other. Ohio oil has also risen 5 cents a barrel.

Of course, with the Panama Canal there is a stronger likelihood than in the past of the eastern situation affecting oil conditions to some extent in California, greater interest than ever before is therefore centered on the advance beyond the Rockies as it promises new possibilities.

The increase in production, which occurred in this State during October, was due chiefly to the Midway-Sunset field. This was not, however, owing to the completion of any large gushers, but chiefly to the new yield from small wells. Coalinga field also showed a substantial increase; Fullerton, however, revealed a loss. Some of the shut-in wells in Kern River were opened up, but not sufficient to alter things materially, either as regards production in that field or the potential surplus during the month.

The number of producing wells during October was fifty greater than in September, totaling, altogether, 6159. The number of drilling wells was about the same. Thirteen new rigs were up as compared with eight the previous month. Completions were less, however, amounting to twenty.

The present low price of oil does not encourage the resumption of drilling operations to any appreciable extent, even despite the present favorable statistical situation. It will take more than one price advance to make conservative oil men believe that good times in the industry are really at hand, after the long hard siege they have withstood since the Lakeview No. 2 flooded the country with oil.

This same siege has been beneficial in its way in getting rid of much of the dry rot in the industry, and teaching the operator the lesson of economy, and those that have survived are in a fit condition in most instances to enjoy a renewed era of prosperity to the utmost.

Getting oil is but a small portion of the oil industry—getting rid of it is the big item—this has been fully demonstrated in the past two years, also in many previous periods.

TRAIN'S VICTIM STILL UNKNOWN.

DILIGENT SEARCH YIELDS NO CLEW TO IDENTITIES OF DEAD MEN.

Two middle-aged men struck down and killed by a Pacific Electric train for Oak Knoll at Titus avenue Monday night, will be buried in the potters' field tomorrow, unless someone comes forward to identify them. Who they were or where they were going the night of the tragedy remains an unusual mystery. Neither carried any identifying cards in his pocket. Their clothes were unmarked. They are known as John Doe I, and John Doe II.

Yesterday the Coroner held an inquest over the bodies, the jury returning a verdict that they came to their death in an unavoidable accident. They were crossing the car tracks late at night when struck. One was flung under the wheels. The other tossed twenty yards, and fell unconscious with a fractured skull. He never regained his senses.

The records of missing persons have been searched by the police but offer no clew to the men's identities. A canvass of the neighborhood where they were walking has resulted in no word of two men having disappeared. They have won the pitiful description of "Nobodies from Nowhere."

Another Coroner's jury yesterday returned the verdict that Moses Sh-bin, the boy who was killed in Vernon Sunday, came to his death by accidental shooting. The jury found no ground for blame to be attached to the boy's relatives, who were with him.

One of the bevy of Los Angeles girls who have entered the big prosperity indoor carnival queen contest is Myrtle Butler, the favorite of the audiences at Quinn's Superba. That she has sung herself into the hearts of the public is putting it mildly. In the many months that she has been the soloist there, her friends have grown apace until she has became a regular habit. Originally from the East, she now is as loyal a daughter of the "City of Angels" as can be found.

Stanley Warde Hart, manager of the queen contest, is offering a bonus of 1000 votes to each one that enters the contest before 6 o'clock, Saturday night. Now is the time to take advantage of the generous offer and get a flying start, for there are many valuable prizes to be given to the fortunate ones so the queen and her four maids of honor will have decidedly more than empty honors.

H. W. Nixon, the general manager of the carnival, left last night in response to a telegram to confer with some of the largest interests of the San Francisco fair, and is expected to return with the contracts of a score or more of the largest, best and most attractive shows, exhibits and concessions that have helped center the eyes of the world on San Francisco ever since the fair opened.

LOVE OF HIS DOG EARNEST DEFENSE.

BUT CONVICTED BUNCO MAN IS FINED FOR BATTERING STAGE DRIVER.

J. M. Byrnes, once convicted of being a confidence man and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, but at present at liberty under $10,000 bail, was convicted of battery in police court yesterday and fined $20. The complaining witness was W. Mills, a chauffeur on a San Fernando Valley stage.

In arguing for himself, Byrnes gave a vivid description of his bulldog, "Ned," whose death provoked the assault. Ned was an important feature of the Byrnes ranch, a valuable and highly-improved property near Van Nuys.

Every night Byrnes would make a round of the buildings, accompanied by Ned, lock all the doors, and then give the keys to the dog. He would carry them to his nest and remain their guardian during the night.

"He could tell a 'bo' as far as he could see one," said Byrnes, "and I wouldn't have sold him for $1000. He was actually worth that much to me as a protector and guard. But I let him make friends with a garage man, and he got to going over to the garage, and one day he went to the garage and never came back. I suspected Mills of taking him away. Well, Judge, I hunted for that dog all over the San Fernando Valley.

"I ain't complaining, but that dog was square and I knew where I stood with him. He never went back on me once. Well, I found him at last, in convulsions, judge, suffering terribly. Somebody had fed him ground glass. I was crying, judge. I couldn't help it. I'm no boob, either. I've met men any way they wanted to come.

"And, sir, that dog tried to get on his feet. He raised up, just a little, then he groaned and sank back. Then he tried to get up again. I was stooping over, judge. I didn't know what he wanted. But, sir, that dog just made one last effort, and he raised just a little, and judge, that dog licked my hand. That's what he wanted to do. He wanted to lick his old boss's hand once more. And then he died."

Byrnes thought Mr. Mills was responsible for the fatality and accused him openly. The result was an altercation, that resulted in the assault.

COMEDY WINS CASE.

Theater Manager Assumes Role of Police Court Attorney—Chuckling Jurors are Convinced.

William Wyatt, theatrical manager, became William Wyatt, police court attorney, yesterday, when he won a jury case. Ten merry men in the jury box had so many chuckles out of the proceedings that they returned a verdict in Mr. Wyatt's favor without leaving their comfortable seats.

The case involved the arrest of E. M. Nichols, a bill-poster, who was placing placards announcing a coming theatrical attraction under the direction of Mr. Wyatt. Inspector McPhillips of the police license bureau arrested Nichols for posting bills without a permit.

Mr. Wyatt held a placard is not a bill and therefore the law did not apply to the case in question. So he offered his services as attorney for his employee, and faced a jury in Police Judge White's courtroom yesterday afternoon.

Novelty and diversion to the jurors were offered by Mr. Wyatt in the construction of his closing address. He spoke in acts—three acts and a curtain speech. It was a comedy. Mr. Wyatt was so elated with the effect of his eloquence that he made an impromptu address to the court later. It was effective.

The verdict will serve as a precedent in future cases involving the bill-posting law. As to its importance the police make no comment.

ASK ROAD TO INDIANS.

A request that the Chamber of Commerce pass resolutions favoring the construction of an automobile truck road across the Navajo Indian Reservation, to connect the Montezuma Valley of Colorado with Gallup, N. The road will both afford an outlet for the valley and give the Navajo Indian settlements desired connections with the outside world.

FILM HOSPITAL FULL.

Accidents at Universal City Disable Thirteen Persons—Star to Scene Shifters on Sad List.

It was "accident day" at Universal City yesterday. Dr. Lloyd Mace, in charge of the film company's hospital, had his hands full and in the hospital itself last night nearly every cot was occupied.

Four persons were hurt by falling scenery; three others were injured while doing horseback "stunts," and two ironworkers had a fall from the new electric studio, which is in course of construction.

Moreover, Hobart Henley, one of the stars; Paul Bourgeois, animal trainer; Dorothy Bebb, who was one of the winners in the Universal beauty contest, and Rex de Dossell, an actor, also received injuries.

Mr. Henley was thrown out of an automobile and his ankle was fractured. Miss Bebb fell in a faint in her dressing-room, striking her head on her dresser, and became unconscious. Mr. Bourgeois was attacked by one of the bears at the zoo and his right hand was crushed, and Mr. Rosselli's side was injured by a chair during a stage fight.

WHY "AN-URIC" IS AN INSURANCE AGAINST SUDDEN

Sufferers from Backache, Rheumatism and Kidney

Before an insurance company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. High Explosive Used, S Aqueduct Builder.

Schm who is charged with the murder Charles Haggerty, one of twenty m killed as a result of the destruct by dynamite and fire of the origi Times Building, is resumed morning A. J. Knight of Salt La City will be the first witness. He w testify concerning a telegram sent few days after the catastrophe by J. B. McNamara from Salt Lake City J. J. McNamara in Indianapolis, t message reading, "Patient out of da ger." It was stated last night th Mr. Knight will positively identi the telegram, the significance of whi is obvious.

Following the testimony of M Knight several girls and young wom en will be called, all residents eastern cities. They have knowledg according to the District Attorney' office, of correspondence and tel grams that passed among those in th dynamite conspiracy. One of them Mrs. Charles McCarthy of Lethbridge Can., has two children at home an upon her request will be placed o the stand this morning if possible. Attorneys for the defense said yes terday they will make a stubborn fight to exclude the testimony of eas ern witnesses, but the State's attorneys declare they will lay sufficient founda tion to have it admitted.

ANOTHER EXPERT.

Court adjourned at 4:20 o'clock yes terday afternoon, at the completion of the cross-examination of William J. Mulholland, who had been on the stand nearly all day. His testimony as expert in character, following that given by Dr. Julius Koebig and Frank A. Garbutt.

Mr. Mulholland, who has been in Los Angeles since 1877 and is superintendent of the water department, testified without the least trouble as an expert in the practical knowledge of explosives. He made it plain, however, that he is not an expert as to chemical analyses.

He was the chief engineer in charge of the construction of the aqueduct, admittedly a wonderful engineering achievement, and said 300,000 pounds of powder and dynamite were used in excavation during the building, and consequently had gained considerable knowledge of the effects of explosives.

Appointed by former Mayor Alexander as one of a committee to determine the cause of the explosion in the original Times Building, he said he visited the ruins every day for nearly a week immediately following the catastrophe.

EVIDENCE OF DYNAMITE.

He declared he found every evidence of dynamite such as shattered and pulverized brick and mortar, and in the broken and twisted beams. When the State's attorneys say was caused by the nitroglycerin is my opinion that the wreck caused by a violent discharge of gaseous explosive," Mr. Mulholland He declared the beam in ques was the only piece of steel that broken, but there were many of steel and iron in other parts the debris that were twisted and bent.

Mr. Mulholland identified the beam as the one upon which a test made in Griffith Park.

Attorney Harriman, for the defense, stated he will produce a witness an endeavor to impeach the evidence concerning the beam and the testimony in "Ink Alley" immediately after the explosion.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine said last night that Curtis McManigal will be placed on the stand probably early next week. The examination of the young women will be made by Special Prosecutor

CRIMES SUGGESTED.

Police Judge Tells Credit Men of Changes He Would See in Handling of Prisoners.

The Associated Credit Men of Los Angeles held the first meeting under the auspices of their newly-elected officers at the Jonathan Club last evening.

The president, H. Victor Wright, spoke briefly of the work to be undertaken and then turned the meeting over to W. B. Trimble, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, who introduced Police Judge White, who spoke on "Los Angeles—Its Accomplishments and Needs."

Judge White told of the early history of Los Angeles. He also paid tribute to the city for the accomplishments of the two gigantic achievements—the Los Angeles Harbor and the aqueduct.

Referring to the wants of the city in the department of justice, the speaker told of the need for an industrial home for women offenders. He advocated facilities that would enable police judges to segregate first offenders from hardened criminals. He decried the present women's quarters in the City Jail, with the idleness of its occupants, as breeding dissolute-ness among the inmates while confined.

He said the State should provide day nurseries where mothers who are compelled to work during the day could leave their children, thus throwing around the child as much influence as possible to prevent crime. He also advocated that convicted prisoners should be employed under the control and care of competent men and women who have studied the problem of crime, prevention and reformation.

Five-minute talks were then given by A. J. Pickarts, on "An Opportunity in Better Service," and H. J. Wyatt, on "Negotiable Instruments." LeRoy Hall entertained the members with several amusing stories.

The next meeting of the association will be held December 21, when a Christmas high jinks will be held.

"HITCHY-KOO" AT BRISTOL.

Jewel Egan, better known as the "Hitchy-Koo" girl, because she made that popular melody famous on the stage, is the new headliner at the Cafe Bristol this week. She has a distinctive manner that makes her popular with cafe audiences.

Leone Remington, billed as the "girl with the skyrocket feet," furnished the whirling comedy element in the cabaret. There are many others on the bill.

Court adjourned at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the completion of the cross-examination of William Mulholland, who had been on the stand nearly all day. His testimony as an expert in character, following that given by Dr. Julius Koebig and Prof. A. Gaylutt.

is sure to come in the construction of the power project. It was intimated last night that this may come from the payment that will be made by the San Fernando people as their proportion of the cost of constructing the Franklin Canyon line—and then that hole must be filled up from somewhere else, and so on, until the finances of the water system get into a healthier condition.

A vast mass of documentary matter was introduced last night. This included the various resolutions whereby the aqueduct and power projects were transferred from the Board of Public Works to the Public Service Commission, documents that gave financial statements, and resolutions adopted by the Board of Public Works, showing what it deemed a proper settlement of the accounts between the two projects.

At various times there were stormy passages between Councilman Betkouski, Chief Engineer Mulholland, Chairman Snyder of the Finance Committee and Electrical Engineer Scattergood.

The controversy raged as to the justice of requiring the power project to pay at this time its full proportion of the cost of constructing the tunnels below power plant No. 1 in San Franciquito Canyon, and which may not be used by the power project for several years—that is, until the second power plant is constructed. There was considerable discussion as to the heavy cost of this work and the excess of cost over the original estimates. Mr. Scattergood and his supporters declared these tunnels were built against his protest, and were urged by Mr. Mulholland and members of the advisory board o. the Board of Public Works, in order to bring clear water down the San Franciquito Canyon, as it was found that by using the creek bed the water was so filled with silt that it was objectionable and would cause much criticism.

On the other hand, Mr. Mulholland asserted that the original plans of the aqueduct provided for construction that was far less expensive than was finally required, when provision was made for the power project's joint use.

Councilman Betkouski urged that every dollar of the power bond funds would be required to carry out the promises made to the people, and that if the transfer proposed was made he would consent to it only on the terms that at the same time a resolution be passed pledging the commission to provide money for the power project when it is needed.

Chairman Snyder declared there was no doubt such a resolution would be adopted, and various members of the commission emphatically stated they had the interests of each project equally at heart—that at present it is simply a problem of meeting current demands, and that there is prospect of the water revenue funds being in much better condition within a comparatively short time, so all the projects can be financed.

Before the meeting adjourned a rare state of amiability had been reached, and both Mr. Mulholland and Mr. Betkouski, who were storm centers at this and a previous meeting, stated they wanted it publicly understood there was no charge of dishonesty on the part of anyone, nor of malfeasance; that all were working to one common end, the best public service.

Voice Betrays Him.

street, both blind and elderly. Every afternoon and evening he takes his harp to Sixth and Los Angeles streets and plays old tunes. He bears a receptive tin cup on his breast, a receptacle for contributions. It is his only way of making a living, and he has been there so long that his hearers come regularly to listen to his playing.

Mr. Childs enjoys sociability, he says, and a bit of good liquor. It was because of this characteristic, he says, that he met Lindsey, who lives at No 714 East Sixth street. He asked Mr Lindsey to enjoy the hospitality of his room and his refreshments Tuesday afternoon, he told the police.

They talked for some hours, each drinking "his share," as Mr. Childs described it. After Lindsey left Mr. Childs went out to eat. When he returned to prepare for his nightly recital he felt his way to the corner where his old harp always stood. It was not there. He returned to the door to get his bearings and searched the corner gropingly with his hands again. He realized his harp was gone, and with it his only way of making his living.

Tuesday night he stayed in his room, weeping. He thought the poor farm was the only refuge open to him And he knew he would never be able to purchase another harp, and he had been playing the instrument for years.

Yesterday he went to the Police Station to report his loss. Shortly afterwards word came that two men were driving a transfer wagon from one pawnshop to another, trying to sell a harp. Detectives Browning and Bowe arrested them. One was Claud Lindsey and the other E. S. Lyman.

Lindsey was taken to the blind man's room. He refused to talk. "If I can hear his voice," said Childs, "I can identify him, for that's the only way I have of knowing people, and I never forget a voice."

So they made Lindsey talk. "That's the man," said Childs.

Lyman was released when he explained his only connection with the harp was in helping Lindsey sell it. Lindsey denies knowing anything about the instrument.

He said he was born in Princeton, Ind., and that his father was brother to Judge Lindsey. He said his wife and family live in San Diego, and that he had been employed in the exposition there. He makes his living here, he said, by speaking for the I.W.W., and he said it is a slender living, too. He will be arraigned today.

FOR FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Noted Tenor Extends Aid to Plan of Fraternity to Raise Funds for Needy Students.

The Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity of the University of Southern California will open its campaign to establish a free scholarship fund at the university for students who otherwise could not afford to go through college, by giving a tea this afternoon at the frat house, No. 3102 South Vermont avenue.

The guest of honor will be Constantino, who has not only agreed to sing but has also taken over full charge of the programme for the concert which the girls are to give in the auditorium of the Ebell Club Wednesday evening, December 1

Everything indicates that the concert will be a success.

CHARGED WITH POISONING.

Pedigree and values did not enter into the merits of the poisoning of Rollo. He was one of the most likeable pets in all Monrovia, according to W. W. Weidleman, owner of the dog and complaining witness before Justice Burr against I. Q. Cole. Deputy District Attorney Heinecke prosecuted the case. On the testimony of Prof. Bell of the Monrovia High School as to finding strychnine by analysis in the stomach of the pet as well as in his feeding pan, the defendant was held to answer to the Superior Court and released on his own recognizance. A connecting link in the testimony damaging to Cole was the testimony of a druggist, who had sold Mrs. Cole strychnine just a few days before the death of Rollo.

MALTED MILK AND CORNSTARCH

Two Valuable Food Products Combined With Pleasing Results.

There are two food products in general use today, which, if better understood, would be kept on hand constantly in every household; namely, Malted Milk and Cornstarch. Each of these is palatable, easily assimilated, and very nourishing—while each can quickly be prepared for the table in a great variety of ways.

They can be combined with most excellent results in a most appetizing dessert known as Malted Milk Cornstarch, which is made as follows:

Mix together in enough water to form a paste two heaping tablespoonsful of a good Malted Milk, with three tablespoonfuls of Cornstarch. Add cup and a half of water and cook in a double boiler until it thickens. Sweeten to taste, flavor with vanilla, cool in moulds or cups.

We say a good Malted Milk advisedly, because satisfactory results cannot be expected with inferior kinds. It is interesting in this connection to note that "The Grand Prize" at the San Francisco Exposition was awarded to the famous brand known as "Borden's Malted Milk in the Square Package."

Insist then upon Borden's—which can be obtained at all good druggists.

Sketch of a portion of Los Angeles Harbor. Through the advantages of the Panama Canal this harbor is destined to attain great commercial importance.

Financial strength, broad experience, superior facilities, unusual advantages and careful, courteous, efficient service, are factors which have caused Title Insurance and Trust Company to attain REAL IMPORTANCE as a fiduciary and title company.

The modern method of protecting and preserving wealth and property is through a "living trust."

Why devote all your energies to making a fortune—and do nothing toward the preservation and protection of that fortune while you live and after you pass on? If you have $5000 or $500,000 in money, securities or property—a "living trust" executed today will be an invulnerable barrier against the possible loss of all or any portion of your fortune included under the trust.

Men are rich today and poor tomorrow. If thousands of men had had the foresight to execute living trusts at the height of their prosperity, their fortunes would be intact today. Every man believes in life insurance. A living trust insures the preservation of your material accumulations. It is the highest type of insurance ever devised. The cost is trifling when compared with the services rendered and protection received. Consult our Trust Officers, and secure booklets, "Life and Property" and "Trust Company Service."

ABOUT 300,000 BABIES DIE BEFORE ONE YEAR

The Census Bureau estimates that 300,000 babies died in this country last year before the age of one year, and it is stated that one-half of these deaths were needless if all mothers were strong and infants were breast-fed.

Expectant mothers should strive to increase their strength with the strength-building fats in Scott's Emulsion which improves the blood, suppresses nervousness, aids the quality of milk, and feeds the very life cells.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion; it is doubly important during nursing. No alcohol. Every druggist has it. Insist on Scott's—the white-food medicine. No advanced prices.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY

(At Home:) Extensive speculation at higher prices in all securities except rails and similar issues was an early feature, but later realising sales caused an easing in values and most of the advance was lost. The dissolution of a large copper-holding concern was followed by a small loss in stock prices, though the refined metal held firm at 19 cents. Lumber prices on the Pacific Coast are stated to be the best in the last two years, with a revival in business.

(For details see financial pages.)

EXPENSIVE BIRDS.

They say that a billion dollars is invested in poultry in America. If this is meant to include all branches of poultry then we should say that the estimate is much too low.

FACING AN OLD AXIOM.

In view of the number of desertions from his army since the recognition of Carranza, we have no doubt that Villa is prepared to concede the truth of the axiom that "nothing succeeds like excess."

KING PETER'S LAMENT.

The "assistance" that the allies have rendered the Serbians thus far is so limited in quantity and so wretched in quality that King Peter almost wishes that the Austrian Prince had not been assassinated.

NO REAL HELP TO EUROPE.

It hardly seems worth while to go on feeding the distressed people in Europe and at the same time sell more ammunition to make more distress. Europe will put just as much of the burden of this war on America as this country is willing to carry.

THE FARMER SUFFERS.

"Turn about is fair play," and it is up to the Democratic party to fulfill its platform promise, pass the rural credit bill and finance the farmer, for with free wool, free beet sugar, free cattle, free grain and free agricultural products generally, they have diminished the cash resources of the farmer so that he can no longer finance the Democratic party.

BUSINESS COURTESY.

Should the words "Dear Sir" and "Yours truly" be omitted in the future from all business correspondence? Certain New York business houses, on the score of efficiency and saving of time, advocate the change. We doubt if the laws of common courtesy will stand for the innovation. Beside the loss of a good old-fashioned customer might result from making a business letter too curt and cold, and this loss would take many years of business letter elisions to cover in dollars and cents.

INTELLIGENCE AND PETS.

Los Angeles is becoming the home of many beautiful people and fish. If people eat too much, that is their own business, but if a poor little fish is overfed, that is somebody else's business. No fish ever starves, yet thousands of lovely, high-spirited fish die in this Christian city of ours each year from overeating. Gout is the great white plague of fishdom! It is also to be remembered that a fish looks sensitive, but is really quite robust, has good health coming from the fact that he never neglects his cold morning plunge. Fish will die in heat because heat exhausts the life of the water, but no fish was ever so cold that he was unhappy. In all seriousness these suggestions are here offered because, if people are going to have things for pets, they ought to take intelligent care of them.

TURNING THE OTHER CHEEK.

Lord Rosebery avows that he is "disheartened" at the prospect of the United States increasing its naval fleet to an extent that will make it equal to or second only to that of Great Britain.

What is there in the prospect of our government constructing submarines enough to guard our seaports from either European or Asiatic invasion that should precipitate Lord Rosebery into a lugubrious frame of mind? Does he expect Uncle Sam to keep both his cheeks ready to tender to any foreign smiter who may choose to pound them?

"Sam," said the Sunday-school teacher, "if Johnny should strike you on one cheek would you turn the other to him and beg him to hit you again."

"Yes'm," said Sam hesitatingly, "but"—brightening up—"I'd belt the stuffing out of him first."

AS TO COLORED "PERILS."

Has Senator Phelan, alias "Apprehensive Jim," relinquished his friendship for prohibition? Has he been looking upon the wine when it is red? Is he beginning to see things? Has some lit-pumpkin scarehead relic of Halloween inspired him with terror? Or is he simply laying the predicate for a big grab at the pork barrel?

The "Japanese peril" affrights the soul of our Democratic Senator. He sees Japanese fleets anchored off every Pacific port from San Diego to Nome ready to obliterate the inhabitants and destroy the buildings unless cash tribute is paid to the Mikado. He sees every pass in the Sierras guarded by a Japanese army that will prevent eastern succor from reaching Californis suckers.

These awful things will happen to us, according to the Senator, unless we permit the Japanese to own California lands, participate in California politics, hold State, county and city offices, attend pink teas and dominate the commonwealth socially, politically and industrially.

THE FARMERS PAY THE FREIGHT.

"'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good," and the directors of the Southern Pacific Company are quietly hugging themselves at the situation which has resulted from the temporary closing of the Panama Canal and the prospect that when it shall be reopened Wilson's sailor law will have driven most of the steamships from the Pacific Ocean.

The warehouses and the wharves at Galveston are congested with California canned goods, prunes, fruit, alfalfa meal, beans, raisins, apples, hops, plums and figs bound for New York, but much of which was billed through for re-export from that port.

Freight from Galveston to New York is being moved at the rate of 5000 tons per day. The Morgan line has been augmented by four extra steamships, and others are being put on, although President Raymond of the Mallory line declares that the business being an abnormal one is not profitable to the steamship companies. "The movement is of low-rate merchandise," he said, "and not the normal movement of high-rate merchandise that we generally are handling at this season of the year."

The Morgan liner El Occidente on her last trip from Galveston to New York carried from the Pacific Coast 760,275 pounds of beans, 75,600 pounds of plums, 253,162 gallons of wine, 62,000 pounds of dried apricots, 60,000 pounds of alfalfa meal, 2,307,254 pounds of barley, 134,612 pounds of asphalt, 23,536 pounds of hops, 31,354 pounds of garden seed, 684,555 pounds of canned goods, 45,911 gallons of brandy, 1,959,360 pounds of prunes, 75,724 pounds of raisins, 395,175 pounds of dry fruit and 429,370 pounds of canned fruit.

A Morgan line official said: "I expect to see the heaviest amount of traffic to New York from Galveston this year that has ever been recorded, primarily because of the big crops in the West, because of the demand of foodstuffs at home and abroad, and because the closing of the Panama Canal until the first of the year at least makes the haul from the coast to Galveston and thence by water to New York the cheapest freight transportation across the continent that can now be purchased."

The reopening of the Panama Canal will give only partial relief unless Congress shall promptly repeal the obnoxious seamen's law, for only American ships can ply between American ports, and the Pacific Mail ships and the Dollar vessels which have been driven away by Wilson's sailor law will not be apt to return.

As usual "Jones pays the freight." The extra millions that will go into the coffers of the railroad companies and gulf steamship lines will be deducted from the sums received by the farmers of California for the product of their orchards and fields.

BRITAIN'S UNTENABLE POSITION.

In case the controversy over British stoppage of American ships and seizure of American cargoes going to and coming from neutral European ports shall not be settled by diplomatic correspondence, as is hoped by both British and American Foreign-Office officials, it will be submitted to The Hague tribunal for arbitration, as it is an issue that will come under the provisions of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty.

The controversy does not involve American lives as did the controversy with Germany, but only dollars and cents, and as Great Britain is never in haste about securing an adjudication of any controversy that may result in her paying money, it is probable that the settlement may drag on indefinitely.

The treaty under which the issue would be arbitrated was negotiated by Elihu Root for the United States, and James Bryce, the then British Ambassador for Great Britain, and signed April 4, 1908. It was ratified by President Roosevelt May 11, 1908, and proclaimed June 5, 1908. It was concluded for a five-year period, which period was extended five years upon its expiration.

The principal provisions of the treaty are that differences which do not affect the vital interests, the independence or the honor of the two contracting states and do not concern the interests of third parties shall be referred to The Hague tribunal.

It is required that in each individual case before appealing to The Hague tribunal the disputants shall conclude a special agreement defining clearly the matter in dispute and the scope of the powers of the arbitrators.

The principal question at issue between the United States and England is whether the alleged criminal misconduct of Germany in conducting her war against Great Britain justifies the latter power in making reprisals not only against Germany, but in including in those reprisals attacks upon the commerce of a neutral nation.

In answer to our contention that Great Britain violated both international law and the Declaration of London in seizing American ships loaded with American goods consigned to a neutral agent at a neutral Scandinavian port, the Manchester Guardian, voicing the attitude of the British Ministry, says that the rules for blockades were made before railroads were built, and that lawyers and diplomatists always have forgotten the railroads when revising the rules; that railroads have made Holland, Denmark and Norway a part of Germany, and that if there were no interference with the transit of goods through these neutral countries, then Germany could not be blockaded, and that if the American arguments are accepted they would abolish the commercial blockade of any continental power. That only islands which have no neutral side doors could be blockaded commercially.

Mr. Thomas Gibson Bowles, an English writer of eminence on maritime law, said that the British contention is "uncandid, ungenerous and unfair." He declared that the British Foreign Office had "invited and propounded new rules of sea warfare resting on new principles, without warrant either from the recognized law of nations or from any international instrument."

The contention of the United States that Great Britain had not established an effective blockade Mr. Bowles regarded as just, for Sir Edward Grey had undertaken to harass neutrals by methods not sanctioned by the law of nations.

And having demonstrated that his country is altogether wrong in interfering with the neutral commerce of the United States, Mr. Bowles added: "Nevertheless the United States must remember that we are fighting for our lives, and the liberty of the world, and that this is not a time for quibbling."

Will the starving of German women, children and noncombatants preserve British lives or promote the liberty of the world any more than the drowning of American men, women and children on unarmed, unresisting merchant ships contributed to the security and the glory of the German Empire?

The excuse of Great Britain that she violates laws and treaties because the law of necessity is higher than the law of nations is like that of the book-keeper who embezzled the firm's cash because he needed the money, or that of the horse thief who took the animal because he was tired of walking, or that of the burglar who robbed the baker's shop because he was hungry.

COURTING PARLORS.

A San Francisco parson is responsible for the institution of courting parlors in connection with the churches for the use of the shy and retiring. He has pronounced the opinion that the young people should be encouraged to court and marry under the dignified auspices of the church; that young men are safer and happier when married. And this notwithstanding the dictum of the saints that woman is a dangerous creature to be avoided by all good men.

But the idea that the shy and retiring young people are the ones who will patronize the courting parlors is interesting. One can see the bold fearlessness with which any shy young man would take himself to the sanctuary for the avowed purpose of courting. Under the supervision of a benign clerical eye. For, needless to say, properly religious chaperons will be provided for the young people, that everything may be on a decorous footing. We should have imagined in the innocence of our hearts that it would take unusual pluck and self-confidence to walk into that parlor, where numerous timid maidens will await the attentions of the swain.

But, then, of course, what we understand as shy and retiring may be very different in San Francisco. His Reverence doubtless knows his flock.

Still, we cannot help feeling that greater success might have been attained by severely separating the sexes, by advising the shy and retiring to follow the dictates of their heaven-sent instincts and regarding the opposite sex with aloof timidity. There is nothing quite so embarrassing as obvious encouragement in such matters, as any expert match-making mamma will testify.

THE MEANEST YET.

There appear to be a few American citizens still enjoying the privileges of this free country who have not yet refunded the money advanced them by Uncle Sam to enable them to escape from the jaws of the war when they suddenly opened on the people of Europe. Their bank credits cut off and their very lives in danger, these some Americans called on Uncle Sam in their urgent need and he heard them and opened for them his generous pocketbook. We have no doubt but the ones now trying to dodge their debts were the ones who clamored the loudest.

Some people have consciences as airy as soap bubbles, and hides cut from the shoulders of the rhinoceros. A friend in need should be repaid in deed. The Americans who accepted the ready aid of their government when Europe threatened to engulf them must be void of a rudiment of a conscience to shirk the obvious duty of repayment now that they are safe from the danger.

Ingratitude is almost too complimentary a term to apply to such cases. The lightest penalty for these unworthy citizens would be to deprive them of their citizenship so that never again in their hour of need could they call on Uncle Sam for help or protection. Sometimes the restoration of the debtor's prison seems to be almost justifiable, as a fitting finish for selfish citizens too anxious to elude their most solemn obligations.

Will He Jump?

THE DOOMED BIRD.

The day'll be with us in a trice—Thanksgiving Day, of grateful glee. Still stands the ancient sacrifice, a turkey roosting in a tree. I wonder why we always eat a turkey and a pumpkin pie to show we're grateful for the wheat that in the bin is piled up high. We see our larders amply full, the bald-faced hens are laying eggs, the sheep have grown so blamed much wool that they are spavined in the legs; the cupboard's full of shredded oats, the pantry shelves have jars of jams, the cows are thrifty and the shoats give pledge of bacon and of hams. All mundane things have come our way, we gain each prize for which we try, and, filled with gratitude, we say, "We'll eat a gobbler and a pie." The turkey roosts in yonder tree, and hopes to dodge the butcher's gaze; but such a boon is not to be, alas, for numbered are his days. So many blessings crown our lives, so many gifts without alloy, that we, and all our aunts and wives must find some way to show our joy. We find existence full and sweet, each day's the best that e'er went by; and so we fondly say, "We'll eat a turkey and a pumpkin pie."

WALT MASON.

TWO RELIABLE FISH STORIES.

A snoring fish is not a Munchausenism. He is an ichthyological piscatorial fact. His name is "Opule" and his habitation is on the ocean beach near Honolulu.

The opule, says the Honolulu Advertiser, is a fish from six to eight inches long. Its body is a handsome seal brown in color, shading to a bright red at the belly. Along the body are lines of white spots, arranged with wonderful regularity.

Opule are fish of a strange habit. They love to browse on the sea moss, which is only found on the rocks near the shore. The fish come in at high tide at night and after gorging themselves on their favorite food, go to sleep in the water, allowing the tide to recede completely from them, upon which they bury their bodies, with the exception of their heads, in the sand.

It is while in this position that they make the snoring noise, which, as a matter of fact, isn't a genuine snore at all, but is caused by the labored efforts of the fish to breathe out of their natural element.

The opule is as edible as a sand dab and much easier to catch. Neither a hook and line nor yet a net is used in capturing him. The Honolulan takes a basket and a hoe and either in rubber boots or barefooted and barelegged and accompanied by his inamorata or some other gentleman's inamorata, he strolls along the beach in the moonlight when the tide is low. He hears a snore. He digs up and baskets the snorer and there you are.

There are incredulous people who will decline to believe this fish story but its truth is vouched for by the Honolulu Advertiser.

The Times is also in possession of a reliable fish story. It calls the attention of the Advertiser to the method of taking big sea turtle pursued in Ensenada Bay in Baja California. The turtle comes to the surface of the water to bask in the midday sun and sleep. The turtle fisherman, with only bathing drawers for a costume, stands in the bow of a canoe which his comrade propels with a paddle. A turtle will never dive or sink if his head is kept above water. The turtle fisherman approaches the sleeping turtle, seizes his head before he can withdraw it into his shell, leaps upon his back and rides him ashore. There he is decapitated and his remains are carried to the turtle cannery.

A Near Pirate.

[Birmingham Age-Herald:] "Did you ever dream of being a pirate when you were a boy?"

"Oh, yes. Isn't it queer? Now I'm in the prosaic business of managing an automobile repair shop."

"Umph! You didn't miss it so far."

THIS VOTING BUSINESS.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

"What puts nicks in my noodle is the fact that I won't have a chance to vote again for several weeks," remarked the Oldest Inhabitant, as he backed his motorcycle into our garage. "Just when I was getting nicely into the habit and reporting regularly to the election judges there comes a lull. On my way to the polling place somebody stops me and tells me there's nothing doing for the next month—that is unless we should be able to scare up an extra bond election."

"Well," said I, sympathetically, "if you've got in the habit of reporting so regularly to the authorities you might keep it up with the probation officer."

"Oh; it's not as bad as that," returned the veteran. "But if I should get out of the rut and happen to overlook an election or two the country might go to the dogs and I not know it. If we're going to have an election every fortnight for heaven's sake let's keep it up and know when we have it over with."

"Cheer up," I exclaimed, warmly. "We're going to have an election on the new charter pretty soon and it will be an occasion all by itself. We can't vote on anything else at that time. It wouldn't do to divert the attention of the voter from the subject in hand. You can't think of two things at once if one of them is the new city charter."

"Yes; b'gee! and if the charter has much over a thousand words, or if it has any fads or frills, I can see its finish. If a thing looks strange or acts as if it had a joker up its sleeve the voters will shoot it so full of holes that it won't hold fried mush. All they want is something that looks like a nigger in the woodpile and they'll climb over the fence and give it a fat swat. The last election was only a taste of what the next freak output will get at the hands of our friends, the people."

"Well," continued I, "when you get through with your city charter you can go into training for the Presidential primary. That ought to hold you for a while."

"That's another crazy thing," interrupted the old man. "Did you ever hear of anything like it? In Nebraska they've had a Presidential primary already, and the Republicans are supposed to have nominated Judge Hughes of the Supreme Court, who says he wouldn't take the office if he were nominated and elected without opposition. He never was a candidate and swore he never would be, but a few foolish men and a crazy newspaper boosted his name on the ballot and, in the absence of interest or effort on the part of any other candidate, he is supposed to be the choice of Nebraska. The voters just trailed like a flock of sheep. What kind of a system is it when you can put over a thing like that? Where will Nebraska be when the real line-up of the Republicans comes?"

"Possibly they will be out on the front porch listening to a few happy remarks by our peerless pacificating pacificist, Willie J. Bryan," said I, as if in answer.

"That wouldn't be any more foolish," retorted the pioneer. "You write to your folks that the only way a Presidential primary can be practical or effective is to have it a national affair. It must be held all over the country on the same day and at the same hours. When the different States spread them over a year or two the results are either matters of graft, organization, advertising, snolla, obligations or barter. In some States there is nothing to hinder Eugene Debs from capturing the prohibition vote, and I'll bet that in some of the Southern States having Presidential primaries the Republicans will nominate Woodrow Wilson. It is just because no party interest is taken and things go by default. One of the wise guys told me that there is a scheme on in some of the States where the old Republican organization was mangled to nominate Roosevelt as the choice of the party. Wouldn't it jolt you?"

"Not as much as it would Mr. Taft," said I.

"Well; anyhow, it is more than a possibility," returned the veteran. "Roosevelt says he is a Progressive, and the Progressives still claim to be an organized party. If these are facts, let them make nominations accordingly. When it comes to the final decision at the polls the people will do as seems best, but if party nominations are to be made let them be made of the party, by the party and for the party. As it is, they would put up some man that happened to be in the popular eye and disregard platforms and principles. There is no string at all to the man. He represents nothing but himself, and if he is a demagogue he doesn't even do that. Carry this thing out in its natural ends and you will see the parties disappear and a dictator arise. I'll bet you $50,000 that in the Presidential primaries as they are now run I can work up a campaign that would sweep the country for Charlie Chaplin. I could carry Kansas and Oklahoma for Jess Willard, and New York for Christy Mathewson. In the finals the man who had the most belligerent voice or the most militant pen would be elected President. The people like to hear war talk, and the man who could make the epigrams would have the necessary popularity to put him over. Pledges, platforms and principles are secondary matter or are completely lost, and the next step is the dictatorship or absolute goverument. The convention plan of making party nominations was sometimes abused, but has not been healthily improved upon. Under that the partisans of a district selected one of their number as their delegate. In a general way they set forth the principles for which they stood. The delegate had to be a good party man and possessed of sagacity and fidelity or he could not be selected above his fellows. When you get delegates from all over the country of that stripe you are going to have a more representative and a stronger nomination than in the hit-or-miss plan of a choice of Presidential primaries."

"Then you consider the primary to be a secondary matter," murmured I in an attempt to be felicitous.

Becoming Perplexed.

[Pittsburgh Post:] "Heaps of folks seem to think Indian summer comes in October. I say it comes in November. Ain't I right?"

"I dunno, and ain't interested. I'm trying to set a lot of people right about the equinoctial storm."

A Serious Loss.

[Kansas City Journal:] "Well, where's that cook?" demanded his wife. "Don't tell me that she wasn't on the train."

"She was on the train," timidly explained the commuter, "but I got to playing cards and a Lonelyville man won her at whist."

That's Right.

[Philadelphia Record:] "What's your idea of an honest man?"

"An honest man," replied Mr. Kimp, "is one who likes the same music in private that he says he likes when his wife is giving a musical evening."

The Lallygag.

The lallygag strolls down the way
That leads to Failureville,
He thinks he's coming back some day,
But he never, never will.
He turns aside to view the scene
That tempt his artist's eye,
He loafs and plucks the daisies green
And prates of by-and-by.
Tomorrow, next year, some time or other
He's going to achieve
Tremendous triumphs of some sort
If we can him believe.

But why should I the lallygag
Deride by word or line?
For futile as his record is
It's very much like mine.
I'm always going to achieve
That which will make me great
And win undying name and fame
When it is just too late.
So I'll not chide the lallygag
Because he wastes his day,
He cannot help how he was born
Those are his natural ways.

Mystery Is Revived.

pasteboard. I pretended nothing pleased me, but before I could make an engagement to see other stones, White walked in, and when I saw how nervous he was, and Mr. Pendell jumped up, I turned and nearly ran. I was so scared. As I left the door I heard something heavy fall. I saw two men pass, but I was too scared to notice them.

"White 'phoned to me a little before 9 p.m. and told me he was in a car with two friends, and the windshield had broken, and he was coming by to wash up. I remember asking him how he came out, and he said: 'Oh, it didn't amount to anything.' I told him he must hurry, as our elevator stopped at 9:30, and he always came in from the back on Clay street to the Astoria Hotel, where I lived.

"It is now 11:30, but I can't sleep. Where did he get the gun he gave me to wash? Surely, honey, you have not let the want of money drive you to crime. He came in very nervous, took off his coat and went into the bathroom and was all spotted and speckled with blood. He washed and gave me the gun to wash. He left a three-cornered blue bottle half full of chloroform."

The statement continues to review the incidents of the succeeding months, in which Mrs. Hammill asserts White did nothing for her. Later, however, he says he gave her $200 and a note for $5000, and she went to Texas and Arkansas to raise money. While in El Paso, she says, she sold two diamonds and a horseshoe diamond to a wealthy Mexican.

In her statement, Mrs. Hammill says the $5000 note she placed with her attorney, Paul J. Otto, as security for his fee of $500 to sue White on the note.

HISTORY OF CRIME.

Mr. Pendell was murdered in his office, room 49 Temple Block, the afternoon of June 25, 1913. The crime was committed with a blugdeon or some other blunt instrument, the first blow fracturing the money-lender's skull, and those succeeding reducing the unfortunate man's head almost to a pulp. He was evidently attacked from behind as he sat in his chair or as he arose to go to his safe.

The body was discovered at 7:30 o'clock that evening by Mrs Pendell herself. Mr. Pendell had telephoned earlier in the day that he would be home at the regular dinner hour. His wife waited an hour beyond that time and finally went in search of him.

Two large diamonds, variously valued at from $2500 to $4000, which Mr. Pendell habitually wore, had been taken from the body. The safe had been ransacked. Exactly how much was stolen was never fully ascertained, though that other jewels were among the loot was evidenced by the fact that one or two gems were found on the floor, where they had been dropped by the murderer or murderers in flight.

A loaded revolver belonging to the murdered man was found near by. A book containing an account of money which had been loaned by Mr. Pendell was missing.

Despite the theory of revenge advanced by the police, the widow and her son, Harry Pendell, clung firmly to the belief the crime was committed by those bent on robbery only. They told of a visit made to Mr. Pendell's office two weeks before the tragedy occurred by two suspicious-looking men in search of a mythical "Mr. Jones." At the time Mr. Pendell told his wife and son he believed the men to be thieves looking over the ground before attempting a robbery.

FIXING THE TIME.

From facts developed after the finding of the body it appeared the murderer chose a time to commit the crime when the other occupants of the office were not about. The detectives in charge of the case estimated this time to be about 12:30 noon, during the lunch hour, although S. A. Connors, who occupied an office on the same floor of the building, declared he heard a slight scuffle in Mr. Pendell's office about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon. Other tenants of the floor reported they had heard nothing unusual at any time during the day.

A close questioning of the tenants of the building disclosed the fact that a young man, acting suspiciously, had been seen wandering about the hall outside of Mr. Pendell's office about 1 o'clock that afternoon, and a mysterious "blonde woman" also figured in the case.

During the months that followed the investigating officers arrested several suspects, but because of insufficient evidence were forced to allow them to go. At one time Burr Harris, the slayer of Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, the Christian Science practitioner, "confessed" that he was responsible for the murder of Mr. Pendell also. He admitted before his execution for the Gay crime that his statement was false.

SUIT FOR GEMS.

Exactly one year after the murder of Mr. Pendell suit was brought against the widow by Frank R. Huston to recover gems alleged to be worth $6000, said to have been given the murdered man as a pledge for a loan. During the trial of the suit before Judge York it developed Mr. Huston was acting for a Mrs. Matie Jenkins, who had assigned her claim to Mr. Huston.

In answer Mrs. Pendell alleged Mrs. Jenkins had never pledged the fine gems under discussion. Expert witnesses were introduced to testify to having seen the gems in Mr. Pendell's office a year before the murder. Among these was White, whom the police now hold. He testified that some months previous to the murder he had been in Mr. Pendell's office during a conversation between Mr. Pendell and a "Mrs. Jenkins." He said he had heard Mr. Pendell refuse to permit the woman to take away some of the pledged jewels to sell.

"He told her she had already taken some away and had returned neither the money nor the jewels," Mr. White is quoted as testifying.

Mr. Huston was awarded gems valued at $1200, but before he could claim them he was compelled to pay $620, the sum borrowed by Mrs. Jenkins on them, and also accrued interest.

Mrs. Jenkins stated at the time she was a divorcee and lived "all over the world."

STRANGE RECORD.

Mrs. Hammill is an enigma to the authorities. Not long ago she was arrested for filing a false certificate of birth. She swore she gave birth to a child, now 8 months old, and that its father is White. White denied the allegation. When the charge of forging a public document was tried she was cleared upon the technicality that no such statement is covered by the statutes.

Mrs. Hammill's story of her relationship with White covers four years of tragedy which reached a dramatic climax when she faced him at Central Station last night. She said she had been divorced twice from the same man and has a son 21 and a daughter 16. White is not married and, according to him, never has been.

He has been living at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Goodrich, No. 2267 West Twenty-first street. He confessed to the police last night that Mrs. Goodrich was wealthy when he met her and that she is now penniless. She loaned him $22,000 upon practically no security, he said, and he does not know how he is going to pay her back unless he is fortunate enough "to turn a real estate deal."

White admitted he had kited checks, that he had forged a name to a deed, that he had loaned money upon diamonds and then borrowed more money upon them later. He admitted he had charged usurious interest upon notes, but he did not say he had slain Pendell.

He admitted, however, that he was in Pendell's office with another man long before the murder, and saw the Pendell diamonds. He denied he and Mrs. Hammill had made a suicide pact to take poison, two phials of which they carried, in the event of their detection. He denied he had ever been in the Astoria Hotel. In fact, he denied every charge made by Mrs. Hammill.

STORY TOLD BEFORE.

Mrs. Pendell and Ex-Sheriff Hammel had heard practically the same story from Mrs. Hammill's lips while she was in the County Hospital recently. Mrs. Pendell said last night that the reward of $5000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer and $1000 for the recovery of the gems is still open. She was very pessimistic about the story told by Mrs. Hammill, however.

In addition to the story of the Pendell murder, related dramatically by Mrs. Hammill, she told a story of how White is alleged to have planned the murder of Charles A. Cole, No. 445 West Thirty-third street. She charges that White paid various sums to a man named Leon to "do the job," and that Leon promised to do it until he could get no more money from White, and then backed out.

One incident in her story concerns the alleged secreting of a latch key at the Cole residence. She said she was to get the key and deliver it to White, and he was to commit the murder and rob Cole, who, she said, had $150,000 worth of securities.

Cole laughed when the story was told him last night. He admitted, however, that the key was stolen from his home on or about the date mentioned, but he said that it wasn't possible for a man like White to think of taking his life. He said White is a good, substantial citizen.

The police intend to co-operate with the District Attorney today in running down all the clews included in the Hammill woman's story. The matter will be threshed out by the grand jury today, as well.

TO PAY MONEY SAVED.

C. N. Karnes, a jitney bus driver who saved $100 from bandits several evenings ago, was ordered yesterday morning to pay this sum toward the maintenance of his child, by Justice Summerfield. Karnes was arrested on a failure to provide charge while still confined to his bed from the effects of having driven his car against a telegraph pole to scare the hold-up men.

SECOND SMUGGLER CHASER.

Azalea, Sister Boat of Immigration Patrol Ellington, will be Launched December First.

The announcement was made yesterday by Capt. Connell, local immigration inspector, that the gasoline launch Azalea, nearing completion at the Joe Fellows shipbuilding yard, in Wilmington, will be launched December 1. The Azalea is the sister boat of the Ellington, launched some weeks ago, both vessels being intended for use in running down smugglers.

It was expected that the launching of the Azalea would take place some time ago, but the brass shafting to be installed is aboard the Minnesota, compelled to come around Cape Horn, on account of the slides on the Panama Canal. The Minnesota is due in Los Angeles Saturday of next week.

These boats will continually cruise up and down the Coast and, being equipped with wireless apparatus, communication can be had with them from the home office at any time, as the radio area will cover at least 1000 miles.

TOO EXPRESSIVE.

Vital M. Strougo, an expert linguist, able to speak the French, Italian, Spanish, English, Greek, Turkish and Syrian languages, with numerous European dialects, employed in a steamship office on North Spring street, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Fenton Thompson, following his indictment by the Federal grand jury on the charge of writing an obscene letter to G. M. Strougo, a distant relation, living in San Diego. Commissioner Hammack fixed the bond at $1000, and Strougo was released. The occasion of the letter was a dispute over $6 in a bill owed by the San Diego man.

BANKRUPTCY CASES.

The Sanitary Dairy Supply Company, doing business at No. 246 Central avenue, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday. The debts of the corporation are scheduled at $3987, and the assets at $3700, of which $750 is the alleged value of the stock in trade, and $2800 due on open-book accounts.

Walter S. Chaffee of Ventura, filed a similar petition. He gives his debts at $6264.39, of which $6157.45 is unsecured. The assets are scheduled at $6405.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

MISS RHODA A. RINDGE, one of the wealthiest young women of the State, and daughter of Mrs. May K. and the late Frederick H. Rindge, will today become the bride of Merritt H. Adamson, son of Mrs. Merritt H. Adamson, Sr., of South Hoover street.

The Rindge family has long been one of the most influential in California, and this charming daughter has her own motor and two-decker houseboat, car and every luxury her heart desires, though she is decidedly unspoiled, and takes pleasure in making her friends happy.

The young couple have guarded well their secret, as have their friends who were let into the plans. The wedding is to be celebrated at high noon in the chapel at Mission Inn, Riverside, where they will motor this morning with their wedding party and about thirty friends. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her brother, Frederick H. Rindge, and Mrs. Rindge (formerly Miss Galetta Mushet and one of our prettiest young matrons) is to be matron of honor. Miss Dorothy Youmans and Miss Jessie Matheson are to be bridesmaids, while three fraternity brothers of Mr. Adamson, who is a Phi Alpha Delta, will attend him. Frank H. Tolle as best man and Jack Wilson and Pascal Henry, whose marriage to Miss Marcella Margaret Mahan will occur the last of the month, as ushers.

The bride will be married in an imported salmon chiffon with overdress of taupe chiffon—a creation from Paris. With it is a handsome coat of taupe chiffon heavily trimmed in fox fur. Her shower bouquet is to be of white orchids with yellow and brown centers and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Rindge, will also wear an importation of taupe velvet, with gold hat, and will carry an arm bouquet of September Morn roses. In fact, all the gowns are brought from abroad for the interesting event. Miss Youmans wearing a costume made of old-fashioned hoop skirt in blue tulle over pantalets of cloth of silver, and bodice of blue velvet with tulle sleeves and neck. Her chapeau is of silver with blue plumage.

Miss Matheson's gown is fashioned of layers of chiffon shading from baby or sky blue to the deeper tones. Her chapeau is also of silver, and both bridesmaids will carry showers of Mrs. Aaron Ward rosebuds.

Last night, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rindge, entertained the wedding party and a few additional guests to dinner at their home on No. 400 Kingsley drive.

The bride's mother will not go to Riverside for the marriage.

Mr. Adamson, who is owner of many apartment-houses in Los Angeles, and prominent in business and social circles, prefers rural life, having spent most of his time since college in the country. His fiancee adores out-of-door life as well, and is proficient in water sports particularly. Neither care especially for society, and chose a quiet wedding.

They are leaving at once on their honeymoon, and will not return until December.

Beautiful Wedding.

An interesting chapter has been added to Dan Cupid's book of romance in the beautiful wedding of Miss Virginia Elizabeth Walsh and Charles Morehead Nebeker, solemnized last evening at the twilight hour of 6 o'clock in the home of the charming bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edward Walsh of No. 625 Harvard boulevard, with the Rev. Baker P. Lee officiant.

Despite the fact that both Miss Walsh and her fiance are among the most sought members of the younger set and of prominent Southern California families, the nuptials were witnessed by less than a hundred guests.

Before an altar of white, banked in hugh pink chrysanthemums and palms and effectively illuminated by burning wax tapers held in innumerable candelabra, the distinguished looking wedding party stood for the plighting of the vows. An orchestra stationed in a bower of greenery in the lower hall announced the approach by the "Lohengrin Wedding" chorus played softly through the service and culminating in the Mendelssohn march for a recessional. Messrs. Overton Walsh, the bride's only brother, and Minnan Wolfe were groomsmen who came first, Mr. Nebeker and his best man, Wells Morris, awaiting them in the drawing-room. Miss Louise Hunt, Miss Conchita Sepulveda, Mrs. Dexter Mapel and Mrs. Charles Bassett—the latter two brides from El Paso and relatives of the Nebekers—in fetching bouffant frocks of pastel tones followed, forming an aisle of satin streamers looped with tulle and chrysanthemums down which the bride walked, leaning on the arm of her father, preceded by the flower maiden and maid of honor.

Miss Dorothy Lindley made a captivatingly lovely maid of honor in a handsome short, full frock of Shawyer pink taffeta and silver lace, with an arm bouquet of gorgeous Shawyer roses, while dainty little Virginia Phillips for all the world resembled an irresistible French doll in soft pink and carried, as flower maiden, a basket of the Shawyer rosebuds.

The bride, an acknowledged beauty, has never looked quite so bewitchingly attractive as in her wonderful wedding gown of tulle over ivory satin, made in prevailing short length and delicately embroidered with pearls. The bodice was of pearls and Rose Point lace—the same that had enriched her mother's bridal gown. A court train fell from the shoulders, terminating in a wide border of the pearls, and over all a filmy tulle veil bordered in Venise Point gracefully enfolded her. It was banded in the coiffure with orange blossoms. A single strand of perfectly-matched pearls was worn. Rare white orchids and lilies of the valley with maidenhair fronds and tulle formed her shower bouquet. Mrs. Walsh was in a rich black velvet and flame-colored satin.

Immediately following the service dinner was served, the bride's table having for a center a mound of the rich pink Shawyer roses, around which burned pink tapers in crystal holders. The favors were of satin, and heart-shaped, and places for sixteen were marked in monogrammed cards. Near by were seated others at smaller oval boards, also adorned in the pink rose motif.

The honeymoon is to be spent mostly in the north, though the happy newlyweds are to spend Christmas in El Paso and will not return to the City of Angels until the first of the year. They are to be ensconsed temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Nebeker of the Palisades, Santa Monica, until they decide upon a future residence.

Mrs. Nebeker was born in Los Angeles and grew to sweet young womanhood among a circle of admiring friends with whom she enjoys great popularity. She was graduated at Marlborough and is an accomplished, much-traveled young lady, having spent much time since her debut in Europe, Alaska and Honolulu. With her marked ability in dramatics—in which she has appeared at numerous charity affairs and for the select Amateur Players and other society organizations—is coupled a charming personality, which with her beauty has made her a great acquisition. Her grandfather was Maj. Horace Bell, who came to California in pioneer days and was for many years prominently identified in law. He was also known as an author.

Mr. Nebeker, who is a Princeton man, is associated with his father in the lumber business. He is prominent in athletic circles, especially devoted to tennis.

Out-of-town visitors called by the wedding numbered Mrs. Edgar Axton Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Overton of San Francisco.

Mrs. Charles Morehead Nebeker and her maid of honor,

Miss Dorothy Lindley Mrs. Nebeker was formerly Miss Virginia Elizabeth Walsh, and her marraige was an interesting society affair of yesterday.

Merry Call to the Wilds.

One of the many delightful weekend parties given last week was the opening of Santa Oline Lodge, a cabin in the Sierra Madre Mountains, when Messrs. J. F. Bentley, Verne Hanes, Less Hanes and Bernie Loper entertained sixteen of their friends.

The early part of Saturday night was spent sitting around the large open fireplace singing and telling stories, and at midnight a lunch was served and Santa Oline Lodge was officially opened. Sunday was spent in playing various games, and dinner was served at 3 o'clock.

Among those present were: Walter Zachau, the ranger of Santa Anita Canyon; Mrs. W. Zachau, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Loper, Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Gunderson, Miss Lucy Utt, Miss Caroline Ramp, Miss Rena Ostberg, Miss Rose Roth, Miss Marie Zachau, Corliss Lucas, Verne Hanes, Less Hanes, Bernie Loper and Ford Bentley.

Guests of Mrs. Walker.

A party of Los Angeles women who motored to Devore to spend the day last Monday at the foothill ranch home of Mrs. T. M. Walker included Mrs. W. G. Cochran, Mrs. Florence P. Halstead, Miss Victoria Witmer, Mrs. John Parkinson, Mrs. J. W. Dawson and Mrs. G. L. Hutchison. For some months they have enjoyed an informal reading together on Monday afternoons, and since the removal of Mrs. Walker from Los Angeles to Devore ranch they plan to have frequent meetings out in that picturesque San Bernardino mountain country. The day was delightfully passed in visiting the gardens of the ranch and the fern-filled canyons and mountain streams above it.

For a Bride-elect.

Among the many social functions given for Miss Ramona Richards, whose marriage to Wilson O. Gibbs is to be an event of this month, none has been more enjoyable than the luncheon and theater party with the Misses Mary and Anna Hook hostesses on Saturday last. The guests were taken to the Alexandria and seated at two oval tables similarly decorated in mounds of old-fashioned flowers nestling in maidenhair. Dainty cards marked places for Miss Richards, Mrs. W. S. Hook, Mrs. W. D. Richards, Mrs. Allan Wheeler, and Misses Winifred Howland, Anna Alexander, Nell Alexander, Catherine Sanborn, Esther Love, Margaret Smith, Florence Boden, Henrietta Hunt, Genevieve Shafer, Eugenia Shafer, Margaret Coffman and the hostesses.

In Santa Ana.

Mrs. W. S. Bartlett is spending today in Santa Ana, where she went to participate in Founder's Day at the Santa Ana Ebell Club—an organization this loved clubwoman founded many years ago and in which she served as its first president, occupying the chair for four years. Each year Mrs. Bartlett goes back to "pat her child on the back," equally enjoyed by members and herself. She will return this evening.

Dr. Fish Wins Bride.

Coming as a great surprise to their many friends, but with especial interest is the news of the marriage in Berkeley yesterday of Dr. Charles W. Fish, a prominent physician of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Edith Harvey, a bright young matron, who is active in the Ebell and other clubs of this city.

Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, president of the Ebell Club, was advised of the wedding by wire last night, the service having been read at the home of the bride's cousin in the northern Bay City by Dr. Charles Edward Locke, a former classmate of Dr. Fish in Pennsylvania, who went north with him the day prior to the event.

Mrs. Fish is a member of the books and conversation and other sections of Ebell and is on important committees, where she enjoys great popularity.

Dr. and Mrs. Fish are to return by Thanksgiving, when they will be besieged with felicitations.

Back from the Exposition.

After an extended visit in San Francisco and other northern points, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brackett have returned to Los Angeles and will make their home at the Elliott apartments, No. 722 South Alvarado street.

For the Future.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walter Witzel have issued invitations for a dancing party which will be an event of next Monday at their home in St. Andrews place, at No. 226.

THE OUT WEST MAGAZINE.

Stating that in her opinion the time is now ripe for the establishment of a purely literary magazine on the Pacific Coast, Lannie Haynes Martin, the new editor of the Out West Magazine, which was purchased by Cruse Carriel from the Out West Corporation on Saturday last, outlined the policy of the magazine.

"It is undoubtedly true that there are many writers in the West who are not receiving the recognition to which they are entitled," said Mrs. Martin last evening, "and it is proposed through the Out West Magazine to give these writers a vehicle of expression. This will mean that the magazine will have a distinctively western flavor in so far as the writers are concerned, although eastern writers will be welcomed.

"The magazine that will prove of greatest value to humanity right now is the one that stands as the meeting ground the public common, where apparently opposed creeds, sects and political factions may discover for themselves their similarity of aims and ends.

"While it is proposed to hold up the mirror to the West for the 'enlightenment' of the East, and it is hoped that this will prove of advantage to the West; nevertheless, it is also to be desired the West recognise a true reflection when presented and, if necessary, correct apparent pernicious tendencies."

Other than the Overland Monthly, the Out West Magazine is the oldest monthly publication of national character on the Pacific Coast. It was founded in 1894, under the name "Land of Sunshine," and numbers several prominent Californians among its editors. The new owner and publisher, Cruse Carriel, was formerly retail sales manager for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, with headquarters in Chicago, subsequently breaking into the writing game through the columns of The Times. He is a contributor to the Graphic Arts, the Independent Weekly and other national magazines.

Mrs. Martin has for years been a contributor to The Times, Overland Monthly, Sunset, Life, Nautilus and other publications. She is a member of a number of prominent local women's clubs, the Los Angeles Drama League of America, Southern California Women's Press Club, Pasadena D.A.R., Browning Club of Pasadena, and Altadena Women's Club.

The Out West Magazine has moved its editorial and business offices from No. 546 South Los Angeles street to room No. 502 American Bank Building.

The fact that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant to take has made it a favorite with mothers everywhere. Obtainable everywhere.—[Advertisement.

Masks and Flickers.

MASON TO HAVE GRIPPING PLAY.

"On Trial" to Make Debut Here Next Week.

"Master Mind" Goes on at the Burbank Sunday.

Variety and Movie Line-up is Alluring.

"On Trial," Cohan and Harris's big offering, which comes to the Mason next week, is one of the most sensational plays ever produced in this country. The novel manner of its production, as well as the thrilling nature of its story, combine, it is said, to make it one of the most moving dramas ever given.

The Chicago company, which played that city for a year, will present the play here.

Burbank.

"Nearly Married," the delightful farce comedy, will remain at the Burbank only during the remainder of the present week. The piece has proven one of the most popular ever given at the local theater, and it could probably remain for several weeks more, but Mr. Morosco's contract compels him to produce "The Master Mind" within a certain length of time.

"The Master Mind," which will go on next Sunday afternoon, is said to be a strong drama, and to give excellent opportunities to Frances Ring, Burt Wesner, Edmund Lowe, Lillian Elliott and others for the display for their dramatic powers.

Majestic.

"A Pair of Sixes," one of the most enjoyable farces ever written, is scheduled for production at the Majestic during the week of December 5. Oscar Figman heads the cast.

Orpheum.

Thanksgiving week is to be celebrated at the Orpheum with an unusually good bill, according to advance announcements.

The new headliners will be Muriel Worth and Lew Brice, formerly musical comedy stars, who bring some excellent dances and songs.

Others will be the Primrose Four, in harmony; Ethel Kirk and Billy Fogarty in songs, dances and piano; Margot Francois and partner in comic tumbling; the Gardiner Trio in new dances; the Flemings in "alabaster poses, and the holdovers, Harry Beresford in "Twenty Odd Years," and Nellie V. Nichols in her clever impersonations.

Empress.

Musical comedy, presented in three-a-day form, seems to be making a great hit at the Empress, which reopened last Sunday with "Have You Seen Stella?"

The piece is a revue of things in Los Angeles, and contains many keen local hits. Besides this, there is a very pretty chorus, which sings and dances most enjoyably. Rene Vivienne, Marjorie Lake, Betty Wells, Bonnie Leonard, Lillian Lewis, Joe Lee, Dave Gaston and others are making individual hits.

Hippodrome.

The Hip also promises good things next week, the bill opening Monday.

The headline act will be the Six Beurzonians in "La Hacienda Serenada," recently introduced at the Gamut Club.

Others will be Johnson and Wells in "Watch the Quadrille;" Ernest Van Pelt, a Los Angeles boy, in a fun sketch, "And His Wife Came Back;" Cleveland and Trelease in songs and dances; Snyder and Hines, who tango on skates; the Zeganoff Troupe of Russian singers, dancers and instrumentalists; and Jack Green, monologist.

Pantages.

A musical comedy presented by Six Peaches and a Pair, the pair being O'Neal and Dixon, is the headline offering of the new Pantages bill to open next Monday afternoon.

Others will be the Countess von Dorman and her harpists; Thorne and Company in "The Sheriff;" the Van der Koors, quack illusionists, with Felix, the mind-reading duck; Mabel Johnston, ventriloquist and Harry Norwood and Alpha Hall, in nonsense comedy.

Mission Play.

"The American national theater, which for so long has been both a fond hope and a vain dream, is here at last. It is the Mission Play. Beyond all doubt the Mission Play is the long-looked-for American drama."

These were the words of Lady Gregory after she had witnessed John Steven McGroarty's great pageant drama at San Gabriel on Friday last. Lady Gregory made the statement in the presence of a number of prominent women of the Friday Morning Club, who had escorted the distinguished noblewoman to the play from Los Angeles.

Republic.

The popularity of the current programme at the Republic Theater is due to the mile-a-minute gait with which it is started, the pace never lagging until the final fall of the curtain. The spectacular feats of the Ambler Trio; the rapid-fire comedy singing and dancing act of Martyn and Valerio; the featured Spanish songs and dances of La Municuita and Andulusia, and the power and sincere acting of Wilton Lackaye and beautiful Clara Kimball Young in "Trilby" are all making a decided hit with the large audiences. The other acts of the bill keep up the standard.

The Republic's programme next week will be headed by the novel juggling act of the De Barrs, who promise something really new in their water carnival and juggling of water fountains at their finale. DuNord, in classic dances, will divide headline honors with the dexterous ones.

Miller's.

Nance O'Neil in the wonderful and compelling love tragedy, "A Woman's Past," surprises her most ardent admirers by her marvelous portrayal of the role of Jane Hawley at Miller's Theater this week. Her vital personality and compelling magnetism were never so much in evidence, and she rises to the great heights of dramatic artistry in the big moments of the drama.

The story is one of compelling power that bears a strong resemblance to the popular stage success, "Mme. X." It has been produced in a manner worthy of the famous star it features. Another of the funny Wallingford comedies is the added feature.

William Farnum in his latest success, "The Broken Law," is announced for next week.

Woodley.

Charles Cherry, popular stage star, is adding other laurels to those already gained, in the magnificent screen performance he is giving at the Woodley this week in the role of Lord Lumley, the "Mummy," in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird." It requires the delicate touch of the finished actor and man of sympathetic understanding to mold the idea of the dreamer cleverly portrayed into a concrete character, but Mr. Cherry does all this in the fine interpretation he gives.

Next week's attraction will be America's beautiful and talented actress, Miss Edna Goodrich, in "Armstrong's Wife," a photoplay with a big, daring theme teeming with thrills and suspense.

Symphony.

Emily Stevens, the noted New York actress, in "The Soul of a Woman," is the offering which is drawing strongly at the Symphony this week. Miss Stevens has an excellent opportunity for the display of her dramatic genius in this photodrama.

The star of "The Soul of a Woman" is the niece of Mrs. Fiske, and was trained by that noted actress for her stage career. At present Miss Stevens is making a great hit on the speaking stage in New York in "The Unchastened Woman."

Tally's Broadway.

Little Mary Pickford, in her splendid portrayal of the delicate and appealing little Cho-Cho San in "Madame Butterfly" is drawing crowds to Tally's Broadway Theater.

Mary has smiled, flirted and wept her way through many film adventures, but she shows in the present feature that underneath all the ingenue tricks are real power and dramatic strength.

Palace of Pictures.

Although the plot of "The Sins of the Mothers," together with the sincere emotional acting of beautiful Anita Stewart, is mostly responsible for its success this week at the Palace of Pictures, no small added interest is added by the several spectacular scenes which are worked in most realistically. GUS PAPPAS THROWS AJAX.

Russian Hits Floor Twice with Force.

Greek is Backed by Scores of Bootblacks.

Fallen One Thinks that He was Robbed.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Gus Pappas, a Greek wrestler with a neck like a marble column, won his match at the Western Athletic Club with Tony Ajax, middle-weight champion of the Coast, slamming the local man to the mat with neatness and eclat in two straight falls.

The first time he accomplished his fell purpose with an anatomical entanglement scientifically known as a hammerlock and scissors. This required nineteen minutes of toil and turmoil.

Pappas secured the second fall in twenty-two minutes. This time he used nothing but a simple hammerlock in his business. The decision of Referee Ellason caused some dissent, and a few hisses among those present, some maintaining that Pappas did not have Tony's manly shoulders securely pinned to the mat. Others thought otherwise, which is their privilege in this land of the free and the home of the brave.

Individual opinions and free speech are guaranteed to all of us by the Constitution. Whatever the merits or demerits of the decision, and no two seemed to be agreed on this point the surface indications were that Pappas would have triumphed some time during the course of the evening.

Pappas showed all the class claimed for him as Greek middleweight champion of America. He seemed to be more advanced in the profession than Ajax, and somewhat more sinew.

The defeated man is a Russian, while the original Ajax, if we remember correctly, was a Greek. However, as the Ajax family grew and multiplied part of it moved to Russia. Then after it had multiplied some more Tony moved to Los Angeles, and became a "favorite son."

In the curtain-raiser, which was for 133 pounders, Ratz threw Lester in four minutes and five seconds.

Avrad Brown, the Terrible Swede, and Kid Nazra, the Demon Armenian, tangled in the semi-windup. They struggled twenty-two minutes without either securing a fall, and then were removed from the ring to make room for the main event. Nazra, although outweighed by ten or fifteen pounds, was the aggressor. The Terrible Swede warded off defeat by remaining down on all fours most of the time, with Nazra riding him around the ring. Nazra seemed to regard him as a sort of a jitney. This contest was saddened by the fact that the Armenian lost both shoes in the heat of battle. What made it all the sadder was that he had holes in the feet of both socks. Many seemed to think that he kicked his shoes off on purpose so as to make use of the toe hold. They figured that this hold is executed by grasping an opponent's windpipe between the first and second toes of the right foot, and in that way shutting off his supply of fresh air and unrivaled climate. This is a mistake. The toe hold is manipulated by grabbing a hated contemporary by the bunions and trying to twist his foot off at the ankle. If this cannot be done, then he tries to twist the leg off at the knee, which is fully as effective.

NOTABLES.

The presence of Pappas attracted a large amount of the Greek population, and in the audience were to be seen many of our best-known bootblacks. There were also quite a few professional men present, including Dr. Houghton and Dr. Scoggins, who in the heroic days of old were frequently to be seen crouching at the ringside at Naud Junction and Vernon.

Just before the main event, a guy by the name of George Dietz climbed onto the platform and made some remarks in a foreign tongue. It was explained that he was addressing the Greeks present. This must have been true, because none of the Norwegians present seemed to know what he was saying.

Emil Dominick, middleweight champion of Arizona and New Mexico, was introduced. He wanted to know if anybody present disputed his title to the championship of those places. Nobody did, and he seemed satisfied. Dominick rode into town on a motorcycle, having come by way of San Francisco and traveled over 2000 miles. Despite the strain of the trip, he expressed a willingness to defend his title as soon as he had eaten and secured a hair cut and a shine. Several of the bootblacks present put in a bid for the job, and offered to do it right on the spot.

A LITTLE BALD.

Ajax was first in the ring, or on the mat, or whatever you call it. Aside from a trace of baldness he appeared to be in perfect physical condition. Pappas followed. He stripped like a Greek god. That is, we reckon he did. Not having mixed much with the Greek gods, however, we are not sure of it, and do not claim to speak with the voice of an expert. Pappas has cauliflower ears like a boxer. They appear to have been chewed up by a calf. It may be that these cauliflower ears would prevent him from qualifying as a Greek god.

Pappas is a great hand for perspiration. As soon as he got up steam, his back was glistening like a scalded hog in a slaughter-house. This made it very difficult for Ajax to get a firm grip on him. Had Ajax worn spiked shoes on his hands he could have gotten a more satisfactory hold. After Pappas had slammed Ajax to the mat without definite results, they put

WHITES SCORE POINTS EARLY.

REDS UNABLE TO OVERCOME LEAD.

John B. Miller and Hugh Drury Score Two Goals Apiece for the Winners and Harry and Reggie Weiss do the Same for the Losers? Contest Runs Six Periods.

The Whites triumphed over the Reds in a hard-fought polo scrimmage at Midwick yesterday, the battle continuing on through the falling of night. The score was 6 to 4¾.

The Whites, composed of Dr. Malaby, J. B. Miller, Bobby Neustad and Hugh Drury, did their scoring early in the affair, which was composed of six periods. The Reds came through stronger at the finish, but had not the wallop to win.

In the first period Dr. Malaby and Mr. Miller each piloted one between the pillars for the Whites while Harry Weiss picked one for the Reds, losing a quarter of a point for a foul in so doing.

The second period found Mr. Miller repeating and Neustadt coming to the fore with a well-executed poke, which added another to the White score. Hugh Drury for the Whites and Harry Weiss for the Reds, each scored one in the third period, and Drury and Carleton Burke of the Reds landed one apiece in the fourth frame.

Here the White scoring came to a standstill and the Reds made a valiant effort to come through with the points necessary to win. In the fifth and sixth periods Reggie Weiss for the Reds shot goals, but none of his teammates was able to assist him.

At various times Harold Cook and Rupert Spalding relieved players and showed to good advantage.

The quail sport seems to be taking precedence over duck shooting these days, and fishing is practically at a standstill. The climatic conditions are not the kind that attract the big flocks and most shooters would rather try their luck with the crafties and more game quail.

Milton Drown and a party of three shot quail below Ethesac the other day. Drown got the limit and all the others a few birds. Between the four they potted forty-two rabbits.

The Los Angeles Gun Club will hold its Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot at the club grounds near Venice next Sunday. All the shots are in fine trim from the recent contests for the Topperwein Trophies and there should be some good scores. About a dozen big birds are up as prizes.

L. R. Spafford, E. L. Beier and James Warren each got the quail limit near Ramona and also brought home fifteen rabbits and twenty-one ducks.

The famous Topperweins shot at the Long Beach Bluerock Club yesterday and today they will give an exhibition in San Diego. From there they will go to their home in Texas.

The Tufts-Lyon store is being altered and much additional space given the gun department. Under the old arrangements it was a pretty hard squeeze for Heinie Pfirman between the counter and the wall.

Frank Medina and Heinie Pfirman won the two-man team shoot for a Topperwein Trophy held on the Venice pier Tuesday night. Twenty-five targets were allowed each man.

Sid Butler and Albert Reed will fish on the Coupe next Sunday.

Glenn Martin recently shot the duck limit at Sunset Beach. He presented several of the finest specimens to Owen Council.

Owen Council, Bob Paulson and W. W. Corbins will spend Sunday and Monday hunting quail on the desert near Victorville. Council has had good luck at this spot several times before.

The quail are said to be thick around Ventura. Messrs. McDonald and Newmoyer have just come back from that district with a limit apiece and the most encouraging of reports.

A. E. Landman has from all accounts qualified as a buck and wing shot. While riding in the back seat of a buckboard on the Pico ranch last Sunday he brought down a duck at an unheard-of distance and now says he will do his shooting in the future from a moving motor car. Ralph Palmer who never fails to get "his limit" also did some mighty execution. Others in the party were J. W. Kemp and A. W. Bortord of Riverside.

TROJANS MAY GET IN ON BIG COAST CONFERENCE.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 17.—Will Washington State or the University of Southern California be the sixth member of the big Pacific Coast conference that is to be formed here December 2 and 3?

It leaked out today that the new conference is to be a six-member organization and that Washington University, Oregon Aggies, California and Stanford are certain of membership. Idaho and Whitman have already been relegated into the background without consideration. That leaves only Washington State and the southern university for the sixth.

The opinion here is that Washington State will be sidestepped by the northerners and that it will be put on the discard list along with the other two members of the eastern half of the present conference. There is a bare possibility of it getting on, but three universities from the north and three from the south seems to be the plan.

The basis of the new conference is to be the freshmen rule. Gilmore Dobie, coach of the Washington football team, said while here, on his way south with the team to Berkeley, that the only way that a new conference could be arranged would be to do away with the freshmen in sports. The University of California will not hear to anything else.

The only university that would be hit hard by this rule in the north is Oregon. She is almost too small to compete successfully with the others without the use of first-year men. California already has the rule in force, while Washington has a sufficiently large attendance to enforce it, and did when making up the football squad to meet California. The University of Southern California had the rule enforced last year and probably could go back to it.

That Stanford is willing to give up Rugby seems certain. Santa Clara was a very unsuccessful opponent last Saturday and is not large enough to ever seriously challenge Stanford in a Rugby game. California's "comeback" Saturday against Washington was enough encouragement to make the Bears enthusiastic over the American game.

PREP FOOTBALL IN QUIET STATE.

LONG BEACH CAN MUDDLE UP SITUATION BY BEATING PASADENA.

There is little chance for a startling turn in the high school football situation. The L. A. and Poly game on November 24 will about decide the city title, since the Cliffdwellers have defeated Hollywood and the Tailers have been taken into camp by the Mechanics.

Pasadena is frozen to the league championship, having won every game she has played this season. Things will be slightly muddled if Long Beach wops Pasadena in their Turkey Day engagement, but such a proceeding does not seem possible nor plausible.

With both L. A. High and Manual the beach lads played to a scoreless tie, and they were beaten 6 to 0 by Santa Ana. So it seems that this engagement will be a repetition of the old tale of "too much Conn."

The rivalry of a decade of athletic bitterness hovers over the L. A.-Poly game and hundreds of old grads are eagerly waiting for it to come off. In all probability the hostilities will be settled at Washington Park. The Cliffdwellers have won one, lost one and tied one, while Poly has won one and lost one league game.

MANY ENTRIES FOR CROSS-COUNTRY.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY HAS TWENTY-ONE ON ITS TEAM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Entries for the conference cross-country run which is to take place at Madison, next Saturday, number 115, according to the list given out today by Vernon C. Ward, secretary of the Managing Committee. Northwestern University leads in numbers with 21. Each of the big nine universities has a team entered and Iowa State College and Kansas also named a squad. The run will precede the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game.

FRATERNITIES ARE BLAMED FOR FALL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OWOSSO (Mich.) Nov. 17. — The poor football showing made by the University of Michigan this year has much excited alumni living in Shiawassee county. Those who claim to be on the inside of things state that the fraternities have indirectly been the cause of the eleven's defeats. It is said that the fraternity men are so influential that they can keep places on the team and shut out deserving material that will work hard.

A Wallop.

TAKES SWING AT MAGNATES.

Imperial League Secretary is Peeved.

Thinks Coast Heads Trying to Hurt Him.

Winter Ball Makes Stars of Players.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 17.—The Pacific Coast League magnates are trying to disrupt the Imperial Valley Winter League, but not for the reasons they advance, according to Joseph F. Seymour, Jr., secretary of the league.

REASONS.

"They are putting out a lot of talk that the reason they would discourage winter ball is that it injures the summer playing ability of the men. That is mighty interesting. Lefty Williams was down here last year, and he worked like a fiend, but somehow or other he was hailed as the premier pitcher of the Coast League.

"Dave Bancroft played all winter with El Centro. It hurt him so much that he set the National League afire, and landed on several all-American stars as the best shortstop in the world. It is positively injurious to come here, where a man almost has to live out of doors, where he has to go to bed nights and works out twice a week.

WANT COIN.

"What Hen Berry and the rest of them are looking for is not physical condition of the players, but of the box office. They want baseball dead in winter, that it may have a great and profitable awakening in the spring. They are selfish. They don't want us to have ball and they would like to see the players broke so they will come to their terms.

"To disrupt the league they have seized upon the fact that Jimmy Johnston, who is reported to have signed with the Feds, and Kenworthy, a Kawfed, have been signed to play in the valley. The magnates warned the Coast players that they would be heavily fined if they played against them. On top of that they intimate they do not like winter ball.

PLEASANT.

"Berry comes out and says players cannot be restrained, but says he intends to cut the salaries of those of his players who put the winter months to profit, when they report. He says it isn't a threat. He recommends it to the other magnates. That is cheerful news to the players here. He wants to break us up, but he won't, because the players themselves won't stand for any deal like that, and if he wants to gauge their temper let him come down."

VENICE WALLOPS REDONDO, 77-0.

BURTON MAKES A TOUCHDOWN FROM FIRST KICKOFF; END RUNS USED.

Redondo High School took a terrible beating at the hands of Venice High School this afternoon. The final score was 77 to 0. Young Burton, the Venice half-back, made a touchdown from the first kickoff. Capt. McCoy, the other half, kicked the goal. From then on it was just one touchdown after another. Venice gained almost entirely on end runs. Burton taking the ball one time and McCoy the other. Both circled the ends for large and wholesome gains.

CHICK AUTREY NOT ELIGIBLE.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 17.—Chick Autrey, presumably a free agent when he signed with San Francisco to finish the 1915 season and then resigned for 1916, is on the reserve list of the Minneapolis club in the American Association.

Baseball law prohibits a man from one championship team, still under reserve, being signed by a club in another league to assist in capturing the honors. Wolverton knows this rule, particularly because of the protest Oakland put through several years ago when Gus Hetling joined the Beavers and several games were declared forfeited.

Autrey, however, when he came to San Francisco, declared he had a non-reserve clause in his Minneapolis contract and was therefore a free agent. Now it happens that Minneapolis claims his services and has put him on the reserve list, according to Secretary J. H. Farrell's official bulletin.

Salt Lake might have protested each and every game in which Autrey played, but whether that could be done now since the pennant has officially been awarded to San Francisco is a question. The Seals will now have to do some tall scurrying to assure themselves a first-sacker for the ensuing year.

Mahan, Harvard's Famous Football Hero, Ineligible to Play Against Y

Sickening Thud.

BAR CAPTAIN FROM VARSITY.

Famous Back Field Busted by Action.

Harvard Coaches Worried Over Outlook.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 17.—Capt. Eddie Mahan and Tom Enright, the key to Harvard's back field strength, will not play in the Yale-Harvard game this year, according to information received by persons high in Yale athletics. They will be declared ineligible because of low scholarship and not because of professionalism, according to the information received by the Yale authorities.

The impending declaration of ineligility is said to be the reason for the hurry-up call for Harvard graduates to return to Cambridge and help bolster up the Crimson back field with the material that is available to fill the places of Mahan and Enright.

The two Harvard players have been declared ineligible by the Harvard faculty, it is said, who have acted independently of the Yale athletic authorities. No protest against the men has been filed by Yale and there will be no such protest filed, according to the chairman of Yale's athletic board, Prof. Robert N. Corwin, who was interviewed on the subject several days ago when he was asked to confirm a report that Yale had protested Capt. Mahan because he played "summer baseball." No official notification of the action of the Harvard faculty has been sent to Yale and, therefore, Yale will take no action in the matter whatever, leaving Harvard to judge of the eligibility of Harvard athletes, as has been the custom between the two universities for some years. This was the procedure followed in the case of Harry Legore and the four other Yale athletes whom Yale declared ineligible several weeks ago.

It is said that the high standards of eligibility set by Yale, when they declared five of the best athletes in the university ineligible for further intercollegiate competition, have been responsible, in a measure for the action of the Harvard faculty.

Great pressure has been brought to bear upon the Harvard faculty by Harvard graduates, according to the report which reached New Haven tonight to induce the former to reconsider their decision to prevent Mahan and Enright from competing. The faculty have stood firm, thus far, in the matter and intend to stand their ground.

Mahan and Enright played in the Harvard-Princeton game this year because the regular date for declaring men ineligible on account of studies at Harvard did not occ ne until after that date and both men were eligible to play in that contest.

The rival leaders for Saturday.

Capt. Sam McClung of Occidental (crouched) and Capt. Jesson of Pomona. Both men play half-back positions and are the scoring dingers of their respective teams.

HARD BLOW TO HARVARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 17.—A few hours after Coach Haughton of the Harvard football team had learned that Enright would not be available for the game woth Yale because of scholastic difficulties, he told a mass meeting of students tonight that next Saturday's game was an even money proposition.

Capt. Mahan told the undergraduates that credit for Harvard's football success during the past eight years was due to Coach Haughton alone.

"Yale gets most of the preparatory school stars, but Haughton has developed nearly all of Harvard's," said Mahan.

Enright's loss today was an unexpected one, and came after his name had been prominently mentioned as the third member of the Harvard back field. R. C. Curtis, who was slightly injured in the Brown game, returned to the squad, but Rollins was given further opportunity to recover from the strains of that contest.

Practice for the team today was light. Signal drill, running through formations and a blackboard talk occupied the time.

AD WOLGAST IS WINNER OF SCRAP.

LA CROSSE (Wis.) Nov. 17.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, had little trouble in defeating Jimmy Murphy, Chicago, in a ten-round boxing contest here tonight. Wolgast took seven rounds while three were even.

TROJANS OFF FOR UTAH.

U.S.C. is going to Salt Lake City to win the football game with Utah if possible. The varsity leaves at 7 o'clock this morning and in addition to Coach Glaze and Manager Teschke every one of the regulars will be there. There isn't a member in the squad who is not a first-team man by rights.

If anybody thinks U.S.C. is holding back its stars for California, he has another guess coming. The Trojans figure that it is better to take a chance at winning both than of throwing one away in the beginning and perhaps losing the other. So U.S.C. will do what she can against Utah and then come back to do all she can to California.

The men that leave this morning for Salt Lake are Capt Len Livernash, Fox, Curry, Marshall, Marks, Marxen, Jones, Mallette, Murray Nix, Moseley, Holloway, Oetley, Schwam, Hanss, Craig, Werner and Ramseyr.

Pretty Tough.

HUN TACKLE IS LAID OUT.

DAHLEM UNABLE TO PLAY IN OXY BATTLE.

Dislocates Elbow in Scrimmage. Young Gives Weak Knee a Wrench—Green May be in Condition to Play Full—Injuries Handicap Stanton.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, Nov. 17.—Pomona's chances of winning next Saturday's football game with Occidental received what may prove a death blow in the injury of Dahlem, the Sage Hen right tackle. Dahlem sustained a dislocation of his left elbow, and will be unable to get into the game Saturday.

Dahlem will be particularly missed by the Huns because of his place-kicking ability. He is recognized as one of the best men in this department of the game in Southern California collegiate ranks and Pomona was counting on his educated toe for several points in the contest with the Tigers. Besides being a valuable place kicker, however, Dahlem has proved to be one of the strongest line men that the Huns possess, and his side of the line has proved almost impregnable this year.

Dahlem's injury came during a practice scrimmage between the varsity and the freshmen. Burton, the freshmen quarter-back, called a split buck through tackle, and Dahlem went out in stopping this play. He had to be assisted off the field.

Merritt, McCulloch and Keyes seem to have the best claims on the tackle position, but the coach may solve the problem by shifting Shellenberger from guard to tackle and replacing him at guard with Sturges. Full-back Young was also injured in scrimmage tonight. He has been bothered with a weak knee all this season, and this was thrown out of place tonight. His place will be taken by Green if the latter can recover before the game from the injury to his shoulders, which he sustained in practice for the Whittier game.

The Huns are suffering from an unusual number of injuries this year. Elliott, Davies, Hastings and Dahlem, all varsity men, have been laid out completely.

With all of these men on the injured list, the Huns will go into the coming battle in a weakened condition.

PITCHER INJURED WHILE HUNTING.

SHOTGUN ACCIDENT PROBABLY WILL PROVE FATAL TO PLAYER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 17.—It became known here today that James Shaw, a pitcher of the Washington club of the American League, was probably fatally injured yesterday while hunting in Westmoreland county. Shaw's gun was accidentally discharged as he climbed over a fence. The charge entered his neck.

Chicago will open the largest municipal freight and recreation pier in the world fronting on Lake Michigan at the foot of Grand avenue, on December 15, next.

Hard Work.

PIPAL DRIVES TIGER ELEVEN.

HARD WORKOUT AGAINST THE FRESHMEN.

With the Pea-greens Using Pomona Plays and Formations, Varsity Shows Really Good Form. Wells Seems to Have Landed a Job at Right End on the Team.

Coach Pipal was driving the Occidental eleven around like a herd of cattle yesterday afternoon in a wild endeavor to get them in shape for the big game with Pomona Saturday.

The sudden terrific slump of the Tigers last week, when they barely nosed out a 7-to-0 victory over Throop, has made the Tigers look like shaky prospects in the big game.

A glance at the dope shows that Pipal's men have not played a single good game against a hard team. Sherman and Whittier, the two strong teams met by the Tigers, were both able to make the Tiger offensive look like nothing.

Yesterday afternoon, with the Occidental freshmen using the Pomona formations running the whole list from the moss-covered Statue of Liberty play to the variations of the Rugby pass uncovered in the Whittier game, the Tiger varsity was given a thorough workout.

The team lined up exactly as usual, Smith apparently will start the game at left half, McClung at right, Brandstetner at full and Lentz at quarter. Wieman will be at center, Hollinger and Holmes guards, Shipke and Deems tackles.

The ends, which have been giving Pipal a lot of worry all year, will probably be taken care of by several young men. Shorty Wells seems to be more or less of a certainty at right end, while Ohl and Daniels continue to provide competition for each other on the left wing.

Pipal seems to have two problems, first, to get the Tiger offense working properly, and second, to get the team on edge for the big game.

Apparently he will have no difficulty with the former if the team works as it did last night. The varsity was gaining on all sorts of plays. But then the varsity has been doing that all year except in the big games.

The cripples are all rounding into shape nicely. Lens seems to be quite strong again and was running the team with lots of pepper and good judgment.

Occidental will have the advantage for once of going into the Pomona game with the team in first-class shape and a whole mess of high-class substitutes ready to step in at any time. The team would not be demoralized by the loss of a back-field star this year as Batz, Odell, Betts and several other talented young men are quite capable of filling the breach.

Y.M.C.A. FIVES PLAY BASKETBALL.

In the Y.M.C.A. basketball tournament's play last night, team No. 3 beat No. 4, 23 to 18; No. 1 beat No. 5, 23 to 19. No. 6 forfeited to No. 2 because several members of the team were out of town and it was impossible for the team to play.

You Don't Say!

LONG BEACH WINS AT LAST.

HARVARD MILITARY BOYS ARE OBLIGING VICTIMS.

Game is Played Until Long After Moon Comes Up—Soldiers Hide Ball and Tackle Crosses Line While Everybody Tackles a Half-back.

In a nocturnal combat that was interrupted only because a rule of the Harvard Military School compels its students to have their supper digested and all lights out by 9 o'clock, the Long Beach High School football team overwhelmed the Harvard eleven on the soldiers' gridiron yesterday afternoon by the score of 42 to 7.

Revelling in the glory of a full-grown moon, the Long Beach team, heretofore this season being confined to nothing-to-nothing contests, unloosed several stored-up touchdowns on the near-generals, and was only induced to let up when a regiment of reserves emerged from the guardhouse to rescue their defeated comrades.

The soldiers fought bravely at all stages of the twilight tussle, but were hopelessly outclassed by the faster and more experienced visitors. The military youths proved that they were quite some astronomers themselves, when in the last minute of play, they pulled a bit of strategy which netted them their single touchdown.

Darkness had long since enveloped the gridiron and some of the Harvard students who were not football players could be heard letting down their wall beds, and turning in for the night when the soldiers recovered a fumbled punt on Long Beach's 15-yard line. It was at this period of the moonlight mix-up that Quarter-back Wilson of Harvard brought into use what is known as the owl trick play.

The ball was passed and Capt. Strong, right half, reached out as if to receive the oval on a cross-buck and dove through the line. Garner, left tackle, who all this time had been assuming a crouching position with the leather, then rose up and scurried through a clear field for the touchdown. Harvard then kicked goal, or at least the point was allowed, perhaps, largely because it was so dark nobody could prove that it wasn't kicked.

Beverly Anderson, Long Beach captain and left half-back, figured the most prominently in Long Beach's scoring. In fact with the exception of one touchdown he made all the Long Beach points. In addition to five touchdowns Anderson converted four goals following touchdowns and finally, after trying all year in every game that Long Beach has played, negotiated a goal from placement. Dolley, Long Beach right half-back, made the touchdown that Anderson didn't.

Wilson, Burge and Capt. Strong starred for Harvard. De Coudres, Long Beach star tackle, was kept out of the game, and Anderson only played a little over half the contest.

NO CRIPPLES AT SYRACUSE

Four Members of Squad may be All-Americans.

Second Only to Cornell on the Offense.

[BY DIRET WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Nov. 17.—With the heaviest and best football team in the history of Syracuse University Coach O'Neill and his squad of orange clad athletes are primed for the western tour which starts next Saturday night and ends at Los Angeles when Syracuse clashes with the Occidental College eleven in the final game of a three contest tour.

FOUR OF 'EM.

The orange eleven as it takes the field against Occidental will have four All-American possibilities in the line-up in Schlachter and White, guards; Meehan, quarter-back, and Wilkinson, half-back. White, who weighs 278 pounds and stands 6 feet, 6 inches in height, is the biggest football plunger in the country.

Up to date Syracuse has scored 242 points and is second only to Cornell among eastern colleges in offensive ability. But ten points have been recorded against the orange.

Graduate Manager of Athletics Smith, announced tonight that the players to make the trip would be selected immediately after the Dartmouth game next Saturday by Coach O'Neill.

EXCITEMENT.

Syracuse and New York State is agog with interest over the long jaunt and it is expected that at least 20,000 supporters of the team will be on hand to bid them bon-voyage Saturday night.

The practice today and tomorrow will be the last in Syracuse and Coach O'Neill is giving the players just enough work to keep them from going stale.

There is not a cripple in the squad and it is said that the full strength of the team will be available for the Montana, Oregon and Occidental games.

ARIZONA RACES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 17.—The third day's races at the Arizona State Fair passed without sensation. Of the three events, two were for Arizona three-year-olds. Otis, Jr., who took the trot, made both heats in record time. The 2:15 open pace went to Durfee driving Contention II. All three heats in this race were slow.

BASKETBALL AT CLUB TONIGHT.

ORANGE QUINTETS TO TRY LUCK AGAINST COACH KLAWANS'S TEAMS.

The heavy and lightweight basketball teams of the L.A.A.C. will meet the Orange A.C. teams at the L.A.A.C. gym tonight. The public will be admitted to the games, which should be fast. The club teams are coached by Klawans, who turned out so many American champions for the Illinois A.C.

"Red" Wilson, regarded as one of the greatest basketball players ever turned out in Southern California, and Allen, last year's forward on the L.A.A.C. lightweight team, will start the game at forward for the club. Heavyweights Monaghan, last year's captain of Hollywood H.S. team, and Motts Blair, former U.S.C. star, will also appear at the forward positions. Perrin, last year's Hollywood H.S. center, will play thart position for the club team. Williams, last year of Cornell University and star football player, will start at one guard position, while either Lagwell, Belcher or McOwen will be the fifth man on the team.

Orange finished second last year in the 120-pound division, being beaten by L.A. High by a few points in the decisive game. They have practically the same team this year.

The Orange heavyweight team is as formidable as in former years. Samis, star of last year's team, still plays a forward position, while Pine, regarded as the best center in the south last year, occupies the other forward berth. Orange has made an important acquisition in Smith, a center, who is 6 feet 6 inches tall and has jumping ability in addition to his height.

Two fast battles are expected, with the 120-pound game an even break and Orange the favorite in the heavyweight contest.

L.A.A.C. BALL TOSSERS TO WORK.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club Baseball Squad will go through its initial workout Sunday morning at Exposition Park, the time being set for 9:30 a.m.

Owen Bird, chairman of the baseball committee, expects to have twenty-two men out. Two teams will be selected from this number and put through their paces. Manager Glenn Hurst will work with the hurling staff, while Bird and Herb Bennett, the former Yale varsity star, will devote their time to the infield and outfield.

NATIONALS WIN.

SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—All Nationals, 6; All Americans, 4.

SCHAEFFER NOT TO BE ASKED TO RECONSIDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, Nov. 17.—Graduate Manager Stroud returned to the campus this morning from Washington and proceeded to set at rest the numerous rumors which have circulated since the Washington-California game at Seattle, and to discuss the Whittier offer of a game.

California will decline the Whittier game. It will be obviously impossible for the Bear team to play U.S.C. on Thursday, Thanksgiving, and then play Whittier on the following Saturday. Two hard games in such close succession might prove disastrous. Because of the proximity of the examination season, there is no possibility of scheduling a later game. If the offer had come earlier in the season, and U.S.C. had consented, it is likely that a Whittier-California game might have come off.

Stroud denies that he has made any overtures to Coach Dietz of Washington State College. He says that he knows of Dietz only through a letter of recommendation which came into his office. No offer has been made to Stewart of the Oregon "Aggies," whose team recently defeated the Michigan "Aggies" by a 20-0 score. Stroud says: "I have talked to no coach about the position here. We have plenty of time—a whole year—and we will take our time to pick the right man. Whoever he may be, he will be the biggest man we can get."

Talk of the reinstatement of Schaeffer is unreliable. Schaeffer will not accept the position should it be offered to him. Moreover, there is no possibility that it will be offered to him.

HUNS AND TIGERS MEET FOR SEVENTEENTH TIME

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, Nov. 17.—Pomona and Occidental meet for the seventeenth time on the gridiron Saturday, when the Tigers invade Claremont for their annual battle with the Huns. These two rivals met for the first time in 1896, and after a lapse of four years between that and the next game the two colleges have met every year since.

Out of these seventeen contests of previous years the Huns have won by far the largest majority, having taken the Tigers into camp ten times, while in but six games have the Sage Hens come out second best.

The first contest between Occidental and Pomona some twenty years ago resulted in a victory for the Tigers. Then Pomona began a winning streak which lasted from 1900 to 1905, and managed to defeat their rivals six successive times. Since 1906 the two teams have had almost an even break, the Tigers having won five games to the Huns' four. Last year Pomona won by a score of 3 to 0.

Following is the complete record of the games which have been played between Occidental and Pomona:

1900—Pomona 17, Occidental 0.
1901—Pomona 6, Occidental 0 (forfeited.)
1902—Pomona 15, Occidental 6.
1903—Pomona 52, Occidental 0.
1904—Pomona 43, Occidental 5.
1905—Pomona 9, Occidental 5.
1906—Occidental, 21; Pomona, 8.
1907—Occidental 6, Pomona 5.
1908—Occidental 17, Pomona 11.
1909—Pomona 14, Occidental 6.
1910—Pomona 28, Occidental 6.
1911—Pomona 45, Occidental 6.
1912—Occidental 53, Pomona 14.
1913—Occidental 13, Pomona, 0.
1914—Pomona 3, Occidental 0.

This is the fifth season that Coach Stanton and Coach Pipal have been rivals. Each has won two games, and the coming game will settle the question of supremacy between the two, inasmuch as this is Coach Stanton's last year with the Huns. Coach Stanton and Coach Pipal have no particular love for each other, and each is determined to win this final, deciding game.

Ever since U.S.C. dropped American football for Rugby in 1911 the Pomona-Occidental game has been the biggest game in the south every year, and the team which the championship. This year will be the team which will have possession of the coming year. If the will be the undisputed Huns win they will another year because which would then Pomona, Occidental a conference title tie, the trophy the year before.

The Pomona rooting for a repeat at Saturday's game have been erected on of the field with a 1500, and more than has been provided parking. The Pomona accommodate more and it is expected that will witness the game.

On account of the Southern California having this year with fielders, no advance be put on the Plainclothes men for spurious tickets is expected that there trouble from this source.

SPURIOUS TICKETS CAUSE BIG LOSS

SEATTLE BOXERS ARRIVE FOR COAST TITLE BOUTS.

Pacific Coast Championship Tournament for Amateurs Begins at L.A.A.C. Tomorrow Night—Best Fistic Artists in Seattle, Portland and San Francisco to be Seen in Action.

DECLARED by experts to be the best amateur boxing tournament ever held in this city, the Pacific Coast boxing championships will be staged at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tomorrow and Saturday evenings. Fifty of the best boxers from Seattle to Los Angeles are entered in the tournament.

Keen rivalry is seen in every division of the tournament. Lads who boxed in the last tournament at the L.A.A.C. have grudges of a year's standing to settle this coming meet.

AFTER RICHARDS.

Richards obtained a decision over Barry three times, but the latter is not ready to acknowledge Richards the better boxer and he is after him once more.

"Chet" McIntyre and his Seattle boxers arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and immediately started working out.

Val Sontag, who was entered in the 158-pound class, seeing that there were only two entrants in the 175-pound division, has entered the light-heavyweight class.

Cliff Jordan, who holds the 158-pound title and who is four pounds too heavy for that class, has entered both the 175-pound and heavyweight sections. Jordan is a clever boxer and he figures that as long as he is giving away from ten to twelve pounds in the 175-pound division he might as well meet the real big boys.

GEYER SAYS.

E. C. Geyer, on hearing that Sontag had entered the 175-pound class, remarked that he might have all he could do to take care of the middleweight boxers.

Geyer and Sontag look to be the class of the 158-pound boys. Geyer has appeared in a number of tournaments at the local club and in every bout he has put up a high-class exhibition.

One boxer, who has been showing marked improvement in his work during the present training period is William Huber, Jr. Huber is going ahead by leaps and bounds. He is a husky lad whose main handicap was his slowness in getting around the ring. He is overcoming that and a large number of the members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club are counting on him to win the welterweight title of the Coast in the tournament.

Some of the boxers are finding it a little difficult to make the weight. That is true especially in the light divisions where the youngsters are growing.

TOO BIG.

Eddie Mattis, the Anaheim High School lad, has written to George Towle of the club, stating that he cannot make the weight for the 115-pound class and wants to go into the featherweight division.

All the Portland and Seattle boys are working out at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Towle expects the Olympic club boxers to reach Los Angeles some time this morning.

Because of the large number of bouts scheduled for Friday night, Towle is planning to have the contests start promptly at 8 o'clock. It is planned to have all the preliminary bouts staged tomorrow evening so the eight final contests will be fought Saturday night.

Following is the complete entry list:

WOMAN WRITER DIES.

News Comes of Sudden Passing of Sister of Deceased Educator Once Well-known in West.

Word was received in this city yesterday of the sudden death in Scranton, Pa., Tuesday, of Miss Susan B. Dickinson, sister of the late Prof. John Dickinson and of Miss Anna Dickinson of Philadelphia. The former was a well-known educator, who came to the Pacific Coast many years ago and taught in universities. His widow resides at No. 630 West Thirty-fifth street. Miss Anna Dickinson was noted as an orator and public-spirited woman during the Civil War.

Miss Susan Dickinson was born in Philadelphia eighty-two years ago. During her early womanhood she was an educator in several eastern universities. For several years she was editorial writer for the Scranton Times.

During her lifetime she wrote several books, and many articles for the newspapers. She visited California several years ago.

FOR TRAVELERS' COMFORT.

Proving that the Santa Fe expects a high-class traffic to the Southland during the winter months, it was announced yesterday at the office of Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne that the de luxe limited trains will be put in weekly operation between Chicago and this city, beginning January 11. The trains will leave the Chicago and Los Angeles terminals at 6 p.m., every Tuesday, and will be operated through the months of January, February, March and April.

GETS ANOTHER CHANCE.

The District Court of Appeal yesterday reversed the judgment of Superior Judge J. A. Allen of Tulare county in refusing a new trial to Jose Andrade, convicted of the murder of Ina P. Cooke and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The court finds that Judge Allen usurped the functions of the jury in the admission of evidence.

DUCKS MAY GO TO SACRAMENTO.

PORTLAND (Or.), Nov. 17.—Walter McCredie will manage the team now of Portland in the Pacific Coast League, no matter whether it may be transferred, according to present indications. This was disclosed upon the arrival here today of Manager Walter and his uncle, Judge W. W. McCredie.

"We have been invited to stay in the Coast League, regardless of where the Portland team goes," said Walter. "I think I shall accept the invitation. Personally I believe the team will go to Sacramento. I shall not go into the Northwestern League."

Judge McCredie would not say whether he would retain ownership of the team in case of its transfer, but confirms Walter's statement that he had been invited to do so.

CANFIELD INSURANCE.

Agent Testifies He Arranged for an Indemnity Policy at Request of the Hotel Woman.

J. L. Hole, the insurance agent who sold Mrs. Harriet A. Canfield the indemnity policy on the lives of tenants in the Canfield Hotel just two days before discovery of the alleged plan to burn the house, was the only witness called in the preliminary hearing of the case before Justice Hanby yesterday morning. He testified that he had visited her to sell her some personal life insurance, but she had not been interested in this, asking, however, for the indemnity policy. This he had arranged for her through the Aronson-Gale Company, insurance brokers, in the Herman W. Hellman Building.

Attorney Le Compte Davis moved for a continuance of the hearing after this testimony on the ground that he had only been called into the case on the previous evening and knew little about the details of the accusations. The taking of the Hole testimony was permitted for the reason that the insurance man is leaving the city to be gone about a month. Attorney Davis has been called into the case through the desire of friends of the late Mr. Canfield to see that the widow gets justice.

While this preliminary was going on under the direction of Deputy District Attorney Keetch, the arson specialist, Attorney Bernard Potter was filing a demand in the Superior Court for the forfeiture of Mrs. Canfield's lease on the hotel. He appeared for the F. O. Jean Investment Company, and in his suit also asked for $700 due for back rent and $500 for damages to the house through the boring of holes in the floors, ceilings and walls; the tearing out of partitions and other alterations.

CRASH; DRIVER JAILED.

Motorcyclist has Fractured Leg Set While Autoist is Arrested for Reckless Driving.

W. H. Yaro, No. 6266 Hollywood boulevard, was arrested for reckless driving and F. L. Fitzpatrick, No. 5916 Estrella avenue, received a compound fracture of his left leg yesterday as the result of a collision between the former's motor car and the latter's motorcycle at Sixth and Figueroa streets.

The automobile was driving east on Sixth street, and the police report Yaro was driving heedlessly. Mr. Fitzpatrick's machine was wrecked and he was taken to the Receiving Hospital to have his leg set. Yaro was taken to the police station and will be arraigned today.

MUST SUPPORT CHILDREN.

Edward C. Shapiro will have to pay his wife $25 a month for the support of two children, despite the fact that Mrs. Shapiro has been earning a good salary as a cabaret star. He was arrested because of failure to keep his promise to pay for necessities for his family and with the acquiescence of his wife was permitted to go free on his own recognizance after the hearing yesterday.

WORKED TOO LONG.

The government alleges that on April 9, 1915, Charles Cobb, a telegraph operator, worked to exceed nine hours in the employ of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, and yesterday brought an action in the local Federal court to recover $500 from the company, for alleged violation of the hours-of-labor law. Cobb was employed at Lamanda Park station.

TAKE ONLY RUGS.

Rug thieves stole $3000 worth of goods from the home of Mrs. Ida McCullough, No. 908 West Twenty-second street, last month. The house had been locked and under the care of a private watchman for several months. Mrs. J. C. Clarkson, sister of Mrs. McCullough, who is now touring the Orient, visited the house yesterday and made the discovery. The thieves left a quantity of cut glass and silver plate and other valuables in the house.

PENNSY RUNS FAR BEHIND IN SPORTS.

ALUMNI REGISTER REPORTS A HUGE DEFICIT FOR THE YEAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The Alumni Register, a monthly publication of the University of Pennsylvania, states that the athletic association of that school is nearly $30,000 behind.

Under the heading of an editorial "Shall We Give Up?" the magazine points out the fact that although there are 1295 students in the university, less than 100 report regularly for football.

Baseball Gossip.

BASSLER IS WILLING TO JUMP TO THE FEDERALS.

Wants Two Thousand Dollars so Bad it Hurts Him and is Willing to go Outlaw for that Sum—Hitting Power to be Keynote of Tiger Team—Major Leaguers After World-series Money.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

JOHNNY BASSLER, who is slated for one of the first-string catching jobs with the Angels next year, is in a receptive mood regarding the Federals.

There was a report awhile back that Bassler had definitely decided to flop, the terms offered him by the Los Angeles club being unsatisfactory.

All of which seems to be wrong. Had a talk with Bassler in San Diego the other day, and he gave a frank outline of his attitude.

He wants $2000, and he wants it so bad that it hurts him. Whether he wants to buy a farm or a flivver or simply get married is not known. Anyway, whatever it is, it is something that will cost $2000, about what he would receive for one season's work with the Angels. He has his heart set on $2000. Possibly, he might accept more if urged, but $2000 is the minimum.

And he wants the roll right in the middle of his horny hand, where he can take a strangle-hold on it and choke it until it is black in the face. He says that he will go to the Feds if they will spread $2000 in advance money across his palm.

"By going to the Federals I don't feel that I would be cheating anybody," said the catcher. "I came here a free agent, and even paid my own way out. I didn't cost the Los Angeles club a cent. The reason that I want the money in advance is that I would then be sure of it. Should I remain here and something happen to put me out of baseball, my salary would stop. I am not looking for any fancy contract either here or with the Feds, but I certainly do need the E. Pluribus Unum. I hope to have a good many more years in baseball. However, if I can get hold of those two thousands silver washers I really won't need to worry much about the future. My health is all right again, and I feel that I am in for a good season. It is untrue that there has been any disagreement between myself and the Los Angeles club over salary for next season. In fact, no contract has yet been submitted to me. Financial considerations being equal, I would prefer to remain with the Angels. I really could afford to play here for some less, as this is my home. My attitude is not one of disloyalty to the Angels. It is simply a case of needing the money."

Bassler was badly run down at the heel physically when he signed with the Angels. Toward the end of the season he regained his strength and showed flashes of the form which once caused him to be rated as one of the most promising young catchers in the American League.

Powers and Darmody are providing against just such a contingency by negotiating for the purchase of Catcher Brennan from the Milwaukee club. However, should Bassler go over to the Independents, it may be necessary for the Angels to buy still another catcher, unless they feel that they can struggle along with only two. Clarence Brooks, one of the mainstays of the staff for several seasons, has been given the privilege of making a deal for himself with some other club. Brooks, it is said, is not entirely satisfied with his present berth.

Rube Ellis yesterday declined to affirm the report that he had made either a written or verbal acceptance of a Federal League offer. As Ellis was making an industrious effort to get in touch with him Tuesday night, the reports which preceded Rube up from the valley seem to have caused considerable agitation, if nothing else. Despite denials, there may be something doing.

More Hitting.

Hitting power is that which they seek, and the man selected must be able to pulverise the little old pill. That was making inquiries yesterday as to how Risberg behaved himself around the second sack last season. The information gathered was so favorable to the Swede that Patterson might be tempted to place him there if he had the punch. Risberg hit .274 last season, which is far from bad for an infielder or utility man, and being young, he should have even a more lumpy percentage in 1916. However, he is so extremely valuable in a utility capacity, Maier and Patterson probably will look elsewhere for a second sacker, and endeavor to land an experienced hand with an established hitting reputation of .300 or better.

The Tigers had a fine defensive machine last season. More than offset-

AT THE STAGE DOOR

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Constance Collier, the noted English actress, who is appearing in pictures for the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company, is to be starred in a photoplay version of Maurice Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna." The picture possibilities of the play are tremendous, and the role should be an ideal one for Miss Collier, with her great talent as an emotional actress.

Manager Charles Eyton announces that work on the film play probably will be started next week.

Warbles, Too.

Clyde North, a clever young actor appearing in "On Trial," which goes on at the Mason next week, is also a musician and a song writer of some note. A leading New York music publisher will within the month issue four songs composed by Mr. North. These are entitled "Empty Arms," "Mignonette," "The Requiem" and another over a name for which Mr. North is still "wrinkling."

Hopper Gets Horse.

De Wolf Hopper has come into possession, through deed of gift from David Griffith, of the ancient horse which he used in "Don Quixote." Mr. Hopper is going to pension the horse for life.

"Can't bear to think of the poor forlorn creature ever becoming a truck horse," said Hopper at a dinner party at Thomas Ince's the other evening. "It will cost me $1.30 a week to pension him, but it's worth it."

Gillingwater vs. Crossman.

Henrietta Crossman will not fill in for Blanche Walsh on the Orpheum circuit, after all, is the report, the reason being that Miss Crossman asked too high a salary. Claude Gillingwater, who will be remembered for his delightful work at the Orpheum last season in "Wives of the Rich," takes the vacant spot. Mr. Gillingwater has a new sketch entitled "The Decision of Gov. Locke," which made a very big hit in New York a short time ago.

Where Spotlight Rests.

Frances Ring was in Wilton Lackaye's company last season when the old Wallack's New York theater was torn down.

"We were all talking about getting souvenirs from the old place," said Miss Ring, "and Wilton Lackaye spoke up, announcing that the only thing he desired was the center of the stage."

Several Minds.

Frank Darien lifts up a plaintive voice to declare that he thinks that, considering the cast at the Burbank next week, the new play should be called "The Master Minds."

Eddie Kicks Spheroid.

Edmund Lowe will play football in the position of wing three-quarters on the Santa Clara University alumnae team, in that association's contest with the San Francisco Barbarians.

"Films, Too."

Warner L. Baxter of the Burbank company has been doing pictures during the past week for the Fine Arts Film Company.

Blaze Extinguished.

Nat Goodwin's sketch, by Paul Armstrong, entitled "In a Blaze of Glory," in which he was to tour the Orpheum time, was taken off after but one performance at the Palace Theater in New York, the "blaze" having been dampened by a complete lack of applause. Mr. Goodwin is now doing a monologue of stories.

Pat's New One.

Back-Fire.

Pat Rooney and Walter Kelly dress together at the Orpheum, and they fight as only two Irishmen can. After Pat has stolen all Walter's best pink powder and Walter has made away with Pat's best lip rouge, hostilities reach a high tide.

"You oughta be dressing downstairs with the chimpansees anyhow," exclaimed Kelly, and Pat retaliated with—

"Well, never did I expect to have to dress in the same room with Lockhart's elephants."

Webster Stuff.

Manager Will Wyatt didn't have to wait until the "On Trial" production arrived next week to face twelve jurymen; he had that pleasure yesterday.

On Monday afternoon the two second men for the "On Trial" company were stopped from tacking cards, against which an ordinance had been passed, but it remained with Mr. Wyatt to prove whether or not this ordinance could be enforced. Mr. Wyatt proved to the fury yesterday that he was some shouter, anyhow, and he did an Earl Rogers that thrilled every spectator.

Will View His Double.

Thomas Meighan, at epresent appearing in pictures for the Lasky company, was a member of the original "On Trial" company which played in Chicago. He appeared in one of the principal roles during the whole season.

Lily Is Withered.

Lily Langtry, scheduled for the Mason, probably won't come after all, as her show closed after three weeks in the East on account of poor business.

The company was an English one, and Mrs. Langtry after it disbanded promised the members that she would try to get a New York opening for the play later in the season.

In the meantime Mrs. Langtry is to do a brief season in vaudeville.

The Other Lily Isn't.

Marion's Cinderellas.

There's been a guessing contest on all week at the Orpheum among the ladies of the audience as to what size shoes Marion Bent Patrick Rooney wears. I'll end the suspense. They are only thirteens.

"Unlucky number, all right," says Mrs. Pat, "as I have to have my shoes built especially for me. Besides which Pat says they don't pay any attention to his jokes they're so busy watching my feet."

Sport Note.

Paul Gilmore, who is being starred with Jim Corbett in a Frank Raver film, "The Other Girl," writes from New York that he now feels he has run the gamut of stunts, as he had to put on the gloves with Corbett the other day.

"I was supposed to knock Jim out," says Gilmore, "but do you think he'd go down? Not he. There was a big crowd watching us, and I pummelled away at him until I was weary (first time I'd ever had the gloves on, you see,) and finally I got mad and giving him an extra hard punch, hissed: 'Why don't you go down?' 'What, before all these people?' Corbett hissed back. 'Never! Send that crowd away if you ever expect me to do a prop. fall for an amateur like you.'"

Pals' Jag o' Joy.

The Pals, the newly-formed club of local stage and screen players, will hold a "Merry Makins" next Saturday night at the Cafe Bristol, with Nellie V. Nichols, now playing an engagement at the Orpheum, as the guest of honor. The joy begins at 11 o'clock (p.m. naturally) and guests are admitted only on invitation.

Some Carnival.

Preparations will be started today for the New Year's Eve movie carnival, which the Southern California Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association plans to stage at Ehrine Auditorium.

The exhibitors plan to make it a distinctive masque carnival to usher in little Miss 1916. Vaudeville acts will be offered between dances.

Monkey Business.

Mignonette Kokin, the clever young woman who does the bouquet dance at the Orpheum this week, is the wife of the man who owns the Galetti Baboons, and states that for all the years they've been married, the two acts have been booked on the same bills. And that's far more years than Miss Kokin looks.

"Nigger" is the name of one of the cleverest of the huge baboons, and he was reared "by hand" by Miss Kokin. When a mere baby he had been given up as lost to the great monkey enemy, tuberculosis. "Nigger" was given the freedom of the house in the Galetti family home in Chicago, and developed a fine taste for both ink and booze.

"The first time Nigger drank a bottle of ink, we were frightened to death, and we shot milk into him, and did everything we could think to him to combat the supposed poison. Afterward he drank two bottles of the fluid without any bad effects, apparently. Beer vies with ink as his favorite beverage, however, and poor old Nigger gets soused every time he gets a chance, and then has a headache and a grouch the next day."

"Nigger" likes to sew, and if you chance to be in the room with him when he is indulging in this domestic taste, if you are sitting near a chair or table, you will be liable to find yourself sewed to the tablecloth or the upholstering of the chair.

Nigger also likes to be shaved, and when the process is accomplished he looks like a consumptive Chinese.

War News.

Miss Kokin was in London for several seasons, and has many friends there. Letters received lately tell of the effect of the air raid of October 13, on the Lyceum theater. Dozens of dead were carried out of the house. They also tell of the raid on the Globe, where Laurette Taylor was appearing in "Peg o' My Heart;" all the audience was hastily herded into the basement for safety.

Good Backfire.

"The gallery, with its boo-ing, is too awful," said Miss Kokin, "and every American act quakes until after its first performance.

"And you can't let up for a moment in the swiftness of your work. The first time I did my bit of changing my shoes, the moment I put my foot upon the chair the gallery called out: 'Oh, oh, oh, my!' and kept it up until there was a perfect din. I went light on, though, and when I had finished my change I went down to the front of the stage, put up my hans for silence, got it, and remarked: 'Well, if you make that much fuss when you see a lady change her shoes, what would you do if she changed her petticoat!' The retort caught on, and I had them after that. But it was a ticklish moment."

Hizzoner Accepts.

Mayor Sebastian has sent a letter to the Motion Picture Directors' Association acknowledging the receipt of the association's invitation to the first annual ball and grand buffet, which is to be held at the Alexandria Hotel on Thanksgiving night for the benefit of one of the local hospitals. His Honor informs the association that he will be delighted to be present and that he will do anything in his power to help make the affair a success.

Eat and Talk.

The new Photoplayers' Club, recently organized, will hold a meeting tonight at the Hoffman Cafe. Supper will be served and many local motion-picture celebrities will make speeches.

Cupid's Darts.

Jack White, for eighteen years advertising agent and head of the billposters' brigade for Oliver Morosco, got married the other day. Yesterday he received the following telegram from Mr. Morosco: "You are hereby fired for a whole week—on full pay. Congratulations and good wishes."

Cupid Note

Kids, Too.

The popular trio of Fine Arts kiddies—George Stone, Carmen de Rue and Violet Radcliffe, will have good parts in "Martha's Vidication," a new play featuring Norma Talmadge, Tully Marshall and Seena Owen.

Busy Little Berg.

Culver City is a busy berg these days since Thomas H. Ince has started up his motion-picture studio.

Though the studio is not yet finished, one huge set has been completed for the new H. B. Warner picture, the story of which is by C Gardner Sullivan.

Willie Begins to "Film."

William Collier, noted comedian, has arrived at Inceville, and is working in a picture play, also by C. Gardner Sullivan.

Beloved movie star.

BROWN TEAM IS COMING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PASADENA (Cal.) Nov. 17.—Washington State College and Brown University football teams will meet here on New Year's Day. This was announced today by A. J. Bertonneau, manager for the Rose Tournament Association, who said that these football elevens definitely had been decided upon.

Telegrams were sent to the representatives of these schools today, Mr. Bertonneau said, in which tentative plans were completed.

Instead, Pappas broke the toe hold.

FIRST THROW.

Pappas then grabbed Ajax around the legs, and slammed him violently to the mat. Maneuvering around, he finally got a hammerlock and a scissors hold on Ajax. The scissors consists of getting an opponent's neck between your knees, and pressing the same together with all possible force. This tends to hamper the operation of the jugular vein. While doing this Pappas was using his right hand to slowly bend Ajax's arm back and break it in two in the middle or twist it out of the socket. Ajax seemed to know what Pappas's intentions were and began rapping the floor with his free hand. This was a signal of surrender and distress. The referee did not see it, and one of Tony's seconds galloped into the ring to sign the formal articles of surrender and save Tony's arm from utter destruction.

DISAGREES.

In the second and final round, Pappas slapped Ajax and otherwise endeavored to get his goat. Tony didn't like it and evinced a desire to jab his finger in Pappas's eye on numerous occasions.

The last fall came with some abruptness. After the athletes had been ramming each other with their heads for about fifteen minutes and not seeming to get anywhere, Pappas made a dive for Tony's splendid legs and upset him. However, Ajax got around on top by some means. Then Pappas flipped Ajax through the air by some subtle means, Tony's left foot flying so high that it hit the referee on the head. Then Pappas got a hammerlock on Ajax and slowly forced his muscular shoulders toward the mat. The referee pronounced Pappas the winner. Ajax did not concur in this decision, and after disengaging himself showed an inclination to take a punch at somebody. However, there were so many in the ring by that time that if he punched the chances are that he wouldn't have punched the right man, but a total stranger. Anyway, it was a good show.

LOOKS LIKE THE PRESIDENT.

But This Does Not Aid Man in His Suit Against City of Long Beach.

The fact that the principal witness in behalf of the plaintiff is a double of President Wilson did not save Jordan S. Neele from an adverse verdict in Judge Trippet's court yesterday.

An action had been brought by Mr. Neele against the city of Long Beach for damages alleged to be due on account of an alleged infringement of what is known as the Thacher patent for wharf piling, in the construction of the sea wall at Long Beach.

The patent, originally issued to Edward Thacher was sold to Elijah McDonald, and by him disposed of to Neele McDonald, who is a Scotch inventor, and resides at Glendale, whose strong resemblance to the President was the subject of remark in the courtroom, testified in regard to the various features of the patent, but the court held that no infringement had been suffered by the plaintiff in the action.

McDonald is very proud of the facial resemblance he has to the Chief Executive and said: "I have been told about it a hundred times over in Glendale and elsewhere, but although Scotch-born, I am an intense American citizen with no use for the hyphenated article. Any man who fires on the American flag—well, I would shoot him down as I would a dog."

FUGITIVE DIES ABROAD.

Was Accused of Swindling Merchants Here Out of Nine Hundred Dollars on Stolen Money Orders.

Information was received yesterday by Postoffice Inspector C. E. Webster that A. P. Burger, who, with James P. Burgett, was under indictment in the local Federal Court on the charge of passing stolen money orders, died at San Remo, Italy, October 22.

Burger and Burkett are alleged to have gone through the business section of Los Angeles on Saturday, February 11, 1912, and cashed nine $100 money orders they had stolen from the San Francisco postoffice. The next day was a holiday and the following Monday was celebrated as the anniversary of the birthday of Lincoln. The orders were unloaded late in the afternoon and no information was officially known until the paper was banked Tuesday morning. This gave them a chance to get away.

After leaving Los Angeles Burger and Burkett went to Baltimore, where they were arrested on a similar charge. They obtained their release and dropped out of the public view so far as the records show. Burkett is still at large.

COMMEND WATER PROTECTION.

Resolutions commending the Weeks Act for the protection of watersheds in national forests were passed yesterday by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. It was also resolved to request representatives in Congress to use their influence to secure further appropriations for the purchase of additional forest lands on watersheds.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH.

Resolutions of condolence on the death of Frank M. Coulter were adopted yesterday by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Coulter had been a member of the chamber for more than twenty-five years, and, as the resolutions say, was "ever ready to assist in its efforts to make this city greater and better."

Bassler Willing.

ing this was a pronounced pallor in the punching department. It is to remedy this that Maier and Patterson are now bending their energies and bank roll. In Daley and Mattick they have landed two outfielders who are regarded as bona fide .300 hitters in class AA company, while Walter Doane, the lone holdover, has hit up to that mark in a majority of years, although he dropped a few points last season.

This reduces the situation to a point where the infielders must produce the necessary added offensive strength. McGaffigan, the shortstop purchased from Lincoln, adds several points to this with a Western League mark of .298. Therefore, a strong, sturdy stick-er at second base would just about solve the problem of offense. One more catcher and a few touches to the pitching staff would then complete the undertaking.

Taste for Money.

One hunk of world series dough tends to give a ball player a great lust for coin, and makes it extremely difficult for him to converse in the financial language of the minor leagues. This seems to be the main trouble with Whaling, Moran and Cathers. Each and all of them could receive good money on the Coast. It is not so much the glory and glamour of remaining in the majors that actuates them as the lure of another possible cut into the world series spoils. Experience of the last two years has shown that the championship is not necessarily out of the reach of any club in either of the big leagues, and it is this possibility of landing right in the middle of the big money that proves irresistible once they have tasted the financial sweets of victory. A few of them realize their ambitions and cop the coin. Others lead a life of futile endeavor, drawing nothing but their regular salary. Like the will-o'-the-wisp or the fabled pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, the championship and its large amount of lucre is ever just beyond their eager grasp.

Jim Scott.

Ham Patterson was feeling a trifle reminiscent yesterday and recalled the day that Jim Scott of the White Sox made his debut as a professional pitcher.

That was in 1906. Ham was managing the Oskaloosa club. He wired to Chicago for a catcher. They sent him Scott. He ordered Jim into a mask and protector.

"Nope, I'm a pitcher," replied Jim.

"For the love of Mike," yelled Patterson, throwing up his hands. "And I already have eleven pitchers. Very careless of the White Sox to send you down here.

Scott admitted that he had never pitched a professional game. 'Jes' warmed up some of the catchers for 'em," he explained, "but I think that I can pitch, and what's more, win a few games in this or any other league."

Not only did Patterson like his talk, but he figured that Jim might be up against it for something to eat. So he took him along with the club when it went over to Ottumwa for a spring exhibition game.

"Gim'me that ball," insisted Scott just before the combat started, ignoring the eleven other pitchers who were primed up to work.

Pat gave him the ball and never had reason to regret it. Scott simply threw it past the opposing batters, fanning the first eight to face him. The ninth man got a lucky single, and Patterson yanked Scott.

"What's the matter; what yeh takin' me out for?" inquired Jim, somewhat grieved.

"Take you out for?" replied Patterson with his droll humor. "Didn't they get a hit off you?"

Jim, hanging his head in shame, admitted that they had.

The exact purpose for which Patterson removed him from the game was to sign him, he fearing that some scout might be present in disguise and beat him to it.

Having no contract or other stationery, Patterson ripped off a piece of wrapping paper and had Scott scribble on this an agreement to play with Oskaloosa. This agreement was as binding as though recorded in marble and brass. The following year he was drafted by Jack Holland, the owner of the Wichita club, who sent him to the White Sox the following fall.

Dick a Fighter.

While in Los Angeles Jack Holland inquired especially regarding Dick Bayless. Holland is a gent weighing about 220 pounds in his working shoes. Beside him Bayless looms like a Ford.

"I haven't seen Bayless for a good many years," said Holland. "Wonder if he has grown any? When I last saw him he was little, but oh my! I have had some trouble in my time, but I must confess that this Bayless party gave me the toughest fight of my career. The boxing game lost a champion when Bayless took up baseball.

"At the time I was playing first base for Wichita and Bayless was in the outfield for Joplin. During a game in the latter city I had a run-in with the umpire, who was a pronounced 'homer.' A near-riot followed, and somebody stung me from behind. I looked around, and there was Bayless dancing around. To me he looked about the size of a peanut, but he was bristling with fight. The combatants were all separated before any damage was done.

"My knees always troubled me more or less, and in running to first base later in the game I stumbled and fell all over myself. This made me pretty sore, and when Bayless began to chirp and call me a big stiff with cork legs, it was the last straw, and we mixed. There was no decision, but when they finally pried us apart it was not necessary for my friends to tell me that I had been in a battle."

SMUGGLER STILL FIGHTS.

Another Effort is Made to Gain Liberty for One who Confessed Before Others were Freed.

There was another twist of the Joe Brune smuggling case in the Federal Court yesterday, when Attorney Barnes appeared before Judge Bean with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, to produce Brune in court, and it was made returnable at 10 o'clock next Monday.

It is alleged in the petition that Brune pleaded guilty to an indictment that was vitally at fault in that it did not set forth a cause of action, it being claimed that the overt act complained of in the J. [illegible] Brune smuggling case before the conspiracy [illegible] records, however, show sufficiency of the indictment [illegible] on by two courts before [illegible] Woolf, Beck Sing, [illegible] and others, and it was good.

Brune was sentenced [illegible] the County Jail last August [illegible] Bledsoe.

LINDSAY ASSOCIATION.

E. B. Lindsay, a [illegible] dent of Ocean Park, has been president of the Lindsay Association of America. Charles Cherry in Paramount Pictures

Charles Cherry won distinction by his talented support of such famous actresses as Maxine Elliot, Mary Mannering, Henrietta Crossman and Ethel Barrymore.

In his first photoplay he gives a very clever and forceful performance as Lord Lumley in the screen adaptation of

"The Mummy and The Humming Bird"

The engagement of Mr. Cherry is right in line with the policies of Paramount—to give the public the best that can be procured.

Paramount Pictures were the first to distinguish between mere "movies" and high-class photoplays.

To see the best motion pictures week after week see Paramount Pictures. They feature the most celebrated stars and the largest number of them in the screen adaptations of the best plays and novels.

If you care for quality pictures see Paramount Pictures regularly—the Paramount trademark enables you to distinguish the best from the rest.

KICK AGAINST RETRENCHMENT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIALTO, Nov. 17.—Formal protests directed to Senator John D. Works and Congressman William E. Kettner are being drawn up in Rialto against the discontinuance of the Rialto rural free delivery service and its consolidation with the Colton route, effective on January 3, according to government announcement.

Demanding that the local service in Rialto be continued, the petitions recite that the contemplated change will cause great inconvenience and delay in the mail service in Rialto. It is charged that the city will entirely lose its individuality as far as rural mail is concerned, for all matter of a rural nature must in the future be addressed to Colton.

The Rialto Chamber of Commerce approves the petitions which are being prepared by a committee including Raymond E. Hedge, J. C. Boyd, E. M. Laah, A. B. Miller and A. B. Snow.

The change in the rural service comes as the result of a general retrenchment in the postal department, consolidation of routes throughout the country being planned at the first of the year. The change eliminates half of the rural routes and carriers and reduces the expense 25 per cent., for carriers will be employed at a salary of $1800 to cover two routes with an automobile. The salary of carriers at present is $1200.

MENTONE ACRES FOR ORANGES.

ANGELENO CAPITALISTS AND OTHERS INCORPORATE COMPANY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 17.—About 1000 acres of oranges will be planted near Mentone as a result of the organization of the Mentone Development Company, articles of incorporation for which were filed in the County Clerk's office here today. The development scheme also includes electric power plant and other improvements.

The company is capitalized at $500,000, and the incorporators are W. P. McIntosh of Glendale, J. O. Roe of Los Angeles, W. M. McIntosh of Redlands, S. E. Lee of Los Angeles, and George W. McIntosh of Mentone.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND.

With the top riddled with holes, evidently caused by falling embers, a large automobile belonging to Robert J. Kitts of No. 723 Stewart avenue, Los Angeles, was found here by the police hidden beneath trees near the corner of Stanford street and West Fifth street, an isolated part of the city.

The auto was reported stolen from Los Angeles. It had been driven under the trees and abandoned when the gasoline supply was exhausted, and it is believed the thieves hid it with the intention of returning with more gasoline. Kitts arrived today to get the car.

UNCLE BILLY'S CABIN.

"Uncle Billy" Stephen, lovingly known as the "bard of the mountains" and a year-round resident of Strawberry Flat, will live in a cabin this winter through which the blasts of snow and wind cannot drive. On Sunday a party of friends of the pioneer will go up to build "Uncle Billy" a fine new home, subscriptions for the purpose having been gathered during the summer camping season.

Last year during a particularly cold snap the aged man nearly froze to death, the warmth of about a dozen cats which he keeps about the cabin alone keeping him alive.

POURS SCALDING WATER ON TRAMP.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COMPTON, Nov. 17.—When a tramp demanded a big, hot breakfast of Mrs. Martha Roeder this morning he received the surprise of his life. Mrs. Roeder has the reputation of never turning a hungry man away from her door and her home is visited daily by the tramps.

The hobo this morning, though, made the Compton lady angry when he assumed a threatening attitude. Telling the tramp to wait a moment Mrs. Roeder grabbed a kettle of boiling water from the stove and opening the door dashed the contents into the face of her rude visitor.

BABE SWALLOWS BUTTON.

George Welch, a laborer, took a day off from work today and intended going to the city for a day's pleasure. While dressing he laid a collar button on a chair, but could not find it when ready to put on his collar. Welch turned everything in the room topsey-turvey in the search, but no collar button.

Mrs. Welch was called in to aid with the search and noticed their infant son sitting in a corner making queer faces. Investigation proved that the infant had tried to swallow the button and it had caught in his throat. A hurried trip to a physician saved the youngster.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Nov. 16.—Rev. William Orr Wark of Claremont, who has been supply pastor of the Congregational Church at that place and connected with Pomona College for the past year, has been called to the pastorate of Pilgrim Congregational Church in this city. He is a graduate of Williams College and a post-graduate of Chicago University. Before coming to Southern California he was pastor of a church in Bellingham, Wash. He is to give his answer to the church board next Sunday. During the past twenty-five years the Pilgrim Congregational Church has only had five pastors.

SAN DIEGO DAY AT EXPOSITION.

Great Crowd Makes Merry When Stores Close.

Grand Jury Investigating Mossholder Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—The downtown, and residence districts as well, of San Diego today loked like the "deserted village," for everybody was out at the exposition to celebrate San Diego Day. More than 28,000 passed through the gates this afternoon. More than 40,000 went through the turnstiles.

All stores, places of business and offices, even the saloons, were closed at noon today, as well as the schools, to make it a general holiday, and the sightseeing cars refused to carry passengers to Tia Juana or other points of interest other than to the exposition.

Something doing every minute had been planned by the committee, of which John C. Gillen was chairman, and all San Diego made merry today and tonight. Music was a big feature of the programme, music by glee clubs, Spanish troubadours and dancers, orchestral music, bands and the ukulele music of the Hawaiians. Seated about the fountains and in the pretty nooks of the gardens the musicians played throughout the day.

Baseball games and athletic sports, drills of uniformed orders and military organizations filled the afternoon.

SOUTHERN HOSTESSES.

In the blue room of the Southern California Building, open house was held all day, and Mrs. Wiley B. Weaver, hostess from Imperial county, and Mrs. Charles L. Wilson, were hostesses. Thousands attended the continuous reception. In the lecture-room of the building there was dancing all the afternoon.

The gaiety in the Cristobal tonight surpassed even that of New Year's eve. The great dining-room was crowded and cabaret entertainers in scores mingled with the crowds, singing, dancing and entertaining until morning.

On the Isthmus the Ad Club members headed a crowd of maskers who made merry there and the thousands of San Diegans entered into the joy carnival.

A Spanish wedding at the big organ was the opening of the programme tonight. Concepcion Gonzales, a pretty Spanish girl, and Manuel Madrigal, with many attendants in Spanish costume, were married by Judge J. E. Keating. Afterwards Spanish dancers escorted the bridal couple to the Cristobal.

During the day subscriptions to the 1916 exposition fund were received at booths. About $4000 was taken in. Of the $50,000 to be raised by San Diego, $44,000 has been raised. The remaining $6000 will be raised tomorrow.

GRAND JURY CASE.

An investigation into the case of Rusk P. Mossholder, a young attorney charged with smuggling opium over the border, is being made by the Federal Grand Jury in Los Angeles.

Although Mossholder's hearing has been set for Saturday before United States Attorney C. E. Burch here, the hearing will not be held but instead it is said the investigation of the grand jury into the smuggling case will continue and indictments may be brought.

Many higher ups are said to be involved besides young Mossholder and according to Federal authorities there are many society men and women

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 17.—Burglars, using an automobile, broke into several mountain cabins on the crest between Skyland and Pinecrest and stole several hundred dollars' worth of silver, linen and other articles.

Among the cabins entered was that of a party of seven Elks, known as "Baldpate Inn," and those of H. L. Van Frank of Rialto, A. F. Hansen and C. W. Merriam of this city.

ACCUSED MAN RELEASED.

After being locked up in jail several days Howard L. Elliott, the man who received $1000 from the Western Union Telegraph office instead of $100 which had been sent to him, was released today on order of the District Attorney. Elliott was released because there was not sufficient proof that Elliott had any criminal intent in receiving the $1000 that was tendered him at the Western Union office. He claims he has spent the whole amount and cannot make restitution to the telegraph company. The over payment was made through some mistake, $100 hving been sent to Elliott from Michigan.

SECURES EXHIBIT OF ITALIAN ART.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—The costly exhibit of Italian marble, bronzes, tapestry, wood carving and antiques at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco has been secured for the Panama-California Exposition here in 1916. Notification that the Italian exhibitors had signed contracts to have the entire foreign arts building was received by President Davidson of the exposition tonight.

The notification came from H. J. Penfold at San Francisco, who was sent from here to the northern exposition to secure foreign exhibits for the fair in 1916 here. The foreign arts building has 15,000 square feet of floor space.

PAYS DEBT BY DEATH.

Swiss Ranch-hand Kills Italian at El Centro Over Crop Loan—Looked Surprised and Keeled Over.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 17.—Standing but six feet away, Saturnio di Giavanno, a 21-year-old Swiss ranch-hand, this morning fired a shotgun at the forehead of Nick Celli, 24, whose wife lives in San Diego. Giavanno surrendered himself to the police. He said he had advanced $80 on a corn crop which Celli had sold and had refused to repay the loan. He claimed self-defense.

At the inquest, the jury viewed the body. The top of Celli's head had been blown off.

"What did Celli do when he was shot?" the Coroner asked the shooter.

"He looked surprised and then fell down," he answered.

LOOSENED SCREW CAUSE OF DEATH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Nov. 17.—When an injury to Ralph Martin's leg became unbearable he went to the hospital in this city to undergo a bone-grafting operation. He lay on the table for seven long hours and then passed away just as the surgeons were finishing their work.

Injured in a motorcycle accident three years ago, the boy, who was 19 when he died, was taken to the old Piedmont-street hospital with the bone above his right knee shattered. While he was there the old building caught fire and he narrowly escaped with his life.

In an effort to save his shattered limb, surgeons cut out a section of splintered bone and braced the fracture with a silver plate, which was firmly screwed to the disconnected pieces of bone. The boy got well. He was able to use the limb although it was more than two inches shorter than before the accident. He was a member of the junior class in the High School.

A few months ago a small boil appeared near the place where the silver plate was fastened to the bone. It developed into a sore. Investigation revealed the fact that one of the screws in the silver plate had worked loose. It and the plate had set up an irritation of serious consequence.

An immediate operation was decided upon. The boy had not been in school for several weeks, but he manfully walked into the hospital Monday afternoon. The surgeons were going to remove the silver plate and whatever bone was unhealthy, and replace it with a healthy bone-graft.

The boy went on the operating table late in the afternoon and passed away after seven hours of the ordeal. He leaves a father, C. C. Martin, who resides at Walnut, and also three brothers and a sister.

LOOK UP VOIDED CONTRACT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 17.—Attorneys representing the interests of the Leyden-Ortsiefen Contracting company of Chicago have been here looking over the files in the City Clerk's office relating to their former contract with this city to build the new municipal pier which was taken away September 28, and awarded to the MacArthur Brothers Contracting Company of San Francisco. City authorities hold that the Leyden-Ortsiefen Company did not start operations at the time set in the contract, and that delay was exceedingly dangerous to the project.

TO OUST POLES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANTA, Nov. 17.—A committee of the City Trustees has been appointed to confer with the Joint Pole Committee of public utility companies that have poles on the streets of Santa Ana, with a view to getting poles removed from Fourth street between Ross and Mortimer and on Main street between Second and Sixth streets. The Trustees want the poles removed before ornamental lights are installed.

CASH FOR DAIRYMEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HANFORD, Nov. 17.—Monday was pay day with the nine creameries of Kings county and the aggregate of their checks delivered to the dairymen of the county was $150,000. This is slightly below the average on account of feed conditions consequent to the lack of rain in October. The average price paid was 39½ cents per pound for butter-fat. Practically all of the product was shipped to the Los Angeles market.

NEW SENTIMENTS FAVOR AMERICANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Nov. 17.—With twenty-four passengers, two stowaways and a cargo valued at about $250,000, the steamer San Pedro arrived late this afternoon after a voyage of five and a half days from Mazatlan. Most of the passengers left the steamer here and after discharging a part of her cargo at the wharf of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company the steamer proceeded to San Francisco. The steamer is under charter to the Southwestern Steamship Company.

The most valuable part of the cargo consisted of 300 bars of gold and silver bullion. The remainder consisted of fifty tons of concentrates, hides, fish wings, shark fins, dried shrimps and crude rubber. Rough weather and adverse winds were encountered all the way up the coast, the sea being very heavy in the mouth of the Gulf of California.

The two stowaways appeared on deck about 250 miles off Mazatlan. They are sailors and said they had ample funds to enable them to enter at an American port. Capt. Walter N. Beckwith notified the authorities here.

News that the A.B.C. conference had recognized Carranza was the signal for much feasting and celebrating while the San Pedro was at Mazatlan, according to Capt. Beckwith. The feeling for Americans has decidedly changed on this account and hatred and suspicion has given away to good feeling.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 17.—Jose Losa, a cobbler at San Juan Capistrano, mixed, it is alleged, the fitting of half-soles to shoes with the sale of half-pints to customers, with the result that he is in jail on a charge of running a blind pig. With him the Sheriff brought here three dozen half-pints of not overly good whisky.

Dissolution of a Copper Concern Causes Recession of One to Three Points—Rails, Specialties and Steel Quit About Even with War Shares Irregular.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Extensive speculation at higher prices in securities of all descriptions except rails and similar investment issues attended today's early trading, with sharp recessions in the last half of the session. During the forenoon all the coppers, automobile issues, sugar shares, oils and some recent favorites like Lackawanna Steel, Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive were lifted 3 to 13 points, while Bethlehem Steel, waking from its long torpor, rose 34 to 494. In addition, there was a further rise of 6¼ points in United Fruit to 103, while Consolidated Gas and other utilities, as well as express company stocks, recorded average gains of 2 points. Incidentally, Mercantile Marine preferred, which recently made a meteoric rise of 18 points to 75¾, declined almost 7 to 68¾, and Texas Company, which was rushed up 12¼ yesterday, fell 5 to 181. All this time rails were doing little more than holding their own, with moderate strength in a few of the high-grade shares and some minor issues like Denver and Rio Grande preferred, Seaboard Air Line and Rock Island. Partial explanation for the movement in the copper group was furnished in the afternoon, when announcement was made of the forthcoming dissolution of the Guggenheim Exploration Company, which has large holdings in some of the more active metal issues. Evidently the terms of the separation were not to the liking of holders of these stocks, some of which receded 2 to 3 points. Prior to that incident, however, the sugar stocks and other inactive specialties had yielded much, if not all, of their advance, while rails gradually receded. Bethlehem Steel lost 14 points of its extreme advance, closing at 480. United States Steel, which had risen a point to 88, fell back to 87¼, closing at that price. Prices were mixed with an irregular undertone at the end. Total sales amounted to 1,000,000 shares. Of conditions in the steel industry an authority stated that new orders were running steadily far in excess of current production. Copper metal is on a firm 19-cent basis, with a marked increase of demand. The bond market shared the irregular conditions in stocks. Total sales, par value, aggregated $5,475,000. United States registered 4's declined ¼ per cent. on call.

Amalgamated sold firm at $1.00 and Associated was in heavy demand at $8.50, a gain of 3½ points over night. Union was also up and sales were recorded at 68.50, with calls for large blocks at even better figures. Mining issues were not neglected and a large amount of Fessenden sold at an advance with each sale. Tom Reed showed improvement at 2.10 and the entire Oatman list was stronger.

The stock of the Lexington Mining Company has been listed on the local board, to be called for the first time on Friday next. There are several more applications before the listing committee, with favorable action expected shortly on the application of the Dome Mining Company.

HUNDRED ENOUGH FOR THE DOCTOR.

HE WAS ILL, TOO, AND ACTRESS DENIES HIRING HIM.

Theatrical Star Wins in a Suit by Which Physician Sought to Claim Big Fee for Services He Rendered Fourteen Years Ago in Detroit Hospital.

While Blanche Bates, the actress, was lying dangerously ill of typhoid fever in a Detroit hospital in 1901, Dr. J. B. Sloane of that city was also a patient in the hospital. From this circumstance arose a suit brought by Dr. Sloane against the actress for professional services. How this bill came about is the story of Dr. Sloane's professional interest in his sick neighbor in the hospital. The details were told during the trial of the suit in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday.

In private life Blanche Bates is Mrs. George Creel. She replied to the demand for $900 with interest by deposition, the reading thereby losing much of the force of verbal testimony, but nevertheless potent in winning the judgment.

The story goes back to October, 1901. Dr. Sloane, convalescing, studied the chart made by Miss Bates's nurse. He was informed, it appears from the testimony, that the ward doctor was not handling her case properly. Dr. Sloane thereupon instructed the nurse as to the proper treatment. He informed the ward physician that he would be responsible for any results arising from his orders.

Miss Bates, in her deposition, stated that she was unconscious for twenty days. When she recovered consciousness she said that Dr. Sloane, who had recovered, was in her room and her mother was there also. She alleged that if Dr. Sloane had been engaged it was arranged by her mother. The mother has passed away.

Dr. Sloane testified that he had called on Miss Bates and her mother several times in New York. He said that the mother had referred to the bill and had said to him that "Blanche is not ready to pay your bill, but will do so soon." His total bill was $1000. Of this amount he had received $100. In most cases, he said, $1500 or $2000 would not have been an exorbitant fee.

The Creels relied on the defense that there had been no contract to pay Dr. Sloane $1000 and that the $100 paid him was sufficient for the services he rendered.

Judge Wellborn decided that Dr. Sloane had not shown the necessary burden of proof and that the deposition of Blanche Bates and the testimony of Dr. Sloane were directly contradictory as to the bill. Although the services were rendered fourteen years ago, the action was not outlawed under the laws of Michigan.

DIARY DIVULGES.
LEADS TO A DIVORCE.

The methodical habits of Robert W. Steel prompted him to keep a diary of his alleged amours. The diary proved his undoing. It not only gave Mrs. Lela D. Steel an inkling, she alleges, that some other woman had stolen his love, but helped to convince Judge Nichol, sitting for Judge Myers, that she had good grounds for her divorce suit yesterday.

Mrs. Steel produced the diary in court, and excerpts were read. She said she found the book in her husband's pocket. The other woman was designated as "D." She read in amazement that Mr. Steel called frequently on the fair one, noting down the dates and making divers comments. One comment reads:

"Oh, what is my duty? These women both love me. I am married to one and she is the mother of my child. Omnipotent one, what shall I do?"

The diary does not show that this anguished cry was answered, but the court record shows that Judge Nichol granted Mrs. Steel a decree, the custody of the boy and $45 a month alimony. It is also in evidence that a relative of the Steels, overhearing him make an appointment over the telephone with the fair one, tipped off Mrs. Steel and, accompanied by the latter, they testified, they encountered the pair at Sixth and Spring streets. The diary contains this note of the episode:

"My wife is getting very wise to things; she certainly made it hot for me today."

The Steels were married in Spokane, March 28, 1912. Mr. Steel did not defend the suit.

FATHER LOSES CHILD.
HE HAD NEGLECTED HER.

The legal battle for the custody of Gertrude Risinger, 15 years old, between her father, Willis Risinger, a resident of the East, and Mrs. Ida Ehlshide of Bonnie Beach street, this city, resulted yesterday in Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court making an order declaring Gertrude free of the custody of her father. The next step, which may be opposed by Mr. Risinger, will be the legal adoption of Gertrude as the child of Mrs. Ehlshide.

Since babyhood Gertrude has been in Mrs. Ehlshide's home and regarded as her daughter. She declared in court that Mr. Risinger had paid no attention to his child, sending her neither money nor gifts. Recently Mr. Risinger remarried and, having a home, he desired the child to brighten it up. One day the blow fell on Mrs. Ehlshide. The police came and took Gertrude away on advice from the Highland Park (Ct.) police. Attorney J. R. Wilder, counsel for Mrs. Ehlshide, sued out a writ of habeas corpus. Then he filed a petition for adoption and a petition asking the court to declare Gertrude an abandoned child.

Mr. Risinger's demand for Gertrude was backed by the letter of a wealthy brick manufacturer of Highland Park, Ct., who wrote he believed the father should have his daughter for the best interests of both.

TO THIRD DEGREE.
THEN HE GAINS RING.

If within two years Frank E. Pritchard shall have become a Master Mason he will receive his father's diamond ring. This condition is set out in the will of William Elvin Pritchard, who died last Sunday, leaving property in Indiana and Los Angeles county.

Mr. Pritchard imposes the condition in the following clause of his will filed for probate yesterday:

"I bequeath to my son, Frank E. Pritchard, 27 years old, my diamond ring, provided that within two years after my death he has taken the degree of Master Mason. Said ring shall be held by the executor of this will during said period of time, and if the condition is fulfilled within said period of time I order that the executor shall deliver the same to my son. In case he fails to take the degree the ring shall go into the general estate."

Mr. Pritchard, the son, resides at No. 614 Sixth street, San Diego. The other heirs are the widow, Mrs. Mable Pritchard, Miss Evelyn Vi-Ella Pritchard of No. 970 Serrano avenue, and Miss Stella M. Pritchard of No. 5220 St. Andrews place.

WITHOUT PRECEDENT.
MAY AFFECT CONTRACTS.

A question which appears to have no precedent in the State, the solution of which may have a material bearing in contracts for street improvement work, has been taken under submission by Judge Hewitt in the suit brought by the Municipal Securities Company against the City Treasurer and the Street Superintendent of Tropico to compel the city by mandamus proceedings to issue bonds for certain street work.

The question is whether or not the city has the right, after a street has been improved under the Vrooman act, to withhold the bonds until the contractors have paid all labor and material claimants.

The Municipal Securities Company financially backed the contractors, McCombs and Burk, who, it is alleged, did not pay for labor and materials. The laborers and material men filed claims with the Street Superintendent. The Board of Trustees of Tropico adopted a resolution requesting the Street Superintendent and the City Treasurer not to issue the bonds. The Municipal Securities Company holds the warrants as assignee of the contractors, and demands the bonds.

DID HE LOAF?
THAT'S THE QUESTION.

Eddie Foy, the comedian, who complained that he was "fired" by the Keystone Film Company while under contract as a movie, and sued for his salary and transportation for himself, wife and seven children, back to New York, is said by the corporation to have loafed on the job and insisted upon being boss. The corporation has filed an answer to the suit, setting up that for three days after Eddie Foy was ready for work he argued and persisted in appearing only in "The Favorite Fool." He rehearsed for three plays, but balked when the camera men were ready to go ahead. Finally the corporation prepared "The City Sleuth" for the comedian.

Mr. Foy alleged in his complaint that the stunts were too realistic. In a limburger cheese act the real article came on enclosed in barrels upon which he was supposed to disport himself, the while grimacing as limburger only can destort the features. Another stunt he objected to was having a strong stream of cold water played on him while he flirted on the stage attired in a thin nightgown.

DENIES CONNECTION.
CHALLENGES ANOTHER.

Resenting the unauthorized use of his name as associate counsel in the $5000 damage suit filed by Attorney C. B. (Habeas Corpus) Ladd against Presiding Judge York for declining to grant an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the interest of Mr. Ladd's client, Edwin Pennock declared yesterday that he proposed to come into court and clear himself of the imputation. This may mean that the matter will be placed before the Grievance Committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association.

Mr. Pennock says his only connection with Attorney Ladd was a conversation he had with him on the street. Attorney Ladd told him that Judge York had refused to grant the application and Attorney Pennock replied it must have been refused because it was insufficient.

Attorney Pennock has no professional connection with the damage suit. Judge York will be represented when Attorney Ladd's suit comes up next Monday by his father, former Judge John M. York.

NOT FOR LONG.
HE EXPECTS REUNION.

James R. Redmond, whose wife, Josephine O. Redmond, obtained a decree of divorce, the custody of their 3-year-old child and support for the latter in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, asked the court if he could say a word. The court told him he could. Whereupon Mr. Redmond remarked:

"Well, I think you are looking too far ahead. We will be together long before the end of that alimony order."

The order was that he pay $4 a week for the maintenance of the child until it is 8 years old, $5 a week until it is 12, and $6 a week until it is 16.

Mrs. Redmond alleged cruelty in her complaint. One allegation was when her husband found her and the child walking on Maple avenue he put them in a jitney bus, and with a "home, James," started them off. Subsequently, she said, he struck her with a loaf of bread and tossed a cigarette at her.

SMOKES LESS.
CUTS DOWN ON CIGARETTES.

Phil Norton, 13 years old, has been induced by Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court to moderate his use of cigarettes. Phil is a ward of the court. Cigarette smoking promised to lead him further into the toils. The court directed him to make a daily report of the cigarettes he smoked and bring it to him at the end of the month.

Phil took the hint and chopped off his consumption. His report, filed with the court yesterday, showed a reduction from fifteen to twenty a day to a maximum of three. Some days the record indicated he had smoked only one cigarette. Again, he smoked two. The report had its effect, and the court complimented the youth on the exercise of will power.

INS AND OUTS.
ABOUT THE COURTS.

WILL COME BACK. Mrs. Lue Yen, the white wife of the Chinese restaurateur accused of slaying Frank Gan, a commission merchant, will appear in Judge Craig's court this morning after having been mysteriously missing since August 13, the date of the crime. Yen is alleged to have shot Gan when he found out that the young man had stolen the affections of his wife. The shooting occurred at the Eagle Hotel, where Mrs. Yen and Gan were together. Mrs. Yen has wired from San Francisco.

ACCUSED SLAYER INSANE. Manual Alvarado, charged with the murder of Juan Villa, was ordered to Patton by Judge Houser yesterday morning after a jury had agreed that he is insane. Alvarado holds the delusion that he is great electrical battery and that all he needs do is press his chest and the prison doors will fall away and permit him liberty. He also holds that all lawyers, including the deputy public defenders handling his case, are bandits. Public Defender Wood he hailed as Pope Leo, and declared that buttons on his clothes were the equivalent of any kind of money. He also stated that he had killed many men.

TO LOOK INTO THREATS. Judge Craig yesterday ordered an investigation of threats made against Dominick Lauricella, principal witness for the prosecution against S. S. Streva, who is charged with complicity in a "black hand" extortion plot. Lauricella failed to appear when the case was called and the court was notified that the witness was at home because of sickness and also because of threats against his life if he came up from San Pedro for the trial.

INJUNCTION SUIT. The restrictions on Crenshaw boulevard, according to the suit filed yesterday by H. S. Kennedy against John E. McCoy and H. S. Woodruff, call for residences costing not less than $3500. It appears that the defendants are constructing an oil supply station on the boulevard which Mr. Kennedy estimates will cost about $600. He wants the defendants restrained on the ground that the building restrictions will be violated.

DESERTS CHILDREN. Taking her four small children to the colored women's nursery at No. 1322 Channing street a week ago, and kissing them good-by, Mrs. Helena Smith, their mother, has failed to return to recover them. Yesterday the children, through the nursery, appealed to the Juvenile Court. They want their mother, and the nursery desires homes for them. The children range in years from 3 to 12 years.

At the City Hall.

CONTRACT GOES TO LOW BIDDER.

HARBOR BOARD REFUSES TO INCREASE COST.

Warehouse will be Built by Los Angeles Company for a Price More than Forty Thousand Dollars Under Estimate of Engineer if Done by City.

The Harbor Commission yesterday let the contract for erecting the new warehouse at municipal pier No. 1 to the Merchants' Realty and Investment Company of Los Angeles. The contract price is $117,000, and this is for the construction work only, as the city has already bought the materials. With the bid the company puts up a bond of 75 per cent. of the total contract to insure the city that the work will be carried out according to specifications, and the Harbor Commission, in letting the contract, went on record as to its determination to see that it is carried out in a proper manner.

A delegation of walking delegates who have sought to influence the city officials to order the work done by force account at a cost of upward of $40,000 more than the contract price, arrived just after the commission had voted to award the contract to the lowest bidder.

Members of the Harbor Commission said yesterday that they have heard many threats, more or less veiled, that the laborites are planning to make trouble for the contractor as soon as work is started on the warehouse, and the general impression is that despite the fact that the contractors have been paying the prevailing wages in Los Angeles, the unionites will endeavor to dictate their scale at the harbor for this work.

Charges against the Harbor Commission which are outlined in affidavits filed by E. H. Sleeper, H. D. McKay and T. J. Vaughn, former city employees at the harbor, will be considered by the Council sitting as a committee of the whole tomorrow afternoon. In deciding on this procedure yesterday the Council debated the subject as to whether the charges are important enough to warrant an official investigation. Councilman Conwell urged that the Council should consider the question as a committee of the whole so that the public may be informed as to whether the circumstances warrant the expenditure of money for an official probe.

When the Council considers the affidavits it will also have before it the answer of the Harbor Commission to each specific charge, and President Woodman of the Harbor Commission informed members of the Council last night that the commission's reply will be presented before the session Friday afternoon.

WHO BUNGLED?
ANOTHER INVESTIGATION.

An investigation by the Finance Committee and the City Attorney was ordered by the Council yesterday to discover whether the charter has been violated in changing salaries of certain city officials, and also to see whether the City Auditor is liable for the loss to the city.

This action was taken on a resolution introduced by Councilman Topham, referring to the report given the Council recently by the City Attorney, calling attention to the expiration of the terms of office of various appointive officers. It appears that the salary of Arthur Baker, city purchasing agent, was raised $25 a month about two years ago, and he has been receiving the extra salary despite the charter provision that no salary shall be changed while a person is in office. It is possible that the salary of City Prosecutor Williams will be restored to the original figure, despite the cut ordered by the Budget Committee at the beginning of the present fiscal year.

Substantial Refund.

City Attorney Stephens informed the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday that he has succeeded in obtaining a refund of more than $2500 from the State Water Board on fees paid by the city in connection with the city's claims on power sites at the headwaters of the Owens River supply. This refund will go back to the special fund of $10,000 appropriated by the Council a few months ago to protect the city's interests.

BETTER STREETS.
ORDINANCES PASSED.

The following street improvement ordinances were passed by the City Council yesterday:

FOR OPEN CUT.
INFORMATION ON TAP.

Chairman Topham of the Public Works Committee held a conference yesterday with a number of property owners in the assessment district for the proposed open cut through Bunker Hill, extending from 120 feet south of second street to 120 feet north of First street. Councilman Topham made arrangements whereby all data concerning the open cut and the assessment district will be furnished the Business Stability Association which will open offices in the near future where all interested property owners may receive full information regarding the project.

The City Engineer is now working on the ordinance of intention for the open cut and it will likely be presented to the Council within the next ten days.

Why the Delay?

The Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to hasten work on the ordinance amending the traffic regulations and providing for a lower minimum fine for violations of the speed laws. This ordinance was ordered drafted by the Council several weeks ago in an effort to assist in the "safety first" campaign and, according to an agreement with the police judges, there will be no more suspended sentences when the new ordinance is in effect.

On Censor Board.

The City Council yesterday passed a new ordinance relative to the powers and duties of the Board of Motion Picture Censors, providing that hereafter no person directly or indirectly interested in a financial way shall be a member of the board. Chairman Lindsey of the Public Welfare Committee announced yesterday that the hearing on the charges against A. P. Tugwell, former president of the Board of Censors, will be held December 1.
